STRESEMANN CALLS NATION IN COUNCIL ON RUHR SITUATION

Premiers of States, City Officials and Industrial and Labor Leaders to Attend.

WILL ASSEMBLE TOMORROW

Conference is Regarded as Presaging Early Action on Abandoning Passive Resistance.

BERLIN, Sept. 22 (Associated Press).—Chancellor Stresemann has summoned the Premiers of the Federated States of Germany, the Reichstag leaders qualified to speak for the parties making up the present coalition, municipal officials and industrial and labor leaders for a conference on the Ruhr situation, it was announced today.

The conference will begin on Monday. It is looked upon in political circles as presaging early action on the issue of abandoning passive resistance. The situation in the Ruhr and the Rhineland will be canvassed carefully, both with respect to its economic and political and its social aspects.

The Chancellor is desirous of having the heads of the allied German States come into personal touch with representatives from the occupied regions and has adopted this method of bringing them together.

Upon the outcome of these conferences depends the nature of the Government's declaration which Dr. Stresemann will communicate to the Reichstag next Wednesday.

Despite the recurring denials emanating from Paris and Brussels, political circles in Berlin profess knowledge that the Belgian Minister here has been actively seeking to establish a point of contact between Chancellor Stresemann and Premier Poincaré for the purpose of inducing the latter to accommodate the Chancellor with a concession that will enable Dr. Stresemann to call off passive resistance in return for amnesty for all the Germans deported from the occupied areas by the allied authorities.

Official quarters, however, make categorical denial of all rumors concerning fresh reparation offers or the dispatch of formal notes to France and Belgium containing proposals for calling off the passive resistance.

It was also stated today that the informal conversations between Chancellor Stresemann and the French Ambassador, M. de Margerie, which had been going on for the last ten days, have been discontinued, the suspicion being that Premier Poincaré instructed his envoy to take this action.

Soviet Asked to Aid a Revolt.

MOSCOW, Sept. 22 (Associated Press).—The German Communist leaders Heinrich Brandler and Herr Talheimer have arrived in Moscow and informed the Russians that the time for a revolution in Germany is ripe. They express themselves confident of their ability to obtain control within the German State, but need the help of the international proletariat against outside capitalistic enemies.

The German Communists are so certain of their ground, according to Herr Brandler's speech to the Executive Committee of the Bolshevist trade unions, that many observers here feel that the peace of Europe may be said to rest upon the conferences in Moscow in which the Germans are now taking part. From this viewpoint the issue revolves around the question whether the Russian Communists deem their proletarian State sufficiently strong to overcome the capitalistic forces of the world combined against them and proletarian Germany.

"It cannot be doubted that the period is beginning now when the threat of breaking the peace hangs over the Soviet Socialist Federated Republics," says the newspaper Pravda.

Russians Are Non-Committal.

From the report of Herr Brandler's speech it seems obvious that the German Communists deem the iron hot, but the quasi-official comment of the Pravda gives no hint as yet of what the actual advice or decision of the Russian Communists will be.

In the recent Russo-British crisis Russia moved decisively for peace, but now she is confronted with a bigger question, involving the fate of the proletariat in a nation which Moscow looks upon as nearer than any other to emulating the example of the Russian revolution, and which needs Russian help to do it. It is one of such great decisions as Premier Lenin would have to make were he well.

Herr Brandler said the Communist movement in Germany was growing rapidly and that there were so many candidates for place that only one out of every ten could be accepted. He declared the Royalist movement was de-

Attempts by Moral Suasion To Dry Philadelphia Clubs

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 22.—An agent of the Federal Prohibition Commissioner, it became known today, is moving among the prominent social clubs of the city using moral suasion in having their members observe the prohibition law.

No threats are being made, it was understood, but the officers of the clubs are being urged, as a better means, to have their prominent members show a good example to the membership with the idea of making the clubs "bone dry." The agent has had no relations with Federal or other prohibition officers stationed here.

A "white list" is said to have taken form upon which are entered clubs that are shown to be 100 per cent dry.

ASKS PLANE TO SEEK CANYON EXPLORERS

Acting Governor of Arizona Appeals to Geological Survey to Help Locate Missing Party.

THEIR MISSION PERILOUS

No Alarm Felt by Washington Officials, Who Decide to Take No Action.

PHOENIX, Ariz., Sept. 21.—Suggestion that the War Department send an airplane to fly above the canyon through which the Colorado River flows to ascertain the plight of an exploration party sent by the United States Geological Survey to chart the river was made in a telegram sent to Washington officials this afternoon by Acting Governor R. E. McGillan of Arizona.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22.—The suggestion that aviators search the canyon through which the Colorado River flows for the Colorado exploration party which has been working there for months was received at the Geological Survey from Phoenix tonight.

It was said no action would be taken.

The expedition under Colonel C. H. Birdseye, Chief Topographical Engineer of the Geological Survey, was reported in advices from Flagstaff on Sept. 11 as making a survey of the Marble and Grand Canyons of the Colorado River. The party was then nearing the mouth of Cataract Creek, the half-way mark of its perilous journey begun at the canyon head at Lee's Ferry.

As one explorer has stated, a year's time is not enough to see the Grand Canyon, and "It is a region more difficult to traverse than the Alps or the Himalayas." But part of the canyon is accessible to tourists, thousands of whom visit the spectacle each year via the Santa Fe Railroad, which has a trail running from Flagstaff and a branch line of the railroad running from Williams, Ariz., to the canyon.

Colonel Birdsey's party established communications with the outside world at the old Hance Trail. Then a stop of several days was made at Bright Angel Trail, below El Tovar, the latter point at the terminus of the Santa Fe's line from Williams. Several members of the

WILSON ASSAILS SENATOR SHIELDS, SEEKING NEW TERM

"Least Trustworthy of My Professed Supporters," Says Ex-President in Letter.

TENNESSEE CANVASS HOT

Shields Has Long Record of Opposition to League and Other Wilson Policies.

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., Sept. 22.—Senator John K. Shields of Tennessee is described as "one of the least trustworthy of my professed supporters," by Woodrow Wilson, in a letter to W. A. S. Furlow of Bristol, Tenn., replying to an inquiry of the latter as to the Tennessee Senator's record during Mr. Wilson's Presidency.

The letter of the former President was made public by General Lawrence L. Tyson of Knoxville, in connection with a recent interview answering Senator Shields' remarks regarding Mr. Wilson.

General Tyson is a candidate for the Democratic nomination for the Senatorship next year against Senator Shields, as is also Judge Nathan D. Bachman of Chattanooga.

The letter from Mr. Wilson, dated Aug. 28, made public by General Tyson, reads as follows:

"My Dear Mr. Furlow: In reply to your letter of Aug. 25, I do not feel at liberty to say more than this: That I regarded Mr. Shields during my Administration as one of the least trustworthy of my professed supporters.

"Thanking you for the friendship so generously evidenced by your letter,

"Cordially and sincerely yours,

"WOODROW WILSON."

Senator Shields in his present campaign has been asserting that he was a supporter of President Wilson.

Ex-President Wilson's letter opposing the candidacy of Senator Shields is not the first of the kind that he has written. A notable letter was one in which Mr. Wilson sought the elimination by the Missouri electorate of Senator James A. Reed. In the same fashion he vigorously opposed the return of Senator Vardaman of Mississippi and Senator Hardwick of Georgia.

In a number of instances Senator Shields, whom the ex-President now criticises, showed himself a determined opponent of the Wilson program. He voted with the Republicans for reservations offered in the debates on ratification of the Versailles Treaty and was a persistent and vigorous assailant of the League of Nations.

His stand on the League of Nations so enraged the Democratic State Convention of Tennessee that by a vote of 1,230 to 414 it adopted on June 9, 1920, a resolution calling upon the Senator "in future to faithfully sustain the adoption of the League of Nations and the treaty of peace as written and presented without amendments or reservations."

In reply, Senator Shields wrote that compliance would be treason. He admitted that the condemnation of a convention of his party was painful to him, but he insisted that he had long and deliberate study of the treaty he had con-

Martial Law Proclaimed in All Bulgaria To Prevent Spread of Red Revolution

PARIS, Sept. 22 (Associated Press).—The Bulgarian Legation here said it had received word that the Government at Sofia had decided to declare martial law throughout the country to prevent the spread of insurrectionary agitation.

The Legation announced that it had received an absolute denial from Sofia of reports circulated abroad to the effect that a provisional revolutionary government had been proclaimed in some parts of the country.

According to the official version, the outbreaks recently reported in certain districts are purely local, being confined to Southern Bulgaria.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

PARIS, Sept. 22.—The situation in Bulgaria remains shrouded in obscurity. While on one hand, the Bulgarian Legation in Paris proclaims that all rumors of revolution are entirely unfounded, a message has been received from the official telegraph agency at Sofia making it appear that the situation is very grave.

Beginning, as the Legation's statement did, with a general denial of revolutionary troubles, the telegraph agency's message ends by announcing that the Government has proclaimed a state of siege throughout the country. This, it is argued here, appears to show that the trouble is far more serious than the Sofia Government officials would like to have other countries believe.

The reports now are conflicting as to whether the Zankoff Government has declared martial law or only a state of siege—the former meaning that military procedure has taken the place of civil administration and the latter that the army is performing the functions of the civil police.

The cause of this phase of the trouble is not far to seek: The Green International, that is the organization of farmers all over the world, advocated by the late Government of Stambouliisky, proved a formidable rival for Bolshevist propaganda among the poorer peasants, although the "Peasant Premier" segregated Communists whenever found and forced them to adopt Soviet forms in their own communities. At the time of the coup d'etat which overthrew him June 9, the inaction of the peasants was due more to Moscow influences than it was to indifference toward Stambuliisky. Left without a leader, more and more of the poorer and ignorant class of peasants turned Red, as they found that the intellectual and military classes which had produced the revolution did nothing for them.

According to Sofia papers of the first week in September, which have just reached here, in certain provinces the more wealthy Agrarians, having recovered from their fight of June 9, were beginning to reorganize and to such formidable array as to become great foe menace to the new Government. Thus Professor Zankoff and his colleagues were menaced from two quarters, each opposed to the other.

Berry Calls On Union Pressmen Here and in Other Cities To Uphold the Integrity of Contract and Respect for Law

BERRY'S MESSAGE TO NEW YORK PRESSMEN.

The contract signed with the owners of newspapers, Friday night, for newspaper web pressmen, establishes the best conditions that have ever operated in New York. Many of the members engaged in the illegal and now indefensible strike have refused to return to their employment, and therefore the issue as between force that is in contravention of every American trades union principle and justice is clearly drawn.

The International Union will make no concessions or compromises in this situation, and, because of it, I am calling upon every loyal and true trades unionist, and especially upon every newspaper web pressman in America, to respond by reporting for service in the offices of the newspaper pressrooms of New York City. This draft to uphold and maintain the integrity of contract, respect for law and the conservation of the newspaper industry of New York City, and to accord to the public justice, must be met without one moment's delay.

International offices have been established in Rooms 614 to 618, 150 Nassau Street, New York City, and all pressmen are directed to report to these offices.

BERRY'S TELEGRAM TO OUT-OF-TOWN UNIONS.

The International Union calls upon your local to send men to New York immediately. Draw upon local treasurer or take such means as may be necessary to get them here. Expenses and compensation for lost time are guaranteed by the International Union. Offices have been established at 150 Nassau Street, Rooms 614-618, on the sixth floor. Report by telegram number of men en route and when they are expected to arrive. There must be no delay in meeting the situation. Best contract ever executed in New York has been signed with all publishers. Many men engaged in illegal strike and who now remain out are pursuing a course that is indefensible and in violation of every principle of American trades unionism.

The Board of Directors is compelled to draft all available newspaper pressmen to respond to this call in order to uphold the integrity of our organization internationally, to conserve the newspaper business in New York and to accord simple justice to the public. No trades unionists can be ashamed of their conduct in responding to this call. It is clearly an obligation and the situation is deserving of an administration of courage that we cannot afford to disregard.

WHEAT TARIFF RISE URGED ON COOLIDGE

Representative Anderson Calls for 50 Per Cent. to Keep Out Canada's Product.

OTHERS PRESS FARM NEED

Northwest Group Would Revive Corporation With $50,000,000 Capital to Buy Wheat.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22.—Representative Sydney Anderson of Minnesota, who is Chairman of the Joint Congressional Committee of Agricultural Inquiry and is one of the foremost Republicans in the House, today conferred with President Coolidge on a proposal for an increased tariff on wheat. He said afterward that he would take up the plan with the Tariff Commission, which has the authority to recommend to the President an increase of rates up to 50 per cent.

Representative Anderson was only one of many Congressional callers at the White House today, who came to urge the President to take some action that will lead to legislation for the benefit of the farmer. A number of them were from Northwestern States where there is an acute demand that something be done to relieve the wheat situation.

Representative Young of North Dakota, went to the White House to arrange with the President's Secretary for a conference between the President and groups of bankers from the Ninth Federal Reserve District, who desire to advance a proposal for legislation to revive the United States Grain Corporation with a view, on the face of the plan, to increase wheat prices.

Senator Norbeck of South Dakota talked with the President over farm aid legislation, but agreed with the view of Senator Borah, after a visit to President Coolidge this week, that an extra session of Congress was not desirable unless a concrete plan of ameliorating the situation in farming communities was agreed upon in advance.

Nothing has appeared to indicate the reaction of President Coolidge to the representations of his callers. He augmented his reputation of being a good listener. It is known, however, that the President has not been convinced that an extra session to enact farm aid legislation is necessary.

30-Cent Differential Absorbed.

Explaining the character of his statements to the President, Representative Anderson said the necessity of putting a higher tariff on wheat is shown by the fact that in spite of the duty of 30 cents a bushel, Canadian wheat is selling in Minneapolis at the same price as American wheat. Mr. Anderson explained that there would not be as much of a surplus of American wheat as was expected and he felt that legislation would be desirable that would enable the Government to increase the tariff on wheat if the necessity arose.

Mr. Anderson said that he was neither in favor of nor against the proposal of bankers in the Northwest to revive the Grain Corporation and permit it to market wheat. He was opposed to price-fixing, he said. His attitude toward the proposal for an extra session to enact farm aid legislation appeared to be similar to that of Senators Borah and Norbeck. He indicated that if the Administration was willing to put behind any concrete plan for such legislation he would support it also, but so far he had not seen any practical plan offered.

ZR-1 Makes Flight Over Washington, Flying Low in Bank of Fog and Rain

President and Mrs. Coolidge, With All the Capital, Halt Luncheon to See Her—Converting Planes Act as Escort.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22.—Flying an hour late in a misty rain which enshrouded her, the ZR-1, the navy's new aerial Leviathan, visited Washington today, flying over the Capitol, the White House, Mount Vernon and the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier at Arlington, where she dropped a wreath.

The big ship made the flight from Lakehurst apparently without incident, and as her trim silver-gray form slipped through the misty curtain which almost obscured her thousands lined the streets and crowded the tops of buildings to see her.

Just at 1:00 o'clock the big ship loomed up out of a fog bank and swerved to pass to the south side of the dome of the Capitol. Her commander pointed her nose up Pennsylvania Avenue toward the White House, flying so low that from the ground her great silver-hued body seemed to be no higher than the towers on the Post Office Department building.

So low did the great ship fly that the whirling blades of the propellers of her six motors could easily be seen churning the fog and mist. Thousands of motor cars clattered on the broad avenue below, where all traffic stopped, sirened a welcome. The big bag slipped along so silently and so swiftly that spectators got little more than a glimpse.

A squadron of airplanes from Bolling Field dipped and darted around the ZR-1 like a lot of falcons after a carrier pigeon. By the time the big ship had passed over the White House grounds and headed down the Potomac to circle over the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier and visit Mount Vernon she was lost in another fog bank.

Presidents Gets a View.

President and Mrs. Coolidge halted luncheon to go out in the White House grounds and get a better view of the passage of the monster. All official engagements, luncheons and otherwise, were interrupted while Cabinet members, diplomats and others went out to get a brief glimpse of the spectacle.

From Mount Vernon, where she circled and dipped over the shady green and woody slopes once the home of Washington, the ship turned her nose back toward Bolling Field, where the air service was putting on an aerial circus in honor of her flight. The warplike craft of the service were darting and tumbling about in the fog, doing loops and turns and slips, while the ZR-1 sailed majestically through their midst like a Newfoundland dog refusing to be annoyed by a pack of pups.

Then, after one more circle over the streets of the city, she disappeared in the fog again, headed back to her hangar at Lakehurst.

Flying most of the way above the clouds which steadily showered the land below, officers of the ZR-1 were in constant communication by wireless with the Bureau of Naval Aeronautics. Despite the handicap of "static" due to weather conditions, Rear Admiral W. A. Moffett, director of the bureau, received periodic reports on the big ship's progress over the radio telephone in his office.

"ZR-1 under way," was the first dispatch from Commander McCrary, in charge of the flight.

"ZR-1 left Lakehurst via Philadelphia yard at 9:37. Will be one hour late," was the next word coming from the Lakehurst station operator, and then the ship, 1,500 feet over the field, reported:

"Have set course for Philadelphia. Six engines half speed, air speed 40 knots; low clouds about 1,000 feet drifting in from sea."

At 11:18 A. M. Commander McCrary reported the dirigible passing over Camden at 1,000 feet elevation, engine half speed; 45 knots; clouds rising.

Static Halts Telephone.

Electrical interference in the atmosphere increased as the dirigible moved south, and while over Chester, Pa., Commander McCrary reported that his wireless telephone could no longer be used. The ship was then at an altitude of 1,000 feet and making 44 knots.

When the ZR-1 was three miles north of Wilmington the crew reported that she would pass over Baltimore at 1 P. M., Standard Time. The ship had increased her speed to 46 knots, although none of the six engines was forced to more than half maximum power.

The airship passed over the Philadelphia Navy Yard at 11:50 A. M., Daylight Time, flying at about 1,800 feet.

She passed over Wilmington, Del., at 12:21 P. M., Daylight Time, flying about 1,200 feet up; Perryville, Md., at 12:28, Daylight Time, and Baltimore at 12:45, Standard Time.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 22.—The giant navy dirigible ZR-1 passed over the centre of Philadelphia at 5:45, Daylight time, this afternoon on her return trip from Bolling Field, at Washington, to Lakehurst, N. J.

To groups of people in the street the big ship seemed but a few yards above the statue of William Penn, surmounting City Hall tower.

Returns to Lakehurst.

LAKEHURST, N. J., Sept. 22.—The Navy dirigible ZR-1 arrived at her hanger at 5:45 P. M., Eastern Standard Time, tonight, after making a successful flight to Washington and return.

One arrest has been made. W. D. Rider, State Forester, said, and others are expected within the next few days. Rider also announced that the State Board of Forestry will co-operate with the United States Forest Service in an investigation of the fire in the Berkeley Hills early this week, which resulted in the destruction of hundreds of Berkeley homes and a financial loss of millions of dollars. PRESSMEN CALLED HERE BY BERRY TO BACK UP UNION

Issue Clearly Drawn Between Force and Justice, International President Says.

STRIKE NOW 'INDEFENSIBLE'

Contract Just Made the Best Ever Executed in New York, He Says.

George L. Berry, President of the International Printing Pressmen's and Assistants' Union of North America, sent telegrams yesterday to 200 local pressmen's unions in the East and Middle West, calling upon them to send men to New York immediately for work in the pressrooms of the New York newspapers, in pursuance of the contract signed by the international union and the New York Publishers' Association on Friday, after the local union of pressmen had been dissolved and its charter revoked. Mr. Berry asked the locals "to respond to this call in order to uphold the integrity of our organization internationally, to conserve the newspaper business in New York and to accord simple justice to the public." He added that the contract just signed was "the best contract ever executed in New York."

In a statement on behalf of the International Directors given out for publication at the same time, Mr. Berry said: "Many of the members engaged in the illegal and now indefensible strike have refused to return to their employment, and therefore the issue as between force that is in contravention to every American trades union principle and justice is clearly drawn. The International Union will make no concession or compromises that are involved in this situation, and because of it, I am calling upon every loyal and true trades unionist, and especially every newspaper web pressman in America to respond by reporting for service in the offices of the newspaper pressrooms of New York City."

Plans for Pressroom Check.

Offices where cards of the international union will be furnished to pressmen desiring to return to work were opened yesterday by Mr. Berry in Rooms 614 to 618, 150 Nassau Street. Arrangements were made to have office furniture, typewriters and other paraphernalia delivered at once so that the office may be in full swing today. Meanwhile it was made clear that the men now working in the newspaper pressrooms are doing so with the sanction and approval of the international union.

An organization meeting of the international union will be held at 1 o'clock today at Town Hall, 123 West Forty-third Street. This meeting has been arranged by the international union at the request of the pressmen. It will be addressed by Mr. Berry, who will urge them to return to work under the new contract.

The meeting will be a gathering of individual pressmen and not representative of a local union. Therefore, it cannot be taked upon the former membership basis. No vote will be taken at the meeting. Those who return to work will be permitted to do so under the union cards, but for the present and until these cards are available, as Mr. Berry said last night, men returning to work will do so by obtaining the signature of their pressroom foreman on the cards they now hold.

The officers of the International Union at 150 Nassau Street will be open to Pressmen who apply for work and return to work or who have felt their death benefit, sanitarium benefit.

Members of the defunct local gathered at Beethoven Hall, 210 Fifth Street, yesterday afternoon, and each received a copy of the contract drawn up on Friday. The pressmen folded up the printed slips and made no comment. Little of the boisterous spirit of the previous evening, when hostile remarks were aimed at Berry, was in evidence.

For the first time since the illegal strike was called early Tuesday morning the office of the former New York Web Pressmen's Union No. 25 in The World building was opened yesterday. Members of the Executive Board gathered and discussed the situation, but declined to reveal their attitude to reporters. The men were solemn and discussed the contract earnestly. It was announced that a committee of the pressmen would hold a meeting last night at 22 West Sixteenth Street and that a report to be made at the Town Hall meeting might be made.

A committee of the publishers met last night and worked out details for application of the contract.

TRAIL BANK OFFICIAL AS BOND THIEVES' AID

Used His Position, Police Say, to Dispose of Part of $100,000 Cincinnati Loot.

FRANKS RELEASED ON BAIL

Carnegie Trustee's Son Declares He Is a Victim and Offers to Help Prosecutor.

Detectives under Lieutenant Detective Gegan yesterday sought three men in connection with the plot to dispose of $100,000 worth of bonds stolen last November by yeggmen from a safe in the office of the Southern and Western Life Insurance Company at Cincinnati, Ohio. In the preceding twenty-four hours the authorities established the identity of these men and their part in the plot, which has already led to the arrest of four men. Of the stolen bonds, $22,000 were on Sept. 7 and 12.

One of the men yet at large was said to be an official in one of the largest of the Wall Street banks. He is suspected of having acted for the yeggmen or their associates in selling the bonds to investment brokers. It was said that the authorities have information that this man knew that most, if not all, of the bonds he received had been stolen. The other two men being sought are understood to have worked under the bank official in obtaining men in this city to dispose of the loot to brokers for as much as 60 per cent. of what they received for them.

Franks Released on $10,000 Bond.

Whether the new information on which detectives are working was obtained from Robert A. Franks, Jr., Princeton graduate and the last of the four men taken into custody in connection with the conspiracy, could not be learned. Franks was released in $10,000 bail when he was arraigned yesterday before Magistrate Edgar V. Frothingham in the Tombs Court on a charge of having criminally received the $22,000 of stolen bonds which later were sold.

Emory Buckner, attorney for Franks, said yesterday that the young man had made a complete statement to Assistant District Attorney Harold W. Hastings, on Friday before his arrest and during the three hours he was being questioned in the prosecutor's office. He declared that this did not imply that his client was in any way guilty of the offense charged against him. Mr. Buckner added that Franks, who is the son of the Vice President and Treasurer of the Carnegie Foundation, was innocent of any intentional wrongdoing and intimated that the young man was the victim of persons in whom he had implicit faith.

When Magistrate Frothingham set Oct. 5 as the date for the hearing and fixed bail at $10,000, Assistant District Attorney Hastings said that the bail was satisfactory to him and remarked that the hearings probably would be superseded by Grand Jury action. Mr. Buckner told the Magistrate that Franks was willing to waive immunity and appear before the Grand Jury to tell whatever he knew in connection with the investigation. Mr. Hastings declared that he had no objection to the appearance of Franks before the Grand Jury.

"He has nothing to hide," said Mr. Buckner. "He has told Assistant District Attorney Hastings everything he knows about this case and is willing to submit to interrogation before the Grand Jury for the purpose of showing that he could not have been guilty of intentional wrongdoing."

Mr. Buckner also maintained that the were reported yesterday. Ben Gross, a reporter for The American, who was assigned to report the Friday night meeting of pressmen at Beethoven Hall, was kidnapped by a group of strikers, bundled into a taxicab and driven to the Bronx. There he was beaten and kicked until he became unconscious. At Caldwell and Webster Avenues, just beyond the Lebanon Hospital, Gross was thrown out of the taxicab and into a field. When he regained consciousness Gross limped to a drug store, and, having notified his office of the assault, sought medical assistance.

Charles Tebbs, art director of The American, was attacked in front of the Municipal Building Friday afternoon by a group of pressmen, thrown to the ground and kicked. He fought off his assailants, who fled.

Five striking pressmen pleaded guilty yesterday in Yorkville Court to seizing bundles of newspapers from an elevated train last Wednesday and carrying them to the East River with the intention of destroying them. Magistrate Sweetser suspended sentence on them, warning them not to repeat the offense. The men were Walter Kelit, 32, of 355 West Fifty-seventh Street; William Linix, 23, of 33 Ogden Avenue, the Bronx; Frank Thomas, 32, of 5A Moffatt Street, Brooklyn; James Murray, 18, of 983 Pitman Avenue, Brooklyn, and George Stewart, 18, of 672 East 170th Street, the Bronx. The complaint against them was malicious mischief.

Both morning and afternoon newspapers yesterday continued to print combined editions.

'BODENMARK' NEW UNIT OF GERMAN CURRENCY

Mortgages on Landed Property Throughout Country to Back Gold Bank.

BERLIN, Sept. 22 (Associated Press).—Germany's new unit of currency is to be the "bodenmark," containing .358 of a gram of fine gold and equal to 100 "bodenpfennigs," it became known today through publication of the measure measure providing for establishment of currency bank.

The bank is to be established by the representatives of agriculture, industry, trade and commerce, including transproviding for establishment of the new owners of urban real estate. It will be independent of the Government as regards administration and the conduct of its business. The capital of the bank, which will be free from all taxes, is to be 2,400,000,000 bodenmarks ($600,000,000).

Mortgages will be raised on all landed property in the country and towns in gold marks, on which the owners of the property must pay annual interest of 6½ per cent. In the case of industrialists who are not owners of the property where their establishments are situated, the currency bank will receive promissory notes. The bank will issue its obligations in gold marks, which will serve as cover for the bodenmark.

For the next two years the bank will be authorized to grant loans to the Reich in bodenmarks up to 2,000,000,000, and after a lapse of two years the currency bank will be definitely liquidated. The Reich will forthwith receive from the currency bank a loan, free of interest, of 500,000,000 bodenmarks with which Treasury bills discounted by the Reichsbank will be redeemed, while the Reichsbank will pay its part of the debt against bodenmarks the Reichsbank paper money which is now in circulation.

Cleveland Police Battle 300 After Snake Dance in Streets—University Orders Inquiry.

CLEVELAND, Ohio, Sept. 22.—Nine students of Western Reserve University faced police court today as the aftermath of a snake dance and parade celebration in the East End last night, and a disturbance at a theatre that culminated in a clash between police and 300 freshman students.

"Johnny" Coss, star varsity halfback, is charged with assault and battery as the result of a fist fight with the police, while Coss, Max Kelso of Oak Park, Ill., Captain of the track team, and Earl Upp, all upper classmen, were attempting to arrange bail for their fellow students. Coss and two other students were beaten severely in the melee and taken to a hospital for medical attention.

When arraigned Coss demanded a jury trial and his case was set for hearing Oct. 1. The other eight students had their cases continued to Sept. 27.

The nine students may have university authorities to reckon with in addition to the police charges, as Dean W. C. Leutner announced today.

Dr. Robert A. Vinson, new President of the University, turned the entire affair over to Dean Leutner who at once started an investigation to clear up the facts in both the police charges against the youths and charges made by the students that the officers used unnecessary force in handling the situation.

Nathan Sodeblom of Upsala, Lutheran Archbishop of Sweden, who is credited with being second only to the Pope in the church world, is on the steamship Drottningholm due to arrive here tomorrow. The Archbishop will attend the annual meeting of the World Alliance for International Friendship through the Churches in Philadelphia.

Lloyd George to Speak Only Once.

Many invitations to luncheons and dinners have been sent to ex-Premier Lloyd George by societies in New York, it was learned yesterday, and all have been declined because his time here will be too short. He will be in the city one night when he arrives, on Oct. 8, and will return to New York on the night of Nov. 1 and sail for Southampton on Nov. 3. His only address here will be at the Metropolitan Opera House on Nov. 2.

Appeals for Religious Schools.

An appeal to Jewish parents to enroll their children in religious schools in New York was made yesterday by the Jewish Education Association, which is conducting a campaign to raise $200,000 to be used as scholarships for 10,000 children. There are 300 such schools in New York, with a total attendance of about 35,000 children.

GIRL SAVAGELY SLAIN IN A JERSEY SWAMP

Bricksboro High School Student, Missing Ten Days, Beaten to Death.

CLOTHES TORN FROM BODY

Police Say They Have a Good Clue and Expect to Make an Arrest Soon.

Emma Dixon, fifteen-year-old daughter of Thomas Dixon, a farmer of Bricksboro, N. J., was found murdered yesterday morning in a swamp 40 feet off the State road between Millville and Port Elizabeth. She had been missing from her home since Sept. 13.

The body, which had been stripped of clothing, was discovered by a searching party headed by Richard Greenling, a Bricksboro truck-driver. There was a gaping wound in the back of the girl's head and the ground nearby had been much trampled as if a struggle had taken place. The girl's clothes, torn to shreds, were near the body, which was half submerged in the swamp.

An alarm was sent to police headquarters at Millville, and a squad of detectives on motorcycles rushed to the spot. After a prolonged search a blood-stained hub-cap of an automobile wheel was found with which it is believed the girl was struck dead. The girl left her home ten days ago to visit a neighbor and fetch some milk. It was after dark and when she had not returned by midnight her father became anxious. A widespread search was made but nothing had been learned of her whereabouts until yesterday's discovery. The swamp near the Millville State road lies some distance from the route which she should have taken. The police believe she was bound and gagged and carried to the spot where the murder took place. Detectives working on the case announced last night they had two good clues and believed an arrest would be made shortly.

Miss Dixon was a member of the freshmen class of Millville High School. She was popular with her class mates and described as a pretty, and unusually intelligent.

BLAKE ASSAILS VATICAN.

Bishop Calls Protests at Butchkavitch Execution Propaganda.

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Sept. 21.—Charging that the press of Europe and America had become the mouthpiece of the Roman Catholic Church, Bishop Edgar Blake of the Methodist Episcopal Church defended Soviet Russia in an address before delegates at the Ohio Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church here last night.

"The Russian Orthodox Church," Bishop Blake said, "was an ally of absolutism. It was the only force that could offer powerful resistance to the Soviet when it came into power. The Soviet was fighting for its life. Priests and bishops were killed, many of them innocent men.

"More than 1,200 priests and bishops had been put to death before the trial of Butchkavitch of the Roman Catholic Church," Bishop Blake continued. "He was not, as the press has said, executed because he taught catechism to children. Wecoumentary evidence put before the Judges at his trial, which was open and above board, showed that Butchkavitch had conspired against Russia in entering negotiations with the Polish Government when Russia was being opposed by that Government. For this he was executed, on the charge of treason."

"Mind you, 1,200 priests and bishops had been put to death before that. There had been little protest until then. But the moment that one Roman Catholic clergyman was executed the press of all Europe and America began carrying the propaganda of the Roman Catholic church. Why? I shall tell you.

"When I asked the representative of the Chicago Tribune why this flood of propaganda had started he showed surprise that I did not know. The she told me the Roman Catholic church has begun to fight back.

"I think I can trace the Jesuit hand in the vast propaganda that came out of Russia at that time. Francis McCullough of the New York Herald, who sent the most sensational stories of butchkavitch, is a Roman Catholic. The correspondent of The Times of London in Moscow is an ardent Roman Catholic. That is why the press of the world, silent when 1,200 were killed, howled when one Roman Catholic was executed.

"And I am sorry to say that the Board of Bishops of the Methodist Episcopal church was caught in that propaganda and played into the hands of the Vatican. Even our own Mr. Hughes so far forgot his policy of international timidity as to enter a protest in keeping with this propaganda."

District of Columbia	151,151.55
Indiana	153,231.45

Pennsylvania	971,708.72

West Virginia	84,736.52
Total	$6,146,966.49

Fourteen ships which were selected for taking Red Cross supplies to Japan will all have left the United States by the middle of next week. The shipments, which include large quantities of foodstuffs, clothing, blankets, timber, iron and more than $300,000 worth of disinfectants and medicines, aggregate in value $2,500,000. Other expenditures, including $1,000,000 donated to Japan for relief, $100,000 to the Japanese Red Cross and $32,500 for assistance to Americans in Japan, bring the total expenditures to date to $4,000,000.

Japan's gratitude for American assistance was expressed officially in a dispatch from Admiral E. A. Anderson, Commander in Chief of the Asiatic Fleet, made public this afternoon. The dispatch follows:

"I was received by special appointment by Admiral Yamamoto, Prime Minister, and Admiral Tokarabe, Minister of Marine, who desired to express the gratitude of the Japanese nation for the prompt assistance rendered during the present emergency by our Asiatic fleet. They stated most frankly that the morale of the Japanese in meeting the crisis was greatly aided by our energy and effective measures and that the aid arrived at the most critical time of need."

Admiral Ederle also announced that Admiral Anderson's flagship, the old armored cruiser Huron, and the destroyers had been withdrawn from Yokohama to Shanghai, as they were no longer needed at Yokohama. The gunboat Sacramento and three naval supply ships are still at Yokohama. The Sacramento will remain there for the time being.

BLAMES LIQUOR INTERESTS.

Wheeler Says They Caused Rejection of 12-Mile Limit Plan by Britain.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22.—An attack on the liquor interests in England was made today by Wayne B. Wheeler, general counsel of the Anti-Saloon League, in commenting on the recent rejection by the British Government of the American State Department's proposal to establish a reciprocal twelve-mile limit for the right of search and seizure.

"I found on my visit to England that the liquor interests were determined to prevent the Government from agreeing to anything that looked like a condemnation of their trade practices," he declared.

"We have several laws on our statute books extending the right of search to twelve miles. This right was incorporated in the last Tariff bill. The right of a nation to enact laws to enforce its Constitution and to enforce those laws within its jurisdiction is a fundamental right of every Government. If any foreign nation wants to challenge the right of the United States in the enforcement of these laws it will have to be settled by an international tribunal to determine whether we are within our rights or whether damages should be assessed."

Delay Action to Void Klan Charters.

ALBANY, Sept. 21.—The petition of Attorney General Sherman for annulment of the charters of the Ku Klux Klan and its sister organization, the Kamelia, which was to have been submitted to Supreme Court Justice Ellis J. Staley today, will not be presented until Oct. 5. The postponement of the action was necessitated by the lack of one requisite signature on the legal papers.

STRESEMANN CALLS NATION IN COUNCIL

clining because leaders like von Hindenburg and Ludendorff now think it best to let the Communists overthrow the present Government and then deal later with the Communistic victors.

Herr Brandler said that within Germany the Communists only have to count upon the opposition of about a half million armed men, 100,000 of whom are regulars and the others militia and "Fascisti." The task of technically organizing the German proletarian fighters had been difficult, but had been greatly accelerated since the general strike.

"Easier to Take Than to Hold."

"We responsible members consider that the seizing of power is not a difficult task," he added. "It is easy to take power, but it is difficult to keep it."

The Communist leader pointed out that Germany was surrounded by capitalistic enemies. Poland, he predicted, would occupy Silesia, Czechoslovakia start an advance in the south, France move further toward the Interior and Germany be cut off from all sides. In addition the food situation would be difficult, as the general tactics of Germany's enemies, he asserted, had been to prevent stores of food from reaching revolutionary Berlin.

"All these difficulties had been well considered, said Brandler. "Nevertheless," he declared, "we say now that the moment has come to act. We cannot afford to lose this moment. We must advance now or we shall be defeated. The representatives of other countries must help us discuss all possible relief. We are persuaded that victory is before us."

The Prawda says it is quite clear that the world of capitalism will not permit Germany to decide her own fate, and that Russia must be ready to repel attacks also. The situation is much more serious than at the time Lord Curzon addressed his ultimatum to the Soviet Government, the newspaper declares.

"It must be understood that the fate of the Russian and German proletariats are unavoidably linked by the life interests of both peoples," it continues. "The Russian workmen and peasants will lose everything if the German workmen are beaten, and the re-establishment of Russia will be delayed for many years to come.

"At such a time the greatest unity is necessary. Those who are interfering with unity now are playing into the hands of the capitalists. The world revolution is making a big step forward. In the face of it and in view of the imperialistic enemies advance upon us, we should develop tremendous efforts toward unity of our forces. We don't want the proletarian republics to die under the knives of pawnbrokers."

One Hour Strike in Hamburg.

HAMBURG, Sept. 22.—A one-hour general strike in protest against "the increasing pauperization of the working classes" was proclaimed today by the United Labor Federations of Hamburg, who passed resolutions also in favor of the abandonment of the "Ruhr adventure."

They likewise demanded an increase in the unemployment doles and other remedial measures calculated to offset the growing depreciation of the currency.

The seizure of gold and silver in private possession is called for in the resolutions, which sharply attack the Central Government and suggest that the workers undertake action regardless of its parliamentary legality.

POINCARE TO MAKE ANNOUNCEMENT TODAY

First Statement Since His Talk With Baldwin Is Eagerly Awaited by Paris.

Copyright, 1923, by The New York Times Company.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

PARIS, Sept. 22.—In three speeches tomorrow at Nancy, Toul and Soissetpra, Premier Poincaré will, according to official gossip, make important declarations on the reparations situation. Inasmuch as it will be his first statement since his much-discussed interview with Prime Minister Baldwin there is the greatest interest in Paris as to what he will say.

The attacks of the British press on Wednesday's declaration of Franco-British solidarity is much commented on here, the general tone being that the severity of London represents resentment that Baldwin has apparently become resigned to continued occupation of the Ruhr. That, it is figured, is the only possible explanation of the proclamation of solidarity between the two Governments since, it is not conceived that M. Poincaré promised to give up Ruhr occupation.

The Paris press displays prominently articles published today in Stinnes's newspapers calling for an understanding between Germany and France and warning against trusting Germany's fate to the Anglo-Saxons. The idea expressed is of an eventual economic treaty which tends to fit in with M. Poincaré's general statement on that subject.

For Feet that Tire from Walking

The hands are strong, capable and untiring because they have freedom to work and to move. Your feet will be comfortable and tireless, too, if you change from ordinary stiff-arched footwear to the freedom of the flexible-arch Cantilever Shoe. Walking becomes a true pleasure in Cantilevers; they give welcome comfort to men and women who must be on their feet a great deal.

The natural, graceful lines of the Cantilever Shoe For Men & Women are patterned from the lines of the foot. The shoe is carefully lasted to follow the mould of the underfoot and lend restful support to the arch. And the arch of a Cantilever Shoe is flexible. It allows the muscles to flex and contract with every step, to function freely as Nature intended. This exercise strengthens the foot muscles as you walk, so that they support the small bones of the foot in a strong, springy arch.

The moderate, well set heels of the Cantilever Shoe encourage correct posture and distribute the weight without strain on the arches. The combination of moderate heel and natural outline in the Cantilever Shoe allows the foot to step firmly and gracefully without cramping the toes or binding the muscles anywhere.

Good looking lasts, attractive styles, in fashionable colors and fine leathers. Oxfords, strap slippers and trim boots for fall.

DELEGATES ASSERT RIGHTS OF LEAGUE

Indian Spokesman Upholds Its Competence to Deal With Threatened War.

WOULD ACT ON REPARATIONS

Seven Jurists Selected to Draw Up Questions Covering Italy's Defiance of League.

Copyright, 1923, by The New York Times Company.
Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

GENEVA, Sept. 22.—With the practical closing of all discussion of Italy's action and the finishing of the work of the committees, interest in the Assembly today was centred on the speech of Jam Sahib of Nawanagar, delegate from India, who tried to recall the Assembly to a sense of its high ideals; and Professor Gilbert Murray of Oxford, representing South Africa, who repeated with force Dr. Nansen's warning of the danger of leaving the reparation problem unsettled.

Most members of the Assembly are deeply interested in who is to be elected to the Council, and there is a campaign going on against Branting of Sweden, whose stand in the Italo-Greek affair has stirred resentment in some circles.

Jam Sahib, who formerly was better known as Ranjitsinghi, the Oxford cricketer, is one of the most fervent believers in the efficacy of the "friendly, self-controlled atmosphere of League meetings" to achieve diplomatic results and he took advantage of that friendly atmosphere to tell Italy before the world that he and many like him believe stoutly in the complete competence of the League to insist on a peaceful settlement of disputes arising between its members.

Gilbert Murray with the manifesto of Jouhaux and Oudegeest, trades union leaders, in his hand summoned the British and French Governments, who for four years had failed to settle the reparations problem, either to make a settlement quickly or hand the problem over to the League.

This appeal from 20,000,000 workingmen of all nations he said must not be set aside. It was the first time that they had ever appealed to the League and it was they who were suffering and would suffer more from the long failure of the two allied governments to make an end to their failure. If the German workmen were to be kept working overtime for a few pence a day it would soon be the turn of French and English and others, "and I doubt," added this Oxford professor of Greek, "if any greater misery can be inflicted on this world than this slow grinding down of the standard of life."

Perhaps there was no danger of war in the situation and, therefore, no call for the League to interfere and yet "I know in history no surer mode of sowing seeds of war than the occupation of the territory of any nation by a foreign power."

And was there no danger? Already a situation had been allowed to grow up in which two nations had found it necessary to increase their air forces from anxiety connected one with the other.

"In the name of the ideals we profess, in the name of our common humanity, in the name of these workingmen whose livelihood is at stake," Professor Murray concluded, "let us ask the Governments of the great powers either to find a settlement of this question swiftly or hand it over for settlement to the League of Nations."

No one was ready to answer his appeal. The French delegation, which had been taking notes, sat silent. There was applause in the galleries and from that half of the Assembly delegates who understood what the speech was about.

The Council today selected seven jurists to draw up in proper form the questions which have arisen out of the Italian attitude toward Greece and toward the Council for submission to the first Council, and later, if it is considered essential, to the Permanent Court of Justice.

Experts Named by the League.

GENEVA, Sept. 22 (Associated Press).—Prompt progress in its self-allotted task of securing juridical interpretations of the covenant of the League of Nations was made by the League Council tonight when it appointed a committee of legal experts to formulate precise questions which will later be submitted either to the Permanent Court of International Justice at The Hague or some other body of eminent jurists.

Tonight's action is the first step growing out of Italy's refusal to recognize and accept the competency of the League of Nations in the Greco-Italian dispute. The experts designated include M. Rolin-Jacquemyns of Belgium, Senior Botella of Spain, Dr. A. D. de la Pradelle of France, Vittoria Scialoia of Italy, M. Adachi of Japan, Sir Cecil Hurst, Great Britain, and Dr. J. A. van Hamel, Holland, Director of the League's juridical bureau.

Among the questions to be considered are the kinds of disputes which come within the purview of the covenant, the rights of States to seize territory as guarantees and the responsibilities of States for political crimes committed within their frontiers.

The Council also took another step in the movement tending to achieve the financial rehabilitation of Europe. It accepted the report of a financial committee whereby a new currency on a gold basis will be created in the Free City of Danzig under control of the League. The new unit is to be the gulden, worth one twenty-fifth of one pound sterling, thus making Danzig a gold oasis surrounded by the paper currency territories of Germany and Poland.

Respect the League Covenant and settle the reparation problem quickly, these are the two messages of moment which go out to all Governments and peoples from the League of Nations. They are contained in no formal resolutions and backed by no formal vote-taking, but they emerge clearly as the will of the majority of world delegates assembled in Geneva, if plaudits have any meaning and enthusiastic ovations any significance.

This expression of what public opinion demands found its voice particularly today when several delegates, representing India, South Africa and Sweden, insisted upon the gravity of world conditions and demanded that the Governments obey the new order of things as represented by the League.

Referring to Italy's repudiation of the League's authority in this affair, the Maharajah of Navanagar declared his conviction that the League is perfectly competent to insist on peaceful settlement of disputes arising between members, and he issued the warning that if any one member fails to live up to the principles of the covenant the League fails to be its true self and risks ruin.

The speaker praised the forbearance of the Council on the Italian case, and voiced the conviction that all the Powers would bow to the interpretation of the covenant to be handed down by a selected group of eminent jurists or by the Permanent Court of International Justice. This speech was loudly applauded as he took his seat, and received congratulations from many of the other delegates.

It was South Africa, another of the countries in the British Empire, from which came the ringing appeal for a quick solution of the reparation problem. Professor Gilbert Murray was the spokesman, and he delivered what was hailed as the most remarkable discourse given before the present assembly.

The Commission on Amendments today recommended that the British amendment to Article XVI. of the covenant, which deals with economic and financial sanctions against States committing acts of aggression, be referred to the next Assembly.

The commission pointed out that the changes in this clause voted by the Second Assembly had not yet been ratified by a sufficient number of countries to permit the changes to enter into force, and in view of this it was not thought desirable to suggest further alterations at this time.

The Kingdom of Hedjaz, otherwise Arabia, has applied for membership in the League.

JAPAN'S NAVAL LOSS $50,000,000 IN QUAKE

Business Houses Return to the Capital and Everybody Is Engaged in Building.

TOKIO, Sept. 21 (Associated Press).—Loss to the Japanese Navy by the earthquake is estimated at 100,000,000 yen ($50,000,000) by Admiral Takarabe, Minister of the Navy.

Mrs. Cyrus E. Woods, wife of the American Ambassador, and her mother have gone to Kobe, where they will reside temporarily.

American business men who left Yokohama by the first available steamer after the disaster are drifting back to Tokio, having altered their previous view that business would move to Kobe and Osaka. Paul Messer said he had changed his opinion that the head office of his organization, the American Trading Company, should go to a southern city. Since his return to Tokio, he explained, he had found the people "optimistic, determined to maintain the capital as the business centre of the nation."

Modern office buildings that escaped the fire are being repaired rapidly to accommodate such firms. Buildings beyond repair are being dynamited, the sound of blasts reverberating through the city night and day.

In spite of the fact that tremors continue to make wooden buildings creak and those of masonry throb at intervals day and night, new habitations are springing up all over the city. Vast one-story barracks of timber and corrugated iron are being erected by soldiers and workmen in the parks and other open spaces.

Y. W. C. A. Worker Lost.

"Search reveals no trace, hope abandoned," read a cable received yesterday from Japan by officials of the Young Women's Christian Association in response to inquiries about Mrs. Edith R. Lacy, missing since the earthquake.

The message, signed by Jane Neil Scott, National Secretary of the Y. W. C. A., at Karuizawa, contradicted previous reports that Mrs. Lacy, daughter of Dr. Charles Roosa of Buffalo, N. Y., was safe.

Mrs. Lacy went to Japan in August, 1921, and was serving in Yokohama as club work director.

DR. SQUIER RETURNS AFTER AIDING JAPAN

He Tells of Terrible Sufferings and Numberless Operations He Had to Perform.

Special to The New York Times.

VANCOUVER, B. C., Sept. 22.—Within twenty-four hours after hearing the first news of the Yokohama earthquake disaster, the foreign residents of Kobe had chartered a United States Shipping Board vessel, the West Orowa, loaded it with supplies, clothing, medicine and bandages and had sent it under full steam toward the stricken city.

Details of the West Orowa's wonderful rescue work, which saved 1,800 people in Yokohama, were told today by Dr. J. B. Squier of New York, who was the only doctor on the relief ship and who arrived here on the Empress of Asia today.

When the relief ship reached Yokahama Dr. Squier performed so many operations that he lost all count of them. "Most of the sufferers had received serious burns," he said. "Those who were simply injured were in most cases unable to leave their homes, and were burned to death. The work of the Canadian officials and the officers and crew of the Canadian ship, Empress of Australia, was the outstanding thing about the whole terrible business. The Australia was the clearing place for refugees.

"The work of Captain Samuel Johnson and Captain Kent of the Australian was beyond praise. I was too busy in the little operating room we had fixed up to see much of the city itself, but judging by the cases I handled the suffering in Yokahama was beyond description. We loaded 1,800 people on our ship, all we could possibly carry, and landed them safely in Kobe."

DEFEND NEWSPAPER CODE.

Paris Jurists Uphold Editor Fined for Guarding Informant.

Copyright, 1923, by The New York Times Company.
Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

PARIS, Sept. 22.—The question as to whether the courts must recognize the right of journalists to refuse to divulge the sources of their information is again before public opinion.

The Naval Court of Cherbourg sentenced a local editor to pay 100 francs for refusal to say where he had obtained facts concerning the naval arsenal. The editor appealed. The press strongly condemns the Court's action and has the backing of a weighty legal opinion of members of the Paris courts.

So eminent an authority as M. Barthou says if journalists are excluded from practicing professional secrecy, the exercise of journalism would be impossible. Either the appeal court must reverse the Cherbourg verdict or Parliament must revise the code.

Dr. H. C. Swearingen Gets New Post

It is understood Dr. Swearingen will accept and resign his charge in St. Paul.

ITALY PAYS HONOR TO JANINA VICTIMS

Rome Is in Mourning as Mussolini and King's Representatives Receive Bodies at Capital.

ALLIED INQUIRY IS ENDED

Prevesa Hears That Findings Absolve Greeks of Indifference in Hunt for Slayers.

ROME, Sept. 22 (Associated Press).—The Italian nation today paid solemn honors to General Tellini and his three comrades of the Italian section of the Greco-Albanian Boundary Mission, massacred by unidentified persons near Janina Aug. 27.

The bodies were brought to Rome from Taranto, the Italian naval base, on a special train composed of six carriages draped in black. The coffins were covered with flowers, among them the faded offerings from the Greek authorities at Prevesa, where the bodies were embarked on their homeward voyage. A detachment of Fascisti militia under a Colonel acted as guard of honor on the journey from Taranto, and all the train crew wore decorations for deeds of valor in the World War.

Rome was in mourning as the funeral train drew into the station. Flags were at half mast, the shops were closed and manifestoes bordered in black were posted on the walls. All the military and civil authorities were present at the station. King Victor Emmanuel was represented by the Duke of Aosta in the uniform of General-in-Chief, the Count of Turin as General of Cavalry and the Prince of Udine as a Naval Captain. Most prominent among the others were Premier Mussolini, General Armando Diaz, the Minister of War, and Admiral Count Thaon di Revel, Minister of Marine.

The relatives of the victims also were present, dressed in deep mourning, and when the train stopped before the royal waiting room, several knelt, the women being unable to restrain their tears. There was a period of silence, interrupted by the military band saluting the dead with the Royal March, followed by Chopin's Funeral March.

Aircraft Escort Cortege.

Non-commissioned officers transported the coffins to the royal waiting room and to the street outside, where a multitude stood reverently, bareheaded, while bells tolled. A procession was formed and the bodies were taken to the Church of the Holy Apostles. Airplanes and dirigibles escorted the cortege, which was headed by a pistoon of mounted carabineers, with a battalion of infantry bringing up the rear. All the political and patriotic associations were represented, and the entire garrison of Rome lined the route and presented arms.

The cortège was received outside the Basilica by the clergy, who gave the first benediction, after which the coffins were taken inside and placed on a bier of myrtle and laurel branches. Over the entrance to the church was an inscription, dictated by Premier Mussolini, reading as follows:

"The mother country salutes with sorrow and pride her children who fell for her, raising her once more into the divine atmosphere of glory."

The entire Diplomatic Corps was present at the church, including the Military and Naval Attaches. Others among the throng were the Knights of the Collar of the Annunziata, who rank as cousins of the King, and thirty Generals in brilliant uniforms.

Absolution was given while the choir and clergy sang "In Paradisum," after which the procession was reformed, transporting the coffins back to the station to be taken for burial.

It is reported from Argyrokastron, Southern Albania, that the police there have arrested an Epirote named Jarelli, who has confessed that he was one of a band of seven who ambushed and killed General Tellini and the other members of the mission near Janina. If the report is true, it is believed here that the entire plot will be uncovered and all the guilty apprehended.

The report emanating from Athens yesterday that the evacuation of Corfu by the Italians had already begun is incorrect, according to the semi-official Stefani Agency. The evacuation, it is declared, will not take place until Sept. 27, the date fixed by the Conference of Ambassadors.

Allied Reports Said to Favor Greeks.

PREVESA, Sept. 21 (Associated Pres).—The report of the Allied commission inquiring into the assassination of the Italian members of the Greco-Albanian Frontier Commission will be forwarded to Paris tomorrow.

It is believed here that the report absolves the Greeks from the accusation of the Italians that the Greeks were negligent in trying to trace the murderers of the commissioners. It is stated, however, that the Italian members of the inquiry commission are filing a minority report, substantiating their original charges.

It is also stated that the Japanese, British and French delegates on the commission are convinced that the murderers of the Italians were actuated by a desire for vengeance, and not by political motives.

An incident that seemed for a time to threaten serious consequences occurred while the commission was busy with its investigation at the Albanian frontier post of Kakavia today. An Italian delegate tried to secure the passage of ten armed carabineers over the line into Greece, contending they were necessary for courier service between Janina and Italy and for his personal security.

The Greeks protested against the proposal as being another invasion of their sovereignty. They declared that their troops were guarding the allied officers and would resist. The Italian delegate insisted. The Japanese Chairman of the commission intervened and a parley followed, after which the Italian soldiers were ordered to go to Valona, an Albanian port on the Adriatic.

parents of Franks, who is 30 years old and unmarried, had retained him to defend the young man from the charge lodged against him by order of Assistant District Attorney Hastings at the end of his examination on Friday. The senior Franks are in Europe, but it was understood that, replying to a cable message telling of their son's arrest, they had said that they would return immediately. Mr. Buckner said that for a year Franks had been employed as a bond salesman by Blair & Co., Inc., at 24 Broad Street, but resigned about six months ago. Franks, he said, had independent means and had worked in the financial district for experience. Mr. Buckner said that the young man resigned from Blair & Co. "to make an intensive study of banking methods" and explained that he had been employed by a large financial institution in Wall Street before he became a bond salesman.

Franks Won't Discuss Case.

When bail had been furnished and Franks was leaving the court with his attorney he was asked if he would make any statement regarding his arrest. He shook his head and Mr. Buckner explained that he had instructed his client not to discuss the case. Franks went to the home of his parents at 131 East Sixty-sixth Street, but Mr. Buckner said that he had announced that he would later in the day go to their Summer home in Llewellyn Park, N. J., and remain there until he is called to this city in connection with future action by the authorities. Detective Sergeant Barth's affidavit filed with the Magistrate charged that Franks acted in concert with three others in criminally receiving $14,000 worth of bonds of the Miami Hotel Company of Dayton, Ohio, on Sept. 7 and $8,000 worth of bonds of the May Holding Company, a department store corporation of Cincinnati, which were part of the stolen $100,000.

William H. McAvoy and John and Hugh H. MacEwan were the three men alleged to have acted with Franks in the receipt of the stolen bonds. McAvoy is a step-brother of Justice John F. McAvoy of the Appellate Division of the Supreme Court and a son of Thomas F. McAvoy, Tammany leader of the Washington Heights district, retired Police Inspector and formerly a Deputy Commissioner of Police in the McClellan Administration.

McAvoy Attacks MacEwans.

The three men are prisoners in the Tombs under $10,000 bail each on indictments returned against them about a week ago in connection with the sale of $14,000 worth of the stolen bonds to Rollins & Co., brokers, of 43 Exchange Place, on Sept. 7 last. The sale of these bonds was effected by two men representing themselves as John MacEwan and William H. Churchill. Subsequently, when the Grand Jury returned indictments in the case, Churchill was named as a fourth defendant, but developments in Mr. Hastings's investigation on Friday were said to have revealed that Churchill was McAvoy.

McAvoy was silent yesterday on his relationship to Justice McAvoy and the Tammany leader. It was reported that on Friday afternoon McAvoy attacked one of the MacEwans for involving him in the case while they were exercising on the tier in front of their cells. He was dragged away by keepers before any harm had been done.

When they were brought to the District Attorney's office several days ago on bench warrants issued in General Sessions after the return of the indictments, the three men declared that they were not aware that the bonds had been stolen. They pleaded not guilty to the indictments when arraigned in General Sessions the next day.

STILL FOR LEAGUE, SAYS UNDERWOOD

Senator Repudiates Published Statement That He Had Abandoned It.

SAYS AMERICA SHOULD AID

Blames Republican Party for Having No Policy Respecting Europe.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22.—Senator Oscar Underwood arrived here today from a fishing trip in Wisconsin, and denied a published statement that he had abandoned the League of Nations. He said that he had not given an interview in Chicago in which he was quoted as saying: "I am no longer a strong advocate of the League of Nations."

"My views on the League of Nations are well known," he said. "I voted for the Versailles Treaty without reservations, which included the League of Nations covenant. I have no apologies to make now for my action then.

"The Republican papers are trying to answer my criticism of the Administration by saying that I am now opposed to the League of Nations. They have not yet answered my criticism that the party has no policy intended to be helpful in Europe, to preserve peace, re-establish Europe's finances and bring industrial stability.

"I might say that I have not been deserting the League of Nations, because that is not now an issue. The Republican Party rejected it. But I am justified in criticising the Republican Administration for its lack of policy in Europe.

"We ought to be doing something to help Europe, and we have done nothing."

Asked what we might have done since the country rejected the League of Nations, Senator Underwood replied:

"We might have kept a representative on the Reparations Commission and attempted to solve the Ruhr question, which, more than anything else, is working industrial demoralization in Europe. In fact, we should have taken our place at the head of the table and helped Europe settle her problems, as far as it was possible for us to do so. We could have had a representative on the Reparations Commission without involving us in the League of Nations.

"The chief thing today is that America has had no policy during this and the last Administration respecting Europe. I do not say that we should have used the League of Nations, since the Senate refused to accept it. But as the only other creditor nation we should have exerted our influence through diplomacy and other channels to aid in Europe's re-establishment."

Senator Underwood said that the condition of the American farmer today, his inability to sell his surplus, was due chiefly to America's failure to come to the aid of Europe, with the result that Europe, being worse off than during the war, has not money to buy our products.

"Since Europe was our largest customer in normal times," he said, "it is very apparent why today the American farmer is suffering, and that is solely because his best customer is bankrupt."

Senator Underwood will leave here tomorrow for North Carolina, where next week he will deliver speeches in Charlotte and Lexington. He will return at the end of next week to hold several important political conferences with his friends. He appears to be in the best of health and intends making a dignified campaign for delegates in several States.

SUPREME COURT TEST OF LIQUOR RAID AT SEA

Three Suits Started Over Seizure of Schooner Outside the Three-Mile Limit.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22.—Three cases to contest the authority of the United States to seize liquor laden vessels outside the three-mile limit on the charge of having violated American customs laws when they sold liquor to persons in small boats, were filed in the Supreme Court today.

The cases arose out of the seizure of the schooner Henry L. Marshall and her cargo of liquor by the revenue cutter Seneca off Atlantic City, N. J. The schooner was taken into New York, where the Federal Courts ordered its confiscation, together with its cargo, on the charge that it had violated the customs laws by removing a part of its cargo within twelve miles of shore.

CALF GIVES FIRE ALARM.

Rushes Out of Barn When Its Rope is Burned Through.

Special to The New York Times.

MIDDLETOWN, N. Y., Sept. 22.—A calf tied in a barn on the farm of Andrew C. Cushmay, near Edmeston, gave the alarm of fire when the flames burned the rope holding the animal, which ran out bellowing from the building.

Spontaneous combustion is believed to have been the cause of the blaze, which destroyed two hundred milkhouse, creamery and a silo recently filled.

EXPLAINS RECEIPT OF JOHNSON LETTER

San Francisco Journal Says No Money Was Offered or Asked for Senator's Message.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 22.—Andrew M. Lawrence, publisher of The San Francisco Journal, who first gave publicity to a private letter written by United States Senator Hiram W. Johnson discussing his political chances in 1924, printed in The Journal today his version of the manner in which the letter was obtained.

His disclosure followed allegations yesterday that the letter, written to C. K. McClatchy, editor of The Sacramento (Cal.) Bee, had been stolen from the private files of Albert E. Boynton, Chairman of the Republican State Central Committee, by George C. Hardwick, a former employe.

Hardwick voluntarily turned over the letter to him, Lawrence declares in his article today. Hardwick complaining of ill-treatment while in Boynton's employ and asserting that he was looking for a job.

"I told him," the article said, "I had heard of this letter several times, but had not yet seen a copy of it. He presented it to me, and upon reading it I realized its importance to the public as presenting Johnson's own views of his political future. My conviction as to its news importance is substantiated by the fact that the letter has since been published in practically every newspaper in America and has caused the Senator to burst a blood vessel.

"Mr. Hardwick did not ask any compensation for the letter, nor did I make suggestion that he would receive any. I did not offer him money for any additional letters nor suggest that he go back to Boynton to get any."

Hardwick's reputed confession is said to have been obtained by the head of a local private detective agency, who acted on information furnished Senator Johnson in Chicago by an anonymous friend. Hardwick is described as being 29 years old and a former court reporter. He came here from Colorado and was employed until last July in Boynton's office in a secretarial capacity.

Senator Johnson wrote to Mr. McClatchy that, while he would like to be President, he saw no prospect that President Harding could be defeated and that he was convinced the Johnson element could not rally its former strength in California, and doubted if he could carry the State against Harding, Hoover or any other candidate.

SEND SON TO CELL, MOTHER URGES JUDGE

Youth, Freed on Parole, Again Arrested As Philadelphia Highwayman.

Special to The New York Times.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 22.—"Judge, send my boy back to the penitentiary. He hasn't learned his lesson in good citizenship yet."

This appeal was made today by Mrs. Alice Devlin, mother of Leo Devlin, when the youth was arraigned before Magistrate Lindell on a charge of highway robbery.

Devlin was arrested last night by Patrolman Katzler after the youth had attempted to rob Joseph Hedge on Germantown Avenue. At the hearing it developed that Devlin had been released on parole from the Eastern Penitentiary after serving two years of a four-year sentence for highway robbery.

When this fact was brought out, the prisoner's mother, her face seamed with care and worry and her cheeks stained with tears, begged Magistrate Lindell to listen to her plea, and send her boy "back to the pen."

Magistrate Lindell explained that the prisoner was charged with a new crime and would have to stand trial before being recommitted to the penitentiary.

HAGEN TOO BUSY FOR TRIAL.

Accused of Speeding, He Keeps On Playing in Michigan.

Special to The New York Times.

NEW ROCHELLE, N. Y., Sept. 22.—If Walter Hagen, former national amateur golf champion, would only return to this city he would relieve the minds of the New Rochelle police, who are endeavoring to determine how to get him before Judge Swinburn in the City Court.

The police are greatly annoyed at Hagen's persistent failure to answer a summons issued to him on Aug. 24 by Motor Policeman Haller, charging him with driving at 40 miles an hour on Main Street. The day after the arrest Hagen's attorney informed the court that his client could not attend the hearing, as he had gone to Detroit to participate in a golf tournament.

Hagen was granted a week's adjournment. Since then he has obtained five additional adjournments. On each occasion Hagen's lawyer said his client was still golfing in Michigan. Last week, when Hagen failed to appear the police warned his attorney that non-appearance at the following hearing would lead to the issuance of a warrant for his arrest. Despite this warning, when the hearing was resumed before Acting Judge Bist today Hagen's attorney presented the same alibi for his non-appearance—"still in Detroit"—and added that the golf player had not definitely decided when he would appear.

This disclosure did not please the police, who maintained that there is a possibility that a warrant may be procured.

THOR BANK BOOKS TO BE SCRUTINIZED

Accounts Over Period of Alleged Police Bootlegging to Be Sifted Tomorrow.

A "SURPRISE" IS PROMISED

New Witness Expected to Make Revelations Regarding Alleged Bribe.

When Albert W. Thor, former Inspector General of the Police Department, produces his bank books before Judge Crain tomorrow, it was learned yesterday, special attention will be paid to his deposits and withdrawals from April 1 to June 30, 1921.

It was on May 28, 1921, that Detectives Lambert and Morrison say they were told a shipment of liquor they had intercepted was owned by Thor and other high officials of the police department. Thor has already been questioned as to his memory of his bank account during that period. He has testified that his balance was about the same at the end of the period as at the beginning.

It was also learned yesterday that Assistant District Attorney Pecora expects to produce a "surprise witness" before Judge Crain tomorrow. The identity of the witness is being carefully guarded. He is said to be in a position to give valuable information regarding the liquor inspector Thor has been questioned about and the $2,500 bribe alleged to have been demanded or received by Detectives Morrison and Lambert to let the liquor pass.

John D. Lindsay, counsel for Magistrate Joseph E. Corrigan, and Assistant District Attorney Pecora, both are expected to examine the "surprise witness." The week is expected to bring to light much important testimony in the case.

James Shevlin, former Supervising Federal Prohibition Agent for New York, Connecticut and Rhode Island, issued a statement yesterday denying that he was related to George J. Shevlin, whose name has been mentioned in the bootleg probe as an alleged liquor dealer.

"For the last year or two George J. Shevlin's name has been mentioned at various times in connection with mine," he said, "and I have been asked repeatedly since the beginning of the investigation before Judge Thomas C. T. Crain if he was a relative of mine. I wish to emphatically deny that he is any relative of mine or that I have ever met him, or am even acquainted with those connected with him in any of his enterprises. The most persistent rumors that we are relatives have been spread among the bootlegging fraternity, and on several occasions my name has been mentioned with his in connection with the case of a man named Williams, now serving a nine-year term in Atlanta penitentiary for bootlegging."

James Shevlin was transferred from the prohibition office in this district in October, 1920, to the division of Texas, Arizona and New Mexico. After serving there about a year, he returned here to become manager of the Nassau Bus Line, Lynbrook, L. I., where he is at present.

SLAIN WOMAN DRUG ADDICT.

Former Husband Takes Los Angeles Singer's Son.

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 22.—James W. Cass, a rancher of El Centro, former husband of Ethel Williams, the cabaret singer found slain in her room Wednesday, testified before the coroner's jury yesterday that she had been associating with drug addicts.

Cass said he had taken charge of the women's two-year-old son, who was found sleeping beside her body.

The coroner's jury returned a verdict finding that the woman had been murdered, death being due to a hemorrhage caused by blows on the head from a blunt instrument.

Franco-Canadian Treaty in Force.

The Franco-Canadian commercial convention has come into force as a result of the exchange of ratifications in Paris. It gives Canada the benefit of the minimum French tariff on some hundreds of articles and the lowest rate of duty granted to any foreign country on many items to which the minimum tariff does not apply. In the case of Canadian products not coming under the minimum tariff, Canada is assured as favorable treatment as is enjoyed by the United States.

WILSON ASSAILS SENATOR SHIELDS

tion. A notable letter was one in which Mr. Wilson sought the elimination by the Missouri electorate of Senator James A. Reed. In the same fashion he vigorously opposed the return of Senator Vardaman of Mississippi and Senator Hardwick of Georgia.

In a number of instances Senator Shields, whom the ex-President now criticises, showed himself a determined opponent of the Wilson program. He voted with the Republicans for reservations offered in the debates on ratification of the Versailles Treaty and was a persistent and vigorous assailant of the League of Nations.

His stand on the League of Nations so enraged the Democratic State Convention of Tennessee that by a vote of 1,379 to 314 it adopted on June 9, 1920, a resolution calling upon the Senator "in future to faithfully sustain the adoption of the League of Nations and the treaty of peace as written and presented without amendments or reservations."

In reply, Senator Shields wrote that compliance would be treason. He admitted that the condemnation of a convention of his party was painful to him, but he insisted that after long and deliberate study of the treaty he had concluded it violated the Constitution of the United States. He added that under the League of Nations the United States would be committed "to the most amazing and entangling alliance ever dreamed of with Great Britain and some thirty other nations."

He outlined on another occasion that if the United States were to enter the League this country would be involved in war within a year.

Senator Shields was an opponent to the Versailles treaty and helped the Senate Foreign Relations Committee in its work. He was one of the "mild reservationists" who sought to make the United States a member of the League with reservations which would not necessitate a resubmission of the treaty to the other signatory powers. He was a member of the committee which drafted the reservations to the treaty which were finally adopted by the Senate.

Senator Shields took his position on the League of Nations, which he helped to frame, after Senator Lodge had forced his resignation from the Senate. He declined to comply.

Senator Shields was a determined opponent of President Wilson's wartime prohibition policy. He was also so determined in his opposition to the program of the President for passage of a Federal amendment permitting suffrage for women that President Wilson twice wrote to the Senator urging him to vote for the amendment. Passage of the amendment, wrote the President, was of important psychological consequence in the winning of the war. Shields would not go further than to say that he would give full consideration to President Wilson's urgings on the joint resolution.

On May 28, 1920, the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, of which Senator Shields was a member, refused the request of the President that he be authorized to accept for the United States a mandate over Armenia. Senator Shields voted for the resolution of refusal, explaining:

"I have no doubt it is a very attractive proposition to Great Britain, who wishes a buffer state around in Eastern Asia for the protection of her commerce. * * * But as I view it, it is simply monstrous. It is the legitimate and natural offspring of the League of Nations and what we would have been compelled to stand for if we had become a member of the League."

In the campaign in which Senator Reed's candidacy for re-election was assailed by President Wilson, Senator Shields was one of the staunchest supporters of that candidacy.

On the resignation of Associate Justice Day of the Supreme Court last year the name of Senator Shields, who had been Chief Justice of Tennessee and a close friend of Warren G. Harding in the Senate, was considered by President Harding. But he did not receive the nomination. Whatever gratitude President Harding felt for Senator Shields's opposition to the ratification of a treaty wholly lifted by Shields's fight against the Republican Pacific pact in which Mr. Harding was keenly interested.

Of late Senator Shields has assailed Great Britain and France, whom he has charged with carrying on propaganda to influence this country to favor participation in the economic and political affairs of Europe.

Senator Shields took his present office in 1916.

MOVE TO FORCE OUT INDIANA GOVERNOR

Republican Committee May Ask McCray to Resign Because of Financial Difficulties.

EXECUTIVE IS DEFIANT

Declares He Will Not Resign—Committee Called to Meet Saturday.

INDIANAPOLIS, Sept. 22.—Whether Governor McCray should be asked to resign as a result of his financial difficulties will be a question submitted to the Republican State Committee at a meeting to be held here next Saturday at 10 A. M., according to reports in well-informed Republican circles today.

The call for the meeting of the State Committee was issued at Friday midnight by Clyde A. Walb, State Chairman, following a series of conferences participated in by such Republican leaders as Harry S. New, Postmaster General; Senator Watson, Joseph B. Kealing, Republican Committeeman from Indiana, and James P. Goodrich, former Governor of the State.

Governor McCray is understood to have been informed of the movement Friday afternoon at a conference with Senator Watson and the other Republican leaders. Later he expressed his determination to remain in office.

"I'll not resign," the Governor declared. "I have done nothing wrong. All my creditors will be paid if they will only give me a little time, and there will be plenty left for me."

The first public information that the Governor was in financial distress came recently when he called a meeting of his creditors to be held at a hotel here. Before them he made a statement proposing to turn over to them his holdings, which he values at $3,323,417, to be liquidated or managed so as to meet his obligations, which he listed at $2,652,652. A creditors' committee has been named and a trustee appointed to handle the Governor's properties.

Party leaders were reticent and declined to be interviewed as to the plan to be followed in the meeting of the State Committee. Since Governor McCray's financial difficulties became publicly known, it has often been said that they would probably result in considerable litigation, which would cause complications if he remains in the State House.

According to the reported plans for the meeting, Mr. Walb will go into the conference with information which he has gathered relative to Governor McCray's financial troubles and present the results of his investigations to the committee. The committee, it is understood, will be called upon to make a definite decision as to whether the Governor will be called upon to resign.

Governor McCray is said to take the position that the condition of his personal affairs is due in a large measure to the amount of time he had devoted to the State's business since he became Governor in 1921. His friends assert that the State Government, with the exception of the Public Service Commission, which is now undergoing a reorganization, is functioning excellently and that the Governor's personal financial affairs should have no bearing on the political situation.

COOLIDGE TO ADDRESS RED CROSS MONDAY

Denies Himself to Callers to Prepare First Public Utterance As President.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22.—Calvin Coolidge will make his first public address as the Chief Executive of the nation Monday, speaking at the annual meeting here of the American Red Cross, of which he is President. Mr. Coolidge denied himself to callers this afternoon to put the finishing touches on his address.

Other speakers on the morning program are John Barton Payne, Chairman of the Central Committee, and Admiral Edward W. Eberle, Chief of Operations of the navy. The convention will continue through Thursday and will be preceded by a meeting of the Central Committee.

ASSAILS SARANAC LAKE ON HOSPITAL LOTTERY

Dr. Dewey, in Simplified Spelling But Vigorous Terms, Demands District Attorney Act.

Special to The New York Times.

SARANAC LAKE, N. Y., Sept. 22.—Dr. Melvil Dewey, President of the Lake Placid Club, in an open letter made public today attacked recent lotteries held for the benefit of the Lake Placid Hospital, branded the participants, who included practically all the residents of the village, as on a par with bootleggers and outlaws, demanded that the District Attorney take charge of the proceeds and finished with a suggestion that the hospital Trustees refuse to accept the contribution.

At the same time Dr. Dewey declared that he firmly believed hospitals and churches should accept contributions from "tainted sources." His objection, he said, was against trustees sanctioning the means of procuring the contributions and allow their names to be used to further the procuring.

The cause of the storm is an automobile which was raffled for the newly constructed Lake Placid Hospital. Churches and various organizations participated in the affair.

Late today Dr. Dewey was the centre of a storm of controversy. The hospital trustees refused to indicate what action they would take and residents plainly showed that strained relations between the club and the village had been brought to the breaking point.

The paragraph of the letter containing most of his criticism, which is written in simplified spelling, of which Dr. Dewey is an ardent champion, reads:

"I have sed that however evil the method by which a man secured mony, if he wud give legal title to it so that it cud now be used to make a betr world, if he wud giv legal title to it so that it cold taint. But when these moral derelicts secure their mony by trading of the good name of the hospital, as they do when they offer property to be raffled for the benefit of the hospital, its trustees shud promptly and vigorusly protest against having their name drag in the mud, and must in decency refuse to be the beneficiary."

ATLANTA WOMAN KILLS FOR UNREQUITED LOVE

Mrs. Ollie Justiss Shoots Dewett Turner in an Automobile and Waits for an Ambulance.

ATLANTA, Ga., Sept. 22.—Mrs. Ollie Justiss, 25 years old, shot and killed Dewett Turner late today as she rode with him in an automobile.

According to the story she told to the police, it was a case of unrequited love. After killing Turner she stopped the automobile and when an ambulance arrived sat holding the dead man's head in her lap.

I. W. W. CALLS A STRIKE.

But Lake Steamship Officials Say No Seamen Have Quit.

CHICAGO, Sept. 22.—The marine transport workers' branch of the I. W. W. has called a strike, effective last midnight, on the Great Lakes, and similar strikes are in effect or will be called in Gulf and seaboard ports, for the release of war prisoners and other demands, according to local officials.

W. Kauffeldt, Branch Secretary of Chicago Branch 510, announced that seamen and longshoremen members of that branch had struck at Chicago, Buffalo, Duluth, Superior, Gary, Cleveland and other ports of the Great Lakes.

Officials of the Industrial Workers of the World asserted that the marine transport workers already were on strike in New Orleans and New York, that the walk-out would spread, and that there would be trouble until all "class war prisoners" were released. John Shustic of New York City is General Secretary of the marine transport workers, local officials said.

Eight thousand men are enrolled in the Chicago branch, according to Secretary Kauffeldt.

H. W. Thorp, President and General Manager of the Goodrich Transit Company, said he had heard of no strike and had no knowledge of any of the marine employes on the lakes being organized as marine transport workers. No men had quit work to his knowledge.

DIG UP AN UNKNOWN CITY.

Explorers Find Ruins of Byzantine Period in Thessaly.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Sept. 22.—Discovery of a hitherto unknown city in Thessaly has been officially reported. A large number of relics have already been unearthed.

The ruins belong to the early Byzantine period and were discovered by Sotiriou, who stated that further explorations would cause a big sensation in the archaeological world.

ZAYAS WON'T MOLEST "PATRIOTS" LEADERS

Cuban President Reassures Garcia-Velez and Despaigne, Now in Hiding.

HAVANA, Sept. 22.—If General Carlos Garcia-Velez and Colonel Manuel Despaigne, leaders of the Veterans and Patriots Association, should return to the city, they would not be molested, President Zayas has announced. It was intimated that officials know their whereabouts and can arrest them if they desire.

Dr. Oscar Soto, General Secretary of the association, who disappeared before the round-up of members started, attended a meeting held today. General Garcia-Velez let it be known that he and Despaigne would remain in hiding until assured they would not be imprisoned. They also ordered provincial leaders to stay away from Havana.

The decision of President Zayas was expected to have a quieting effect.

ZR-1 MAKES FLIGHT OVER WASHINGTON

ing storm clouds which from daybreak had continued to drench the earth as well as dampen the hopes of the navy men. There was joy at the Lakehurst naval airport when Commander Frank R. McCrary, after studying the meteorological situation for about the hundredth time, gave the order to "walk out" the ship from the hangar.

Over a field spotted with puddles of water, the 300 "gobs" and marines served the Queen of the Air, the huge bag of the dirigible swaying to and fro in the moderate breeze. After scanning last minute weather reports, Commander McCrary climbed into the pilot car of the dirigible, followed by Commander Ralph D. Weyerbacker, builder of the ship, and Captain Anton Heinen, German Zeppelin consultant.

A navy Lieutenant approached the pilot car, bearing a large wreath of Fall flowers from the garden of Mrs. McCrary to be used in the tribute to the Unknown Warrior by the naval air service.

As the 300 sailors and marines gave up their temporary control over the air monster, the ZR-1 rose gracefully into the air. From the ground the 680-foot airship presented a picturesque sight, the beauty of the view being enhanced by black storm clouds, which made an appropriate frame for the craft gleaming in the small patch of sunlight.

Abandoning the plan to carry out a series of speed tests between Lakehurst and the coast, because of a late get-away, Commander McCrary guided the dirigible in a southeast direction for a few miles. Then executing a wide sweep of the airport the ZR-1 headed for the nation's capital. Twice within five minutes the craft was lost to view in the storm clouds which were rapidly disputing the sway of the sun. When the ZR-1 reappeared there were audible expressions of the grandeur of the view by officers and the few spectators who had motored from neighboring towns. A mile further the ZR-1 was permanently enveloped in the clouds.

Pilots in the lighter-than-air service at the field said the flight under such adverse meteorological conditions offered an opportunity to test out the navigation qualities of the dirigible. For one thing, they pointed out, the pilot would have to cope with moisture which would condense on the fabric covering the airship. This problem would necessitate a constant watchfulness and regulation of the water ballast aboard. Flying in the rain and shifting winds would also give the pilot a chance to test out problems of flying.

Bulletins of the progress of the flight were received at Lakehurst from the ZR-1 and from land observers. Many of the latter reported that they could not see the craft, lost to view in the clouds, but could hear the drone of the six motors. Others reported a rare sight when the sun momentarily shone through the clouds.

near the Katherine mine, an isolated spot on the river, 200 miles from where the party is now supposed to be, held a story that none but the explorers themselves know.

A patrol will enter the canyon tomorrow to search for them.

The expedition under Colonel C. H. Birdseye, Chief Topographical Engineer of the Geological Survey, was reported in advices from Flagstaff on Sept. 11 as making a survey of the Marble and Grand Canyons of the Colorado River. The party was then nearing the mouth of Cataract Creek, the half-way mark of this perilous journey begun at the canyon head at Lee's Ferry.

As one explorer has stated, a year's time is not enough to see the Grand Canyon, and "it is a region more difficult to traverse than the Alps or the Himalayas." But part of the canyon is accessible to tourists, thousands of whom visit the spectacle each year via the Santa Fe Railroad, which has a trail running from Flagstaff and a branch line of the railroad running from Williams, Ariz.

Colonel Birdseye's party established communication with the outside world at the old Hance Trail. Then a stop of several days was made at Bright Angel Trail, below El Tovar, the latter point at the terminus of the Santa Fe's line from Williams. Several members of the party, it was reported, climbed out of the trail at that point for a view of civilization.

At Hermit Trail, a few miles below the party was reported as having received visitors, including Superintendent Crosby of the Grand Canyon National Park and officials of the Santa Fe Railroad. Before climbing back the visitors watched the heavy boats shoot the dangerous rapids. The foot of the scenic Bass Trail was reached where mail and supplies were received by Colonel Birdseye's party. The landing at Cataract Creek is extremely difficult of access.

Below the Bass Trail is Granite Gorge, with black walls that tower sheer for more than 1,000 feet. For about thirty miles the general course would be northward around the southwestern knuckle of Powell Plateau, named for the eminent Grand Canyon explorer, with danger-lurking at every footstep.

Where the canyon begins to bend to the west is the only large stream accession, from Tapeats Creek before reaching Kanab Wash, an immense gorge draining much of the northern strip of Arizona and a part of Southwestern Utah. Down the Kanab Trail is a horse trail that was used by the Powell expedition.

From Cataract Creek the next leg of the journey would be a long one, the first port being at the mouth of Diamond Creek on the south bank, where surveys have been made for a great power dam which is destined to supply electric power to a number of the larger Arizona mines. The last of the black granite is reached at Diamond Creek, although the canyon walls westward are just as precipitous. Because of Summer rains it is reported that the river flow is now higher than usual, with the danger of flood ever present.

An aviator would have difficulty in locating the party, if at all. It is doubtful if he could fly sufficiently close to the tremendous gorge to peer into the inky depths—although visibility is high of the chasm where many an explorer, prospector Indian and wandering son of the West has met his fate.

Richards Quits River Commission.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Sept. 22.—An admission that he resigned a month ago from the Delaware River Joint Commission was obtained today from State Senator Emerson L. Richards. Richards tendered his resignation after he accepted the presidency of the Bankers Trust Company of Atlantic City. He asked to be relieved from both the joint commission and the New Jersey Interstate Tunnel and Bridge Commission. Governor Silzer refused to accept the double resignations and Senator Richards finally agreed to remain on the interstate body.

JERSEY CAR SERVICE IS NEARLY NORMAL

Trolley Official Predicts Complete Restoration Within 24 Hours.

JITNEYS HAUL TO CAPACITY

August Report of Busmen Shows They Carried 10,934,800 Passengers.

Trolley service in the 146 New Jersey municipalities served by the lines of the Public Service Railway and Public Service Railroad Companies was reported yesterday as 85 per cent. normal by John L. O'Toole, Vice President of the companies.

Mr. O'Toole predicted that the trolley companies would be giving 100 per cent. service within twenty-four hours despite the loss of platform men who found other employment during the strike.

"In the Essex division alone," Mr. O'Toole said, "fully 250 new men have applied for employment, and as many more have applied in the Hudson division." He added that a change is now being made from open to closed cars and said that the greatest delay would be experienced here, as three weeks would be required, working at maximum speed, to change all car bodies.

The failure of riders to patronize the trolleys to the extent that was expected yesterday was explained by Mr. O'Toole as due to a previous announcement made by the companies that service would not be resumed until Monday.

About 675 jitneys continued in service at Newark and they continued to haul capacity crowds. Except for the rush hours the trolleys were practically empty. The majority of short distance riders appeared to prefer riding in the jitneys for five cents to paying the eight cent fare charged by the trolley companies.

Harry V. Osborne, Chairman of the Board of Public Utility Commissioners, announced that the rate schedule filed by the company on Friday, asking for a ten cent fare with no transfer charge, will come before the commission at Trenton on Tuesday morning at 10:30 o'clock. He said that the board can approve the schedule, which will mean a ten cent fare effective Oct. 11, or suspend the rate for two periods of three months each, until after the conclusion of hearings as to the justness and reasonableness of the company's request. Newark and Jersey City officials have indicated that they will oppose the companies' applications for a ten-cent fare.

Statements of receipts for August filed yesterday in Newark by bus men operating before the strike show a big increase in revenue for the jitneys during the suspension of trolley service. Newark busmen received $525,328 in fares during August; suburban busmen $75,755. Jointly they carried 10,934,800 passengers, and they paid the City of Newark $20,934 in taxes. Only 72 of the 278 emergency bus owners have filed reports. They received in fares $36,675, carried 733,473 passengers, and paid to the city $1,223.

State Senator Emerson Richards of Atlantic County yesterday continued his attack on Governor Silzer, who he said "could not have made a worse mess of the trolley situation had he gone about it deliberately." He said the Governor evidently thought he was doing a very adroit thing by saddling the responsibility upon Attorney General McCann. "What credit there is," he concluded, "belongs to McCann for the brilliant manner in which he won an unprecedented legal victory."

BANKERS MEET TOMORROW.

Plans Completed for 49th Annual Convention.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Sept. 22.—The forty-ninth annual convention of the American Bankers Association will open here Monday. J. H. Puelicher, President, will preside. General headquarters of the convention will be in the Traymore Hotel.

Meetings of the standing committees and of various divisions and sections of the organization will be held tomorrow. The convention will continue until Thursday and general sessions will be held Tuesday, Wednesday and on the concluding day.

Addresses by James M. Beck, Solicitor General of the United States; Frederick L. Kent, Vice President of the Bankers Trust Company, New York, and Charles E. Mitchell, President of the National City Bank, New York, are scheduled.

At the final general session there will be an open discussion of "The Federal Reserve System, It's Merits and Defects." It will be opened by a brief address by C. B. Haslewood, Vice President of the Union Trust Company, of Chicago.

An extensive entertainment program has been arranged for the visiting members.

CUBA ADVANCES RAIL BILL.

Senate Approves Consolidation Measure, With Amendments.

HAVANA, Sept. 22 (Associated Press).—The Tarafa bill, designed to consolidate Cuban railroads and regulate ports, was passed last night by the Senate after about five hours' discussion.

The measure now goes back to the House for adoption of the changes made by the Senate. Supporters of the measure say the amendments adopted by the Senate had removed the so-called monopolistic and confiscatory features to which American interests had objected.

The vote in the Senate was 15 to 4.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22.—The Cuban Railway Consolidation bill (the Tarafa bill), passed by the Cuban Senate, with amendments changing its original form, is believed here to be in such shape as to meet protests by American interests against the original measure.

No official description has been received stating specifically the nature of the amendments, but it was believed they were those agreed upon between the author of the bill, the interests involved and the State Department.

ASSAILS COAL SETTLEMENT.

Mining Congress Secretary Calls Pinchot's Action an "Outrage."

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Sept. 22.—Governor Pinchot's settlement of the anthracite coal strike was characterized today by James F. Callbreath, Executive Secretary of the American Mining Congress, which will hold an annual convention here next week, as an "outrage."

"I can give no credit to anyone who puts a poultice on a boil that should be lanced," Mr. Callbreath declared. "The increase in miners' wages, the second since prices reached their peak, is a means of ending the strike that will only bring on another one. The bituminous miners will expect the same treatment next April."

Wages now paid anthracite miners are more in excess of wages paid in any other industry, and there are men enough employed to produce three-fifths more than the country demands, the secretary added.

Bay State Lists Coal Restrictions.

BOSTON, Sept. 22.—Regulations issued on Sept. 7 by Eugene C. Hultman, State Emergency Fuel Administrator, limiting to three tons the amount of anthracite to be delivered to any one householder, and forbidding the delivery of anthracite to large buildings, were revoked today. Beginning Oct. 1 there will be no restrictions on delivery.

LATEST DEALINGS IN REALTY FIELD

Trading Is Light as Operators Hold Out for October 1 Renting Season.

The real estate market produced few transactions of importance last week, due in a measure to the holidays and a tendency on the part of operators and investors to hold off and see what the first of the month will bring. When many new apartment house leases will be made and others will expire.

The long hoped for decrease in rents is apparently as far off as ever.

There is a strong tendency on the part of landlords to hold rentals at their present figure and in many cases increase them on lease renewals.

Many have declared their intention of letting their apartments go vacant rather than lease them at a decreased figure, on the assumption that cutting down the gross income means a reduction in the selling value of the property.

In the sale of apartment house property especially the operator figures that it has a market value of between six and seven times the gross annual rental.

However, in some of the sales during the last couple of months this ratio has gone as high as eight on exceptional properties.

The result is that the speculative builder will hold up his rents as long as he can meet the carrying charges on his property in the hope of disposing of it at a substantial profit.

There are hundreds of apartments to rent in Manhattan but they do not meet the popular demand.

The vast majority of them rent from $2,500 a year up. The demand is for the $1,000 to $1,500 a year apartment.

The October first situation and its results will be watched with great interest by the real estate fraternity and its results will have a very decided bearing on the Winter and Spring market.

The total number of sales reported, but not recorded in Manhattan last week according to The Record and Guide was forty-three, as against eighty the previous week and eighty-eight a year ago.

The number of sales south of 59th Street was ten, as compared with nine last week and eighteen a year ago.

The number of sales north of 59th Street was thirty-three, as compared with seventy-one the previous week and 70 a year ago.

From the Bronx fifty-one sales at private contract were reported, as against eighty-four the previous week and fifty-eight a year ago.

In Manhattan John J. Meenan, Inc., sold for Alexander and Nellie Graham the five-story apartment, plot 20 by 100, at 54 West 105th Street, near Manhattan Avenue, to a client for investment. The property was held at $36,000.

The same broker sold the adjoining property, 56 West 105th Street, five-story walk-up, 34 by 100, for a client to John D. Cronin. The property was held at $30,000.

James H. Cruikshank resold to the Primel Realty Corporation, 127 West 137th Street, a five-story double flat on plot 25 by 100, held at $28,000. J. Loeb was the broker.

Frederick E. Adams sold his residence at 14 East Eighty-third Street to a New York manufacturer, who will occupy after alterations. Hamilton, Iselin & Co. represented the buyer and William B. May & Co. the owner.

Charles F. Noyes Company leased in the Broadway-Maiden Lane Building at 170 Broadway, offices to Charles May & Son, Milton L. Ernst, Louis A. Safian and Paul L. Corwin, and for Max N. Natanson offices in the Vanderbilt Building, 132 Nassau Street, to Marvel Radio Company; Joseph C. Robinson & Co., and Samuel Ostfeld.

Plans were filed yesterday with the Bronx Bureau of Buildings for the erection of three brick dwelling houses. A two-story house will be erected on the west side of Nelson Avenue, south of Boscobel Avenue, on a plot 21 by 64 feet for Nathan Benskys from plans by Moore & Landsiedel, architects, who estimate the cost at $15,000.

Two two-story houses will be erected on the west side of Findlay Avenue, 402 feet north of 169th Street, on plot 24 by 66 feet, for the S. A. Brody Company, Samuel Brody, President, from plans by Meisner & Uffner, architects, who estimate the cost at $32,000.

Charles F. Noyes Company sold 838 Morris Avenue to Vincent Castellano. The property was held at $10,000. C. Liscio & Co. were co-brokers.

In Brooklyn Martin A. Ansbro sold the four-family brick apartment 359 Fifty-ninth Street for John Cullinane and Mrs. O'Dea to Dennis Devine; and the new two-family 271 Nineteenth Street for Lucky Homes Corporation Company; for Ridge Heights Homes, Inc., 355 Sixty-second Street and 351 Sixty-second Street; also the two-family parlor floor and basement 427 Sixty-third Street for E. McGowan; all to clients for occupancy.

HOUSING HEARING DELAYED.

Tenants' Associations Ask More Time to Prepare Cases.

The State Commission on Housing and Regional Planning, of which Clarence S. Stein is Chairman, announced yesterday that the hearings which were to have been held at City Hall tomorrow had been postponed for about two weeks. This was done at the request of tenants' associations and other organizations and individuals desiring to be heard, and requiring more time for the preparation of their material for the hearing. Persons wishing to appear should write to Bernard L. Shientag, Chairman of the hearing, Commission on Housing and Regional Planning, 949 Broadway.

Justice John R. Davies of the Seventh District Municipal Court predicted yesterday that the Legislature would extend the emergency housing laws expiring in February, 1924, and advised tenants to refuse to pay rent increases they considered unreasonable.

CHEMISTRY EXHIBIT CLOSES.

400 Participants Gratified at Public's Interest.

The Ninth Exposition of the Chemical Industries closed last night at the Grand Central Palace after a week's demonstration, which the 400 exhibitors united in declaring highly successful.

The closing day found the centre of interest in the booths demonstrating with models the fastness of American-made dyes. Hundreds of physicians and diabetics visited the displays of insulin and Harvin, the recent discoveries credited with checking diabetes. Another display that attracted wide interest was that of the Chemical Warfare Service, which exhibited numerous war gases and the latest masks.

Keen interest also was shown in the motion pictures of the chemical smoke screens dropped by aviators during the bombing of the battleships New Jersey and Virginia.

Newark Painters Vote Strike.

NEWARK, N. J., Sept. 22.—Officials of the Journeymen Painters' Union, of which there are four local organizations, announced today that the painters of Newark would go out on strike on Oct. 1 unless they are granted their demands for a five-day week all year and their pay increased from $9 to $10 a day. The demands will be taken under consideration by the master painters next week.

Japan Lifts Duty on Trucks.

Because of the recent earthquake, the Japanese Government has ordered the cancellation of all import duties on trucks reaching Japan up to March 31, 1924, according to a cable message just received by the Japanese Consulate General. Until that date the import rate on American automobiles and parts, will be cut in half, also.

FIRE THREATENS SHIP.

Flames Put Out After Three-Hour Fight—Damage $50,000.

PERTH AMBOY, N. J., Sept. 22.—Damage amounting to about $50,000 resulted to the Norwegian steamship Fras, under charter by the Barber Asphalt Company, when it started in the engine room today, and for a time threatened to destroy the entire ship. The ship was in the lower Raritan Bay and had brought a cargo of crude oil from South America.

The fire became so dangerous that the crew of about forty-five men left the ship in lifeboats and were taken aboard a United States Government ocean-going dredge, which then played a number of streams of water on the burning ship and put the fire out in about three hours. The crew then returned and began unloading the vessel. It was said that when it is unloaded, in about four days, the ship would be put into dry dock. The cause of the fire was unknown.

Stevens-Duryea Offer Goes Over.

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., Sept. 22.—Because of an intervening petition in behalf of stockholders, with the avowed purpose of reorganizing the Stevens-Duryea, Inc., and therefore saving something for the investors, Judge R. W. Irwin in Superior Court today continued for another week the petition of the automobile company receivers for permission to accept an offer of $450,000 for the company's property. Raymond Owens is the chief figure in the group making the offer. Judge Irwin said that personally he favored acceptance of the offer but in view of the interest among the 22,000 stockholders he would agree to a postponement of decision.

PREMIER MASSEY SAILS FOR ENGLAND

Says the Present Tariff Hampers Trade Between America and New Zealand.

WANTS FASTER STEAMSHIPS

Prince and Princess Hohenlohe-Langenburg Also Among the Passengers on the Majestic.

The Right Hon. William Ferguson Massey, Premier of New Zealand, sailed yesterday on the White Star liner Majestic on his way to London to attend the fifth Imperial Conference, which will begin on Oct. 1. He was accompanied by his secretary, F. D. Thomson, and H. B. Drew, head of the Publicity Department of the New Zealand Government.

The Premier said that he had saved five days on his trip from Wellington to New York via San Francisco and hoped to see the sea passage between America and his country still further curtailed by the putting on of faster steamships in the Pacific service.

"I do not expect to see airships come into practical use in the passenger trade on the Pacific in my time," he said, "and therefore we must try and make the best of what we have.

"I enjoyed my visit to Washington very much and was much impressed in the interview I had with President Coolidge. New Zealand is improving steadily and the depression which came on after the war has gone. The ex-soldiers have either been given land or other work, and with them there are no unemployed in the country to speak of, and the taxation has been reduced 20 per cent. We would like to trade with the United States but the new tariff has made it practically impossible, and we have to do business with England and other countries whose customs duties are lighter."

Prince and Princess Hohenlohe-Langenburg, who have been visiting friends in this country for several months, also sailed on the Majestic. Others on board were Sir William Letts, K. B. E., Mrs. Van Swinderen, wife of the Netherlands Minister to Great Britain, and her daughter, Miss Elisabeth de Marees Van Swinderen, and Mrs. E. G. Albert.

The Majestic carried 325 first cabin passengers to Cherbourg and Southampton and a prize canary, called Lady, which was taken to the pier in a taxicab and placed in the care of Joseph Wolff, the chief engineer.

If he gets a clear run without fog Captain Sir Bertram Hayes, D. S. O. R. N. R., the master, hopes to reach Cherbourg on Thursday night.

Other ships which left yesterday for European ports were the White Star liner Cedric for Queenstown and Liverpool; the Cunarder Caronia for Queenstown and Liverpool; the Royal Mail liner Orbita for Cherbourg, Southampton and Hamburg; the Holland-America liner Veendam for Plymouth, Boulogne and Rotterdam, and the President Harding of the United States lines, for Plymouth, Cherbourg and Bremen.

FIND SABOTAGE CAUSE OF NEW HAVEN WRECK

Connecticut Utilities Commission Reports on Derailing of Express in June.

HARTFORD, Conn., Sept. 22.—The "unauthorized removal by some persons with mechanical knowledge" of parts of controlling mechanism was responsible for the wreck of the State of Maine Express at Burnside on the night of June 6, the Public Utilities Commission has decided, following an exhaustive investigation. General Manager C. L. Bardo of the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad declared that the sabotage was evidently the work of one or more striking railway shopmen or their sympathizers.

Two locomotives, three baggage and mail cars, one coach and the first pair of wheels on the head sleeper were derailed as the result of the sabotage, accomplished apparently near the Hartford Railroad station, within a space of ten minutes before the express train started out of the station for Boston. Hundreds of lives were jeopardized, and it was considered remarkable, in view of the circumstances in which the cars were thrown about, that no one was seriously injured.

State's Attorney Alcorn declared tonight that he would leave no stone unturned to bring to justice the person or persons who committed the crime. A copy of the Public Utilities Commission's report will be put in his hands tomorrow. Railroad detectives have made every endeavor to fix the guilt, but have not succeeded to date.

DENIES SLUMP IN YUCATAN.

State Agency Figures Show an Increase in Sisal Production.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

MERIDA, Yucatan, Sept. 21.—The Comision Expertadora de Yucatan, the agency of the socialistic Government of Yucatan controlling the exportation of sisal and hemp production, today denied the truth of the statements contained in a dispatch from Mexico City appearing in THE NEW YORK TIMES of Sept. 17 on the present state of the industry.

Figures taken from the commission's books show 100 per cent. increase in production for the month of January, 1923, over January, 1922, the beginning of the second year of operation of the commission under the socialistic Government. The first eight months of the present year show an increase of 35 per cent. over the first eight months of last year. When the commission was organized in January, 1921, only eighty-two henequen plantations were in operation. Today 281 plantations are in operation. Price to the organization the price of sisal hemp was as low as 2 cents a pound to the planter. The lowest price paid planters since the organization has been 3½ cents a pound. The price paid today is 4½ cents a pound.

The commission's compilations show that in order to help producers it has undertaken to finance cleaning plants, tools and repairs to machinery, and from Sept. 19, 1922, to Sept. 19, 1923, 250,298 acres have been cleaned.

Support given to producers for the purpose of cleaning and repairs to machinery and other expenses totals 254,-[illegible] pesos.

In discussing the claim that the division of lands is a menace to the development of the henequen industry, Governor Carrillo stated today that the division of lands was in accordance with the Mexican Constitution and that the development of co-operative societies of workers, especially on vast sections of land at present uncultivated, was a great step toward development of the sisal industry.

GALE RAGES ON EVE OF BALLOON RACE

Predictions Are That It Will Continue as Gordon Bennett Contestants Start Today.

ITALIAN ENTRY WITHDRAWS

Mussolini Refuses to Grant Appropriation—Belgian King Entertains Participants.

BRUSSELS, Sept. 22.—Balloonists representing six countries, including the United States, are likely to get a thorough soaking and to have plenty of wind in tomorrow's race for the Gordon Bennett Cup. A tempest was raging today and the predictions were that it would continue tomorrow.

One country will be missing when the word "let go" is given. The Italians have withdrawn from the contest because Premier Mussolini refused to approve an appropriation for their expenses.

The Aero Club of Belgium is giving a banquet this evening in honor of the participants. King Albert is offering a cup to the winner. The filling of the balloons began this afternoon on a field transformed into a quagmire by the long rain.

The order for starting has been determined by lot as follows:

Bienaime and Ravaine, balloon Picardy, France; Magdalena, balloon Fernandez Duro, Spain; Lieutenants Olmstead and Choptaw, balloon United States Army S-6; Demuyter and Denoncin, balloon Belgica, Belgium; Captain Armbruster and Dr. Bachman, balloon Helvetia, Switzerland; Colonel Dunville, balloon Banshee III., Great Britain; J. Dubois, balloon Savoie, France; Gomes Guillamon, balloon Polar, Spain; Lieutenants Lawrence and Reichelderfer, United States Navy; Captain Labrousse and Captain Dewandre, balloon Ville de Druxelles, Belgium; Lieutenants von Gruningen and Burki, balloon Geneva, Switzerland; E. DOLLINGS OFFICIALS SUED.

Receiver Seeks $377,428 Dividends Paid to Subsidiaries.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 22.—Suit to recover $377,428.89, with interest alleged to have been paid in dividends on behalf of seven underlying companies of the R. L. Dollings Company of Pennsylvania, has been entered in Common Pleas Court by Thomas Raeburn White, receiver for the Dollings Company. Named as defendants are William G. Benham, President; Dwight Harrison, Vice-President and Secretary; F. D. Connelley, Vice President and Director of Sales, and John R. Williams, a director, all of Columbus, Ohio; Charles D. Richardson of Pittsburgh and L. J. Schumaker of Philadelphia, former Vice President of the Dollings Company of Pennsylvania.

The bill asserts that the parent company maintained in a local bank an account known as the R. L. Dollings Company fiscal agent account, which was used to pay dividends of subsidiary concerns. It is alleged that no part of the money paid for unearned dividends had been repaid to the Dollings Company, and that there is no legal obligation on the part of any of the subsidiaries to repay it.

The subsidiary companies named as those for which dividends had been paid are the Commercial Truck Company, Commercial Truck Service Company, Crane Ice Cream Company, Phoenix Iron Works Company, American Cone and Pretzel Company, American Bronze Corporation and the McCambridge Company. The two last named are in the hands of the receivers.

ASSAILS POWER INTERESTS.

Louis Marshall Warns Adirondack People Against Ferris Water Plan.

Special to The New York Times.

SARANAC LAKE, N. Y., Sept. 22.—Louis Marshall of New York, addressing a mass-meeting of Adirondack residents who oppose the proposed Ferris amendment to the State Constitution, charged that the measure was rushed through the Legislature by trickery on the last day of the session. He declared it to be an attempt of the water power interests to steal from the people the entire Adirondack region without one cent of payment.

The creation of the Raquette River regulation district, he said, would mean the loss of every island in upper Saranac Lake by raising the water level, and the loss of every tributary and bay in the section involved.

This one reservoir, and hundreds are contemplated, he said, will give water power each year equal to the use of 1,000,000 tons of coal, or a capital investment of $100,000,000. This gain, he said, will be wrung from the people of the State if the proposed amendment is passed.

The National Board Y. W. C. A. offices received a cablegram yesterday from James Neill Scott at Karuagawa, Japan, that hope had been abandoned for Mrs. Edith R. Lacy of Buffalo, missing in the Japanese disaster.

MUSIC

Japan in Opera and Ballet.

Between "Butterfly," handsomely staged for a special tour, and "Trovatore," a battlehorse of the older repertory, the San Carlo Opera Company yesterday could call it a day of top favorites among the seven operas sung at the Century in a new musical season's opening week. Tamaki Miura at the matinee made her re-entrance as poor Madame Butterfly, a figure of striking appeal in the present circumstances of her devastated homeland.

Mme. Miura was applauded by the great house on her own account after her aria, "Un Bel Di," and she acted throughout with plaintive realism. With her appeared Ada Paggi as the faithful maid, Chiappini as the American Navy Lieutenant, Valle as the Consul, and Charles H. Gallagher, a newcomer, as the Buddhist priest.

In succession to Puccini's opera, Mr. Franchetti led also a new Japanese ballet, "The Legend of the Sun," with music by Mehlager, the composer of "Madame Chrysantheme." Sun goddess and sacred mirror, some obscuring butterflies, a menacing dragon, human spiders, priests and deities supplied the mythical action. Among a score of dancers, Gukrainsky was a coolie, Miss Milar the geisha and Miss Dagmara the sun.

As a cast largely familiar in Verdi's "Trovatore" last night included Mme. Rappold, returning as Leonora; Miss de Motte as the gypsy mother, Tommasini the tenor troubador, Basiola a sonorous Count de Luna, and de Biasi the Captain of the Spanish Guards. Mr. Peroni conducted the resounding Verdi melodies and anvil chorus, to which the Century acoustics gave echo and a crowded house added its applause.

Century Opera This Week.

Grand opera in any tongue has its amenities. A French-speaking Carmen last Friday was invited by a courteous Italian singing Don Jose to rest in Seville's market place, with the plain words, "Have a chair," to which she responded, "Certainly," in English just like that.

Old-time opera-goers will hear in Italian both a French and a German opera in the Century week. For Friday's "Lohengrin" the singers are Miss Fitziu, Mme. Eleanora de Cisneros, Messrs. Salazar, Valle, de Biasi and Interrante. A Saturday matinee of "Tales of Hoffmann" has Alice Zeppilli in dual role with Lucchese, Paggi, Chiappini and many more.

Further bills of Mr. Gallo's second week are tomorrow's doublet, "Cavalleria," with Elda Vettori (début) and Salazar, and "Pagliacci," Charlebois, Tommasini and Basiola, Tuesday's "Bohème," Roselle, Charlebois, Derhetrio Onofrei, Valle, de Biasi and Cervi; repetitions of "Carmen" on Wednesday, with Alice Gentle, and "Butterfly" on Thursday with Miura, and on Saturday night, Rappold, Tommasini and Basiola in "Gioconda."

Musicians Gathering Afield.

Musicians will gather afield this week for the sixth Berkshire Chamber Music Festival, from Thursday to Saturday, at Pittsfield, Mass.

Fritz Reiner, conductor of the Cincinnati Orchestra, arives from Italy on the Conte Rosso, due Wednesday in New York.

Melba, Clara Butt, McCormack and Ruffo are announced to arrive by the Olympic this week for American concert tours.

William C. Carl returns on the Berengaria from a tour to Egypt, where he played at a memorial for President Harding.

Deems Taylor has composed incidental music for the play "Casanova," to be produced at the Empire.

The Opening Concert Season.

Opening New York's concert season in another week are Tito Schipa, Oct. 1, at Carnegie Hall, and the Verbrugghen Quartet, Oct. 2, at Aeolian Hall.

S. Hurok announces for Oct. 7 both Zimbalist at Carnegie Hall and Chaliapin at the Manhattan, the latter followed next night by Pavlowa's Ballet.

Good Music in the Movies.

Paderewski's minuet is danced by Miss Gambarelli and the ballet at the Capitol.

Rimsky-Korsakov's "Scheherazade" is played in the current bill at the Rialto.

BRIBED JUROR SENTENCED.

Foreman of Blizzard Jury Gets Jail Term Besides Fine.

LEWISBURG, W. Va., Sept. 22.—The maximum penalty for a juror found guilty of accepting a bribe—six months in jail and a fine of $500—was pronounced on Howard R. Harrah in Greenbrier County Circuit Court today by Judge S. H. Sharp. Notice of an appeal was given and Harrah was placed under bond. Judge Sharp overruled a defense motion asking that the verdict be set aside.

Bond in C. Clarence Hickey, who was found guilty last night of trying to bribe a witness, was forfeited when he was called in court today and did not appear. Hickey left Lewisburg last night for Charleston, after giving bond for his appearance, but the bond was claimed to have been defective, and for protection a previous bond was forfeited. Hickey's counsel announced that a new and correct bond would be executed pending argument of a motion to set aside the verdict.

The cases of both Hickey and Harrah grew out of the trial last Summer of William Blizzard, sub-District President of the United Mine Workers, on a charge that he was accessory to murder in connection with the armed march against Logan in 1921. Harrah was foreman of the jury which failed to agree, and was found guilty of accepting $500 from Hickey, who appeared in the Blizzard case as a witness for the defense. Hickey was found guilty of offering a State witness, the Rev. J. R. Williams, $1,000 to leave the country without testifying against Blizzard.

MONAGHAN'S AID ARRESTED.

Commissioner's Secretary Accused of Trying to Board Moving Train.

Thomas J. Clougher of Hollis, Queens, Secretary to Health Commissioner F. J. Monaghan, was arrested yesterday morning at the Jamaica station of the Long Island Railroad on the charge of attempting to board the 8:45 train for New York while it was in motion.

Mr. Clougher was in a hurry to reach the Department of Health to consult with Dr. Monaghan on the latter's return to New York from attending Mayor Hylan. Mr. Clougher said that about a dozen other passengers tried to board the train at the same time. The doors to the car were open, he asserted, and the train did not leave for fully half a minute after the guard, John Wheeler, barred the way. Mr. Clougher said he remonstrated with the guard and the latter had him arrested on a disorderly conduct charge.

Magistrate John J. Keckenderfer ordered the release of Mr. Clougher until Thursday.

BALDINGER REGAINS WHITE HOUSE POST

Major, Once Harding Newsboy, Reinstated As Police Chief, Ending Funeral "Incident."

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22.—Major Ora M. Baldinger of the army, who was personal aid to President Harding, was reinstated today as commanding officer of the White House police. Announcement to the effect was made following an interview between C. Bascom Slemp, Secretary to the President, and Colonel Charles H. Sherrill, Commissioner of Public Buildings and Grounds, who was Major Baldinger's superior officer when the latter was attached to the White House.

Major Baldinger, a close friend of President and Mrs. Harding, who had been employed on the Marion Star, starting as a newsboy, before the President entered the army, was detached from his duties at the White House while he was accompanying the funeral train from San Francisco and on to Marion.

This action caused indignation among friends of President Harding. The explanation made was that the detachment of Major Baldinger was in reality intended as a courtesy to Mrs. Harding in that it would enable Major Baldinger to devote all his time to her service during the period she was putting her affairs in order prior to and after leaving the White House.

CHARGES ATTACK IN ASYLUM

Four Hospital Attendants Held on Complaint of Another.

Four attendants of the Manhattan State Hospital for the Insane, Ward's Island, were held yesterday by Magistrate Earl Smith in Harlem Court in $5,000 bail each for examination Monday. William Starzyk, also an attendant, alleged that while escorting fifteen inmates of the institution from a movie show in the institution auditorium to their quarters on Sept. 10, the four had beaten and kicked him and struck him on the head with a bottle. They, he said, they robbed him of a wallet containing $13.75. Starzyk reported the affair to Superintendent Hyman of the hospital. Detectives were called and the four arrested.

The prisoners denied the charges. They are Michael Radigan, Bernard King, Joseph McLaughlin and Patrick Maher.

DANDY SWEEPS STREETS.

Philadelphia Has a Real Beau Brummel, All Togged in White.

Special to The New York Times.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Sept. 22.—Philadelphia has a real Beau Brummel. His name is Henry Aceto. He came from Italy. He is not more than a yard high.

He will never be two yards high, but for all that he is the marvel of Philadelphia's army of street sweepers, and plies a brush on Broad Street. He wears a white silk shirt and a black bow tie. His trousers are always white and creased—spotlessly white and faultlessly creased. A gay white cap is perched on a sportive tilt on Henry's head, and white tennis shoes follows in the wake of the broom on Broad Street.

How does he do it? There is a significant shrug. "Oh," he says nonchantly, "laundry cheap enough; send trousers three times a week."

Finkelstein Loses 55 Pounds in Auburn Prison and May Go Back.

Irving Finkelstein, 27 years old, of 1,940 Seventh Avenue, who when sent to Auburn Prison eighteen months ago from Jamestown, N. Y., for the theft of $500, weighed 316 pounds, emerged yesterday on parole trained down to 261.

However, when he came from the prison portals, he was met by Detective Stephen Love, with four warrants. One charged the larceny of jewelry valued at $2,500 from D. Combiler, jeweler, of 2,741 Broadway, Nov. 20, 1921.

Finkelstein, Detective Love told Magistrate Joseph E. Corrigan, in the West Side Court, jumped bail of $2,500 in this case, going thereafter to Jamestown, where he got into the trouble which sent him to Auburn. Finkelstein waived examination and was held in $5,000 bail.

DECLARES BUSINESS IS NEAR NEW SPURT

Chamber of Commerce Official Holds the Outlook Is Brightening.

BUYERS NOW CONSERVATIVE

Prices of Materials and Labor Still Too High to Check Decline in Building Operations.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22.—Surveying the business situation, Archer Wall Douglas, Chairman of the Committee on Statistics of the United States Chamber of Commerce, concludes in a report made public tonight that there will be a definite improvement soon after the present general pause in manufacturing activity in the country.

In his opinion, the slow-up has been caused by the usual seasonal slackening, the satisfying of a demand to fill up partly empty shelves, and by a widespread feeling of conservatism that marks buying in all its phases at present.

In commenting upon the third cause, Mr. Douglas says there is a general feeling, especially among consumers, that many of the advances during the Spring were entirely without warrant, being merely the taking advantage of a supposed situation of a dearth of goods.

"Naturally," he goes on, "there arises the determination among buyers to trade entirely along the line of the laws of supply and demand and to purchase only when prices seem reasonable and with prevailing conditions."

"Shoe factories in New England seem to feel the effect of reduced demand more than those in the West, and this seems true likewise of the cotton mills of the North, compared with the cotton-growing States. Cotton exports to Europe have fallen off as the natural result of demoralized conditions in so many nations. Manufacturers of cotton fabrics face a condition which gives them pause and offers no easy solution of their difference. High-priced raw cotton is among the certainties of the coming months, despite falling off in demand from Europe and the possibility of such happening in this country. The underlying problem is as to what price the consumer will pay for cotton goods compared with the prices of raw material, and as yet there is no answer.

"Building material is somewhat cheaper, but apparently not enough so to stay the gradual decline in building and construction which has set in, and which evidently will continue. Prices of labor employed in building and high prices of rents only complicate the task of making construction a matter of more stable nature, instead of one of violent extremes.

"Matters are much mixed in the agriculture world, there being a fair degree of content in some localities, while in others the farmers are sore distressed. The entire wheat yield of the country will not exceed 755,000,000 bushels, and is being held by the farmer where he can afford to do so.

"Corn will be a large crop in the surplus States, Ohio westward to Kansas and Nebraska, inclusive, though there is still a measure of uncertainty as to its ultimate volume, owing to the large proportion of it that is not yet out of danger from an early frost. The South raised less corn this year than usual, also less grains, owing to the prevailing obcession for planting cotton.

"Prices of live stock are not generally attractive to the farmer, save that hogs have advanced of late, accompanied by high prices for corn. This did much to create more cheerful sentiment among farmers throughout the Central West, and in the West wherever hogs and corn are commodities of importance."

BLAKE ASSAILS VATICAN.

Bishop Calls Protests at Butchkavitch Execution Propaganda.

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Sept. 21.—Charging that the press of Europe and America had become the mouthpiece of the Roman Catholic Church, Bishop Edgar Blake of the Methodist Episcopal Church defended Soviet Russia in an address before delegates at the Ohio Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church here last night.

"The Russian Orthodox Church," Bishop Blake said, "was an ally of absolutism. It was the only force that could offer powerful resistance to the Soviet when it came into power. The Soviet was fighting for its life. Priests and bishops were killed, many of them innocent men.

"More than 1,200 priests and bishops had been put to death before the trial of Butchkavitch of the Roman Catholic Church," Bishop Blake continued. "He was not, as the press has said, executed because he taught catechism to children. Documentary evidence put before the Judges at his trial, which was open and aboveboard, showed that Butchkavitch had conspired against Russia in entering negotiations with the Polish Government when Russia was being opposed by that Government. For this he was executed, on the charge of treason.

"Mind you, 1,200 priests and bishops had been put to death before that. There had been little protest until then. But the moment that one Roman Catholic clergyman was executed the press of all Europe and America began carrying the propaganda of the Roman Catholic Church. Why? I shall tell you.

"When I asked the representative of the Chicago Tribune why this flood of propaganda had started he showed surprise that I did not know. Then he told me the Roman Catholic Church has begun to fight back.

"I think I can trace the Jesuit hand in to vast propaganda that came out of Russia at that time. Francis McCullough of the New York Herald, who sent the most sensational stories of Butchkavitch, is a Roman Catholic. The correspondent of The Times of London in Moscow is an ardent Roman Catholic. That is why the press of the world, silent when 1,200 were killed, howled when one Roman Catholic was executed.

"And I am sorry to say that the Board of Bishops of the Methodist Episcopal Church was caught in that propaganda and played into the hands of the Vatican. Even our own Mr. Hughes so far forgot his policy of international tradition as to enter a protest in keeping with this propaganda."

SHUBERTS SUE MAGAZINE.

Allege They Were Libeled in an Article in Variety.

Lee and Jacob J. Shubert yesterday began suit in the Supreme Court against Variety, Inc., publisher of the theatrical magazine of that name, for $100,000 damages, alleging through William Klein, their attorney, that on Aug. 22, 1923, in an article relative to the termination of a contract with Klein brothers, comedians, the defendant libeled them.

The article set forth that the comedians $1,000 to terminate the contract, so that they might go on the Orpheum Circuit without filling out another week. The Shuberts set forth that the story complained of makes it appear that they had not acted in fairness and good faith in dealing with the team.

'HITCH-HIKE' IN 18 DAYS, ARKANSAS TO YALE

Students Spent 29 Cents for Transportation—Got 84 Invitations to Ride.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Sept. 22.—Delzie Demaree, a student in the Yale School of Forestry, recently made a trip from Conway, Ark., to New Haven in eighteen days at a total cost for transportation of 29 cents. This was spent for 7-cent street car fares, five cents for ferry across the Tennessee River and 10 cents across the Cumberland River. Demaree and his companion, who was headed for Lakeville, Conn., were invited to ride eighty-four different times in twenty-eight different makes of vehicles. One make predominated with fifty-one rides. The speed varied from three miles an hour on an Arkansas log wagon to seventy miles in a touring car.

"The hitch-hike method," said Demaree, "is to me the only real way to see a country as it really is. The trip was made, not for a wager as many folks thought, but just to get a few days out in the open and to gather some idea of the changes in vegetation and the customs of people. Kentucky proved to be the hardest on pedestrians and seven of the eighteen days were taken up in getting across that State. One day we didn't catch a single ride and walked forty miles, but were so tired the next day that the best we could do was twenty miles. The main road between Memphis and Louisville was poor and the few cars that passed us were full up.

"From Louisville we went to Indianapolis and took a day off for sight-seeing and rest. We visited Riley's home and 'the ole swimmin' hole,' and had a night's sleep in bed for the only time on the entire trip. Good time was made from Columbus, Ohio. Part of the time we traveled at night and some drivers were glad to have us keep them from falling asleep at the wheel.

"We left Arkansas with three blankets, two ponchos, a coffee pot, skillet, army canteen and cup, carried in a gas mask case. When I arrived at the school I had only the gas mask case left."

DENIES REPUBLICANS CAN CLAIM FARM ACT

C. S. Barrett Says That Co-operative Measure Was Bipartisan, but Volstead Demanded Advantage.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 23.—Charles S. Barrett, President of the National Farmers' Union, is authority for a story that is causing much talk in political circles. It has to do with the passage of the Farmers' Co-operative Marketing bill, the enactment of which the Republicans have cited as one of their great achievements.

Mr. Barrett's story of the "inside facts" has been printed by The Farmers' Union Press, and what follows is reproduced with the consent of that organization. Here is the story:

"Representative Andrew J. Volstead, who was badly beaten in the recent election, frankly admitted to some of my friends and myself that he was not willing to be counted among those who would do a great public service without incidentally collecting and keeping some advantage for himself," Mr. Barrett wrote.

"When the Capper-Hersman bill was before the Judiciary Committee, in company with others I called on Mr. Volstead, who was Chairman, and urged him to make some speed with the measure.

"As all informed persons know, bills giving farmers the right to co-operatively market their products, and many of the measures changing laws relating to agriculture, are referred to the Judiciary Committee. The bill I refer to was drawn up by representatives of the National Board of Farm Organizations and the National Farmers Union.

"At my suggestion, Senator Capper, a Republican, and Representative Hersman of California, a Democrat, presented it formally at the same time in their respective houses. The farmers did not recognize the right of any party or group to treat this as a partisan political measure. Certainly those responsible for it originally had not thought of politics in connection with it. Their only purpose was to obtain legislation which would give to the farmers a larger measure of economic freedom.

"'Mr. Volstead,' I said to the Chairman of the Judiciary Committee, 'why can't we get some action on our Co-operative Marketing bill?' He turned to me and said quite emphatically:

"'I see the name of a Democratic Congressman is attached to this bill as one of its authors, and I am not going to let it pass.'

"'Suppose we were to take his name off, and substitute yours. Would you then let it pass?' I asked him.

"'Yes, if you place my name where Hersman's is, I will see that the bill is reported out and passed,' Mr. Volstead replied, evidently seeing nothing extraordinary in such a suggestion.

"So to accelerate its adoption, we consented to allow Mr. Volstead to become, for public consumption, one of its authors. The bill then passed—he is now 'Former Congressman Volstead.'"

Mr. Barrett told a New York Times representative that seven officials of the farmers' organizations were present at the conference.

"All of them, except the late Milo D. Campbell of Michigan, are living, and can substantiate every word I say," he declared.

OFFICERS CLEAR FATHER.

Man Who Locked Runaway Girl in Closet With Garbage Freed.

Upon an appeal from officers of the Missing Persons Bureau and the Children's Society that the arrest was an injustice, Hans Schramm, 46 years old, of 201 East Seventy-third Street, a baker, was freed by Magistrate William A. Sweetser in Yorkville Court yesterday after pleading not guilty to violating Penal Law 483 by locking his daughter in a closet where garbage is kept.

Officials agreed that Schramm was indiscreet but had no criminal intent in confining Anna, 13 years old, pending the arrival of an officer from the Missing Persons Bureau who had been searching for the girl for seventeen days. She had run away from home for the sixth time and officers had instructed the parents when they found her to detain her until officers arrived.

Schramm found the child in a closet in the building where he is employed and to be sure that she did not get away nailed the door, keeping her confined for about ten minutes until officers came.

The girl said she had eaten little during her absence, had stayed in parks days and slept nights in the closet where she was found. Anna refused to tell who had helped her or why she left home, which officers testified was a good one, saying she was well cared for by her parents.

Mrs. Emmons Asserts Blackmail Gang Has Many Prominent Victims.

VETERANS OFFER FISTS

Le Barron, Accused of Extortion Attempt by Society Leader, Held for Grand Jury.

Special to The New York Times.

BOSTON, Sept. 22.—Five veterans of the Yankee Division today offered to punish those involved in the attempt to blackmail Mrs. Nathaniel Emmons. The five were among those benefitted by Mrs. Emmons's services for wounded and disabled soldiers.

Arthur Le Barron, whom she accuses of attempting to extort $10,000 from her, appeared in the Municipal Court today. Judge Murray waived jurisdiction and held L. Barron in $5,000 for the Grand Jury which convenes the first Monday in October. Theresa Paumier of 592 Tremont Street furnished the necessary security in the form of real estate.

Mrs. Emmons today at her Hingham estate declared she had resolved to disclose all she knows about the blackmailing of women of prominence, disregarding conservative tradition and facing unflinchingly the searching inquiry of police and court.

"Family and name are fine things," the woman who is known as the "Angel of the Twenty-sixth" said, "but character is a finer thing." I would be unworthy of my name if I were not ready to defend it, even though it involves unpleasant experiences. I had never been in court before, and yesterday's affair was a very trying experience for me. Today I have received many telephone calls from friends and strangers alike complimenting me on the stand I have taken. I am informed that there are any women who are paying hush money to silence men who have made similar demands to those that have been made upon me. They have been too timid to co-operate with the police and press charges.

"This morning a group of five former Yankee Division men offered to use their fists on any man that I would indicate to vindicate me and to punish such acts. I have never written anything that I would be ashamed of.

"I could name other women of social prominence who have allowed members of this gang to intimidate them. Some of my women friends have attempted to silence malicious lies of this sort, but I am prepared to see this thing through. They will find that I have a different way from what they expected.

"I considered the unfortunate aspect of the undesirable publicity that was sure to attach to a case of this sort, but I felt that the public was entitled to know the facts. I felt it my duty to other women and to society at large to expose the workings of this gang which has been hounding frightened women, and I will put all the information in my possession in the hands of the police."

Reports of further arrests in relation to Mrs. Emmons's charges and possibly analagous cases were circulated today.

LONDON WOMAN FINED FOR KISSING A HORSE

She Pleads That She Always Loved Horses and Couldn't Resist Its Look.

LONDON, Sept. 22.—A woman who kissed a horse in the streets of London was arrested for disorderly conduct. She blamed the horse.

The Magistrate decided it was not disorderly to yield to such an osculatory urge, but because she was under the influence of liquor at the time the defendant was fined £1.

NEW BRONX LIBRARY OPENED

Speakers Express Hope It Will Be Means of Crushing Klan.

Hope that the public library would prove a means of stamping out activities like the Ku Klux Klan was the keynote of several addresses delivered yesterday afternoon at Pelham Parkway to celebrate the completion of the new Fordham Branch Library at 2,500 Bainbridge Avenue, the Bronx. The exercises were held under the auspices of the Fordham-Bedford Park Community Council, the Chairman of which, Colonel Daniel Sullivan, presided.

There were talks by Congressman Frank Oliver, Miss Katherine Waters, a teacher of Public School 46 and Chairman of the Library Committee of the Fordham-Bedford Park Community Council, and Edward Anderson, director of the New York Public Library.

After the exercises the new library was inspected by the crowd. It is the forty-third branch library of the City of New York and said to be the largest, having cost $165,000. It is three stories high, of brick construction, and contains the largest auditorium of any branch library in the city. To put in a stock of books, $35,000 was appropriated.

FINDS ALCOHOLISM IS GROWING MENACE

Cases in City Hospitals More Numerous and Violent, Coler Says.

1,190 TREATED IN 6 MONTHS

Liquor Better and Easier to Get Than at Beginning of Prohibition, Physician Says.

Based on reports made by Dr. John F. Fitzgerald, general medical superintendent of the Department of Public Welfare, and Dr. Walter H. Conley, medical superintendent of the Metropolitan Hospital, Bird S. Coler, Public Welfare Commissioner, in a survey made public yesterday, declared that alcoholism is more of a public menace today than it has been since 1914.

Statistics compiled by Commissioner Coler show that during the first six months of this year 1,190 cases of alcoholism were treated in the hospitals under his jurisdiction. Of the total number of 21,686 patients treated during this period, 55 out of every 1,000 were alcoholics. The Commissioner's statement that alcoholism was increasing at an alarming rate was concurred in by Dr. Fitzgerald, who said that not only were the cases becoming more numerous, but more violent and deadly.

As analyzed by Dr. Fitzgerald, the statistics show that drug addiction and alcoholism fluctuate in a peculiarly related ratio. It has been discovered, he said, that drug addiction decreases as alcoholism increases and vice versa, that drug addiction increases as alcoholism decreases.

"When prohibition went into effect," Dr. Fitzgerald said, "there was a marked slump in the number of alcoholics due mainly to the fear of bad liquor and partly to the difficulty in getting it, and high prices. The statistics show that hospital cases of alcoholism were at low ebb in 1918-19, when only twenty-seven and twenty-eight out of every 1,000 patients were alcoholics. From 1919 on the increase has been very steady. Last year the percentage was more than double that of 1919, the records showing that sixty-one out of every 1,000 patients cared for suffered from alcoholism. The slight decrease during the first six months this year is due probably to the fact that the liquor is getting better.

"It is an undisputable fact that liquor is now easier to get and that it is of a much better quality than that obtainable heretofore since prohibition. This might argue against the theory that cases of alcoholism requiring hospital attention are now on the increase were it not also a fact that men drink more today than they did before prohibition. Perhaps the sum total of their drinking is not as great as it was before prohibition, but they drink more at one time than they did.

"Before prohibition a man might drink a cocktail before dinner. Today he will drink all he can get, perhaps on the theory that he must drink while the drinking is good.

"The cases of alcoholism that find their way into the hospitals are only those unfortunates who have no friends or relative to care for them. The mass of the drinkers today do not come from that class of people, but from the well-to-do who can afford to buy liquor."

STATE IS SURE WARD OWNED BOTH PISTOLS

Confident Testimony of Superintendent of Apartment Will Prove Contention.

DEFENSE PLANS UNDECIDED

However, Even if Prisoner Is Put on Stand Blackmail Secret Will Be Guarded.

STATE DROPS ONE WITNESS

Mundis, Who Told of Seeing Ward and Peters in Cabaret, Will Not Be Called.

Through a witness held in reserve for testimony this week, possibly tomorrow, the State hopes to establish that Walter S. Ward, slayer of Clarence M. Peters, was owner for many months previous to the killing, of the two revolvers which his attorneys turned over to Sheriff George J. Werner after Ward had been surrendered.

The State, it was learned yesterday, looks upon the testimony of John Olson as its trump card in this respect. Olson is Superintendent of an apartment house in which Ward for several weeks in the Summer of 1921 maintained a suite.

Olson has sworn at the Attorney General's hearings and before the Westchester County Extraordinary Grand Jury that he saw in Ward's apartment two revolvers closely resembling those given up by the Ward lawyers to the authorities. Olson will be asked to testify again along this line before Supreme Court Justice Robert F. Wagner and a jury when the trial is resumed in White Plains tomorrow.

The importance of this witness lies in the fact that the defense persistently has maintained that one of the revolvers surrendered by the attorneys was wrested by Ward from Peters in their death struggle near the Kensico Reservoir on the morning of May 16, 1922.

The State's Contention.

The State alleges that shortly before he was expelled from the apartment Ward turned one of these revolvers over to Olson, together with his gold badge as Police Commissioner of New Rochelle. He is alleged by the State to have directed Olson to take the revolver, seek out in Harlem a negro maid who worked in the building and compel her to return $3,000 worth of diamonds and jewelry Ward accused her of having stolen.

The Attorney General already has produced evidence that Peters's relatives never knew him to possess a revolver, and similar testimony is expected when his parents, Elbridge and Ines Peters, take the witness stand.

Though Ward has been represented as being content with the progress of the trial, it was reported yesterday that an extra guard had been placed outside his cell in the Westchester County jail at White Plains. Warden John A. Hill refused to make any comment when asked whether this measure had been taken as a precaution against a possible attempt to commit suicide. As against this suggestion was the fact that throughout the first week of the trial Ward maintained a calm, at times smiling, demeanor, though occasionally he appeared perturbed by incidents in the case.

It is not the present plan of the defense to call Ward to the stand. Ex-Justice Isaac N. Mills, chief counsel for the defendant, said yesterday:

"We do not expect to call Ward in his own behalf, but, if that should become necessary, the secret of the blackmail which culminated in the shooting will not be revealed by his testimony. Whatever merits the murder charge may have, that charge is in no way related to the secret of the blackmail plot. Our contention is that Ward shot Peters in self-defense. We stand on that contention. It is up to the Attorney General to show otherwise.

No Plans for Calling Witnesses.

"Thus far we have made no definite plans for the calling of witnesses. We are unprepared to say what witnesses we will place on the stand. We do not believe that either side will ask James L. Cunningham or William Mundis to testify."

Mundis is the chauffeur who startled the Grand Jury with his testimony that Ward offered him a $5,000 check as "hush money" after Ward confessed to him the killing of Peters a few hours after the shooting. Mundis also testified that Ward was a moral deficient. But the testimony of this witness was so contradictory in its most vital aspects that the Grand Jury plainly showed its disbelief, even to the extent of warning him that some of the Grand Jurors believed he was committing perjury.

Cunningham is the former private detective and race track habitué whose sensational affidavit, naming George S. Ward, President of the Ward Baking Company and father of the defendant, as a blackmail target, was read into the record on Friday by Special Deputy Attorney General Thomas J. O'Neill.

According to Cunningham the alleged blackmail gang attempted to extort money from the father by threatening to expose the son's alleged immoral acts. The affidavit said the blackmailers tried to get the money by using the defendant as their intermediary in the transmission of threatening messages to the elder Ward.

Though Mr. Mills expressed the belief that Cunningham would not be called by his side, Cunningham has been kept under subpoena by the State. The eagerness with which Mr. O'Neill seized upon the opportunity to read the affidavit into the record suggested to many who have followed the case that the State has planned to call him to give oral testimony with regard to his affidavit.

Mundis Not Likely to Be Called.

As to Mundis, however, the State has made no effort to conceal its disbelief of his testimony and it is believed he will not be called. [illegible]

College President, Burned Out, Will Live in Berkeley Garage

BERKELEY, Cal., Sept. 22.—Left homeless by Monday's disastrous fire, Benjamin Ide Wheeler, President Emeritus of the University of California, and his wife are to reside in a tiny apartment garage owned by friends.

Furniture saved from the Wheeler home during the fire is to be moved into the garage, which is two blocks from the site of their former home.

Mr. and Mrs. Allen Gleason, owners of the garage and friends of Dr. and Mrs. Wheeler, could not prevail on them to share their home.

A movement was started among alumni of the university yesterday to replace Dr. Wheeler's library as far as possible.

the defense, though Mundis will be sworn by the State, is prepared to present evidence concerning his career. One of the important features of Mundis's story was that he saw Peters and Ward together in a cabaret two weeks before the shooting. According to the State, and now admitted by the defense, Peters was at that time at Paris Island, S. C., and could not have met Ward in New York.

Though George S. Ward remains in seclusion outside the jurisdiction of a New York subpoena, the injection of his name into the records by the presentation of the Cunningham affidavit, emphasized yesterday the possibility of his voluntary return to make answer. He is said to have been in daily communication with the defense attorneys by telephone and to have expressed his willingness to take the stand for the defense, even though that would necessitate his acceptance of the Grand Jury subpoena which has awaited service for many months.

Attorney General Carl Sherman said yesterday that the State at the moment did not plan to summon Mrs. Beryl Curtis Ward, wife of the defendant, as a witness. She is under Grand Jury subpoena, however. Mr. Sherman said it was not the State's intention to examine Mrs. Ward on the stand unless she were sworn by the defense and the progress of her testimony made necessary her cross-examination.

More than fifty persons appeared yesterday at the courtroom expecting to attend a session. They were informed court had adjourned until tomorrow.

The Grand Jury will resume its proceedings into ramifications of the case tomorrow morning.

SAYS PIGGLY WIGGLY SOUGHT FORD'S HELP

Saunders Tells of Failure to Get the Detroit Man to Back Him.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Sept. 22.—Details of a futile effort by friends of Clarence Saunders to enlist the aid of Henry Ford in Saunders' recent fight with the Piggly Wiggly pool interests featured the receivership hearing in Federal Court here yesterday, when Saunders took the stand and told the story. Saunders stated that Governor Austin Pray of Tennessee and Colonel Luke Lea, prominent publisher of Nashville, went to Detroit but failed to obtain an interview with the automobile manufacturer.

Saunders also revealed a plan for a deal with the American Farm Bureau Federation, which contemplated a $100,000,000 company to purchase the Piggly Wiggly stores and combine them with the Federation's operations.

Saunders, who founded Piggly Wiggly, and who is suing for a Federal receivership of the Piggly Wiggly corporation, parent organization, told his story on cross examination.

The plan to obtain an advance from Ford sufficient to pay off the pool interests which backed Saunders in his Wall Street venture was suggested by Joseph A. Bollin of Clarksville, Tenn., corporation director, Mr. Saunders said. He said he was not much impressed with the plan from the first, but thought it might be tried.

"The American Farm Bureau Federation plan was dropped, temporarily, Mr. Saunders said, because it would have taken too long.

Mr. Saunders also told of a $1,000,000 loan floated through a Nashville firm on which $100,000 commission was paid. The executive committee of the corporation approved this loan, he said.

SLAYING IN MEXICO BLAMED ON GERMANY

Widow of American Enters Claim for Damages, Contending Death Was Due to Propaganda.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22.—A claim against the German Government was filed today with the United States-German Mixed Claims Commission, based on the contention that the killing of an American in Mexico was due to German propagandist efforts against the United States in that country prior to the entrance of the Government in the World War.

The claim was filed by Lewis A. McGowan, an attorney of Washington, in behalf of Mrs. Nell A. Gregory of McGhee, Arkansas, widow of Charles R. Watson, an American citizen, to whom she was married at the time of his death. Mrs. Gregory sets forth in her statement to the commission that Watson, a mining engineer, receiving a salary of $6,000 a year and expenses from The Cual Mining Company, Cushuirlachic, State of Chihuahua, Mexico, and $2,000 from other activities, was attacked by a band of Mexicans at Santa Isabel, on Jan. 10, 1916, and killed.

In her petition, the widow says:

"That it is varily believed by your Memorialist that said attack was fomented by virtue of the German propaganda in Mexico against the United States, and that the said Charles R. Watson met his death as a consequence of the war between the United States and Germany."

MACREADY ESCAPES AS PLANE IS WRECKED

Army Flier Crashes in a Night Landing at Holbrook, Ariz.

HOLBROOK, Ariz., Sept. 22.—Lieutenant John A. Macready, joint holder of the cross-continent aviation record, escaped with a few scratches when an airplane he was piloting crashed in landing here last night.

Lieutenant Macready left San Diego some time ago on a photographic trip through Arizona and planned to take photographs of the Painted Desert, near Holbrook, and to continue his trip eastward.

PORT IMPROVEMENT PROGRAM LAUNCHED

First Step Joint Inspection of Waterfront Belt Line of Authority Plan.

ROADS ARE CO-OPERATING

Carriers' Change of Attitude Brings Letter of Commendation From Outerbridge.

On request of counsel for the transportation lines represented at the hearings of the Port Authority and the Interstate Commerce Commission last week, a joint inspection of waterfront belt line 13 of the comprehensive plan of the Port Authority will be made forthwith by the Operating Committee of the carriers and the engineering staff of the Port Authority.

"A trip of inspection," says an announcement made yesterday by the Port Authority, "will be taken to ascertain such improvement in operation as can be effected at once through the physical and operating changes proposed, for the accomplishment of economies and added conveniences to shippers.

"So soon as this first step in the improvement of port facilities is well under way, similar co-operative studies will be made for the exact location of the middle belt line—No. 1 of the comprehensive plan—west of the Bergen Hills, which the carriers now agree should be completed as promptly as possible.

"Because of the changed attitude shown by the carriers at the reopening of the hearings this week, when they presented, through Robert J. Cary, Chairman of the Committee of Counsel for the railroads, resolutions and offers of co-operation which give great promise of accomplishment for the future, Chairman H. M. Outerbridge of the Port Authority has addressed to Samuel Rea, Acting Chairman of the Railway Executives' Conference Committee, a letter in which he said:

"On behalf of my fellow-commissioners I desire to express to you and the conference committee of executives our gratification over the progress that has been made and the forward steps that have been taken by the executives in the concurrent hearings in the testimony given by them and in the resolutions presented looking to co-operation with the Port Authority in remedying conditions which have existed here, and in making first steps toward the effectuation of the comprehensive plan.

"We are gratified and believe that as the result of the presentation of the evidence and exhibits presented by the staff of the Port Authority, the executives of the carriers have recognized the opportunities there are and the benefits that will accrue to the carriers and to the public interest in co-operation to bring about the most efficient organization of operation that can be devised in a practical manner, step by step, as economic conditions justify, in carrying out the law of the States and of Congress.

"We are especially pleased that the carriers are now ready to have the appropriate committees of their staff co-operate with the staff of the Port Authority in the studies that will be necessary to determine the exact location and extent of Belt Line No. 1, and of having it operated under true belt line principles.

"We accept in full confidence, and as wholly sincere, the proposals for future co-operation with us in these matters and believe that the promise of real accomplishment is now definitely in sight and will redound with equal value to the carriers and the public.

"We further believe, when such results have been achieved from the first steps, that co-operation will continue, so that in the progress of time much greater benefits will ensue.

"I am sure you will recall that from its earliest inception and at the time of the first conference with the executives, and on many times since, my own and my associates' views have been forcefully expressed, that we believed the things to be worked for and accomplished should be done by a process of co-operation and without the necessity for coercion, and we venture to trust that the executives will now fully agree with us in that view; and that whether it be in improved physical facilities or operating conditions, greater and more rapid progress for the benefit of all concerned can be made in the future by that means than by any other.

"In the meantime the exhibits presented today by counsel and staff of the Port Authority relating to present methods and study of proposed methods of improving conditions in Belt Line 13 will give an opportunity to the engineering and traffic officials of the various carriers for study and reflection."

TEN MILL WORK FIRMS ARE FINED IN CHICAGO

Union Officials and Workers Are Also Fined for Violation of the Sherman Anti-trust Law.

CHICAGO, Sept. 22.—Federal Judge Cliffe today imposed fines ranging from $50 to $5,000 and aggregating about $60,000, upon ten Chicago mill work concerns and eleven of their officials and fifteen local officials and members of the International Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners of America found guilty last Spring of violating the Sherman Anti-trust act.

Three of the firms, the William Morris & Sons Company, the Philip Rinn Company and the Union Interior Finish Company, were fined $5,000 each, and Harry Morris, George P. Rinn and T. E. Reynolds, officials, respectively, of the three companies, were fined $2,000 each. In most instances the companies drew fines of $2,500 and the officials $500 each.

William F. Brinn, former head of the Carpenters' District Council here, and four others of the carpenters' union, were fined $2,500 each, the other union men drawing fines of from $50 to $1,000.

CHICAGO LEADS IN DIVORCES

Courts There Grant a Decree Every Twelve Minutes During Sessions.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, Sept. 22.—Government figures show that more divorces are granted in Cook County, which includes Chicago, than in any other country in the United States. In Chicago a divorce is granted every twelve and a half minutes on the average that the courts are in session. This means a divorce every twelve and a half minutes for five and a half days a week and twenty-five days a month for the ten months the courts are in operation.

Two years ago this month a London Judge granted thirty divorces in about an hour, and this was considered so remarkable that cable tolls were paid to get the story before American readers. About the same time Chicago Judges granted 305 divorces in one month. A little later Judge Johnston Jr. signed 450 decrees in two weeks.

The total number of divorces granted in Cook County in 1922 was 6,482. Divorces here have jumped 40 per cent. since the World War started. The proportion is now 801 to every 100,000 of population, as compared to 108 in Japan, the lowest in comparison.

Hulbert Becomes Real Mayor of New York, Empowered to Appoint or Remove Employes

At noon today Acting Mayor Murray Hulbert will become the real Mayor of New York, under the charter, so far as the power of appointment to and removal from office is concerned. The charter provides that when the Mayor of New York City is absent for a period of thirty consecutive days his powers shall be conferred upon the Acting Mayor. The thirty-day period expires at noon today.

Mr. Hulbert left for Saratoga last night to confer with Mayor Hylan, who has been dangerously ill there. He said before leaving that he would make no changes under his new powers except those the Mayor himself desired.

The Acting Mayor said he simply would carry out the policies of the Hylan Administration and would make no new appointments nor would he remove anybody. City employes need expect no changes, he said. Should the Acting Mayor find it expedient, however, to dismiss any of the Hylan commissioners, they could, with only one exception, be reinstated by Mayor Hylan. The single exception applies to the head of the Police Department. Commissioner Richard E. Enright, once removed, cannot be restored to duty in the same capacity.

Mr. Hulbert, it was said, will tell the Mayor that he need not worry over the conduct of his Administration, but should take as long a period for convalescence as he desires, either at his home or elsewhere, and feel assured that his Administration policies will be carried out as scrupulously as if the Mayor himself were on the job.

The oldest political observer about the City Hall could not remember a previous occasion when a Mayor was absent from the city for more than thirty days. The records show that this is the first time such a situation has arisen since 1898, when the Consolidation act was passed, under which the present charter is operative.

Special to The New York Times.

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N. Y., Sept. 22.—Murray Hulbert, who, under a charter provision covering the absence of the Mayor of New York for a period of more than thirty consecutive days, becomes the real Mayor of the city tomorrow, will arrive here tomorrow afternoon to confer with Mayor Hylan, who has been ill for a month.

During his illness, except in the most critical stages, Mayor Hylan has worried about this transfer of power and his desire to return to Brooklyn was caused by a mistaken belief that his full power would not be abrogated if he were in New York City. Mr. Hulbert on his visit to the Mayor tomorrow will assure Mr. Hylan that he intends to follow all of the latter's policies during his period of stewardship. For this reason his visit is expected to have a favorable effect and he will be permitted to discuss city affairs with Mayor Hylan very briefly.

Mayor Hylan continued to hold improvement today and asked for more food than his physicians were willing to give him. At it was he received only 100 calories less than the number which Dr. George F. Comstock estimated as the amount consumed in a day by the average laborer.

David Hirshfield, Commissioner of Accounts, today saw the Mayor for a short time. By direction of Dr. Comstock, Mr. Hirshfield was not permitted to discuss municipal matters.

SEEK SETTLEMENT OF WEXLER ESTATE

Executors of Banker Apply for Judicial Adjustment of Their Accounts.

SUITS HALT DIVISION

Georgia Bank Superintendent Opposes, Move Owing to $125,000 Action.

An application was made yesterday to Surrogate O'Brien to allow a judicial settlement of the accounts of Leon M. Wolf and Simon Weis of New Orleans, executors of the estate of Solomon Wexler, a banker of New Orleans and this city, who died on April 22, 1921. Mr. Wexler was a partner in the firm of J. S. Bache & Co., and a division of the estate has been prevented because of suits against the firm for amounts which it is alleged Mr. Wexler's partnership share would have to pay a proportionate assessment on any sums that might be recovered from Bache & Co. The attorneys for the executors are Wollman & Wollman, 20 Broad Street. According to the lawyers, the purpose of the present action is not only to seek a distribution of that part of the estate not involved in the Bache & Co. suits, but to bring "into the open" some of the "wild claims" that have arisen since Mr. Wexler died.

One of the claims involving the estate is for $125,000 against Bache & Co., presented by Thomas Ross Bennett, State Superintendent of Banks for the State of Georgia. In opposition to the application appeared Frank M. Patterson of 160 Broadway, counsel for Mr. Bennett. He contended that the Surrogate lacked jurisdiction to allow a distribution of the estate, the reason that the suit brought by the State of Georgia against Bache & Co. is now pending in the Federal court.

This claim, he said, grew out of the disappropriation of funds belonging to the Marietta Trust and Banking Company by two of the officials of the bank. Mr. Patterson told the Court that $125,000 of the money these officials used to speculate with "found its way into the coffers of J. S. Bache & Co." This charge is denied and is being contested by the firm.

Mr. Patterson held that if the State of Georgia wins its suit against Bache & Co., then the estate of Wexler will have to pay its share of the loss as one of the partners in Bache & Co. of any judgment obtained.

The accounting shows that the value of decedent's estate has been placed at $953,239, the largest asset of which is the partnership interest in the banking firm of J. S. Bache & Co. He had an 18 per cent. interest which was estimated at $580,268, but which, it was alleged, shrunk in 1921 to $302,503 because of the business depression but which has a greater value at this time.

Mr. Wexler left all of his personal property and household effects, his residence at 15 Rose Park, New Orleans, and 40 per cent. of the residue to Olga L. Wexler, his widow. The remaining estate he bequeathed to his sisters, Minnie and Agatha Wexler and Hannah W. Wolf, all of New Orleans.

Surrogate O'Brien reserved decision.

TWO INDIANA BANKS DECLARED INSOLVENT

State Officials Will Ask a Receivership for Institutions in Crothersville.

SEYMOUR, Ind., Sept. 22.—The Crothersville State Bank and the Citizens' State Bank, both at Crothersville, twelve miles south of here, are insolvent and the appointment of a receiver will be asked, Thomas Barr, Deputy Commissioner of the Indiana State Banking Department, announced today. The two banks face losses of approximately $100,000, Mr. Barr said.

The loss of the Crothersville State Bank is fixed tentatively at $98,581.06 by Mr. Barr. The exact amount of the loss at the other institution was not given, but it will be much smaller, the Banking Commissioner said.

Reports of the insolvent conditions of the two banks were made by Mr. Barr and J. P. McMillan, State Bank Examiner, at a meeting of stockholders of the two institutions last night. The banks have been closed since Sept. 12. It was announced at that time that business was suspended temporarily in order that the two institutions could be merged.

Failure of the banks is attributed to a large number of bad loans made several years ago.

John A. Bensel Leaves $10,000.

The will of John A. Bensel, former Dock Commissioner of New York City, who died on June 19, 1923, was filed yesterday. Ella Louise Bensel, the widow, is named as sole legatee and executrix. Mr. Bensel left personal and real property valued at $10,000.

DEAN STONE TO QUIT, RUMOR AT COLUMBIA

University Circles Hear Head of Law School Has Resigned in Order to Practice.

HE DECLINES TO COMMENT

Has Raised Standard of Legal Scholarship Constantly in 13 Years' Service.

Harlan F. Stone, 435 Riverside Drive, Dean of the Columbia University Law School for thirteen years, has resigned to practice law, according to rumors current at the University and the Columbia University Club. Dean Stone refused to confirm or deny the report at his home last night, saying, "I prefer that you ask the University authorities about that."

Dean Stone is a member of the firm of Satteles, Canfield & Stone. He is a graduate of Amherst in the class of 1894, and took his M. A. at that school in 1897. The following year he was graduated from the Columbia University Law School and was admitted to the bar. He became a lecturer in law in 1899 and was promoted to Professor in 1902, accepting the position of Dean in September, 1910.

Insistence upon a high standard of scholarship and training has been the characteristic of Dean Stone's administration of the Columbia school. He is a member of the American Bar Association Council on Legal Education and has constantly advocated stricter requirements.

His aim in the supervision of the law school has been to develop a high rate of ability among the students, rather than a large enrollment. Students who did not maintain the required average of scholarship were dropped. In his annual report to President Nicholas Murray Butler in 1922, Dean Stone discussed the problem of weeding out "young men who are seeking to enter the bar as an easy substitute for trade or business, or the earning of a livelihood by manual labor."

In addition to his work as Dean of Columbia Law School, Dean Stone has been a contributor to legal publications, is President of the Association of American Law Schools, a member of the New York State Bar Association, and the Legislative Drafting Research Fund.

NEW YEAR OPENS WEDNESDAY.

Exercises to Mark Columbia's 170th Academic Year.

Columbia University yesterday completed preparations for the opening exercises on Wednesday of the 170th academic year. Registration has been under way, and, while definite figures are unavailable, Register Edward J. Grant said that the total attendance in all departments probably would approximate that of last year, when the aggregate, including the Summer session, was 30,610. Columbia College, the undergraduate department, is likely to attain its maximum enrollment of about 2,000.

Wednesday's exercises will be carried out with traditional ceremonies. The events at Morningside will be held in the gymnasium at 3 P. M. The annual academic address will be delivered by Dr. John Dewey, Professor of Philosophy. It was announced by Secretary Frank D. Fackenthal. The academic procession will form, as at commencement, in the Library Building.

The opening exercises of the Medical School will be held in the lower lecture room, in Fifty-ninth Street, Wednesday, at 10:30 A. M. After a brief talk by President Butler, Thomas W. Salmon, Professor of Psychiatry, will deliver an address.

Fortunat Joseph Strowski has been named Visiting Professor of French Civilization and Literature for 1923-24. Dr. Frederick J. Gay of the University of California succeeds to the Chair of Bacteriology in the Medical School.

M. Strowski is Professor of Modern French Literature at the Sorbonne. Dr. Gay was graduated from Harvard College in 1897 and received his M. D. from Johns Hopkins in 1901. Last year he was Chairman of the Division of Medical Sciences of the National Research Council.

15,000 ENROLLED AT N. Y. U.

Attendance Records Probably Will Be Broken.

New York University will begin its ninety-third session tomorrow morning with an enrollment already exceeding 15,000, and indicating that records will be broken. The new session begins with the opening of the School of Commerce at Washington Square, to be followed on Wednesday with the opening of the College of Arts and Pure Science and the College of Engineering at University Heights on Wednesday. Lectures will be given in the Schools of Law, Education and Commerce and the Graduate School on Tuesday, and in the College of Engineering and Arts on Thursday. The Medical College of New York University was opened on Sept. 15.

NAVY DEFENDANTS ASK TO BE HEARD

Officers of Wrecked Destroyers Praised for Their Offer to Take the Stand.

THIRTEEN WILL BE CALLED

Captain of a Liner Testifies That There Were No Unusual Currents at Time of the Accident.

SAN DIEGO, Sept. 22 (Associated Press).—All of the thirteen defendants in the inquiry will take the stand beginning Monday to tell all about the wreck, it was announced after the defendants, led by Captain Edward H. Watson, Chief of the destroyer squadron, had requested the Court that they be allowed to testify.

Admiral William V. Pratt, presiding member of the court, responded to the request of the defendants that they be called as witnesses by saying their action was "worthy of the best traditions of the navy."

The Admiral then announced that court would adjourn until Monday to give the several naval officers named as "interested parties in the status of defendants" time to prepare to testify.

The text of the defendants' request as read by Captain Craven was as follows:

"Due to the fact that the commanding officers, division commanders and squadron commanders of the vessels that appeared in the incident under investigation are all defendants, it has made it difficult to bring before the court navigational data and details to correctly picture the catastrophe. After the navigator of the Delphy had testified to certain details in reply to questions of the Judge Advocate of the Court, he found himself placed in the status of a defendant and withdrew from the stand.

"Consequently, he became ineligible to cross-examination by the defense. It would appear that if this process should be continued and navigators of other vessels were called as witnesses, and, after replying to certain questions by the Court and the Judge Advocate, these officers became interested parties, the defendants would automatically be barred from presenting views of the disaster, other than those revealed by the interrogations by the Court and Judge Advocate.

"The complete picture would not be obtained for the rights of the defendants would not be completely guarded. Captain Watson, from the beginning of this investigation, has been anxious to take the stand to explain motives which prompted certain decisions on the evening of Sept. 8."

No abnormal currents affecting navigation were noticeable off Point Arguello on Sept. 9, the day after seven destroyers plowed into the rocks near there, according to Captain N. E. Cousins, Master of the Pacific Steamship Company's liner Ruth Alexander, who was called to the stand when the Naval Court of Inquiry investigating the disaster resumed its sessions here today.

Captain Cousin said that in thirty years of experience traveling coast routes, he had never found any need of checking his course was to take frequent soundings, especially in foggy weather.

Asked if he usually took compass bearings from Point Arguello to aid him in navigating in that vicinity, the captain said:

"We usually take them every half hour or so in a fog, but we do not rely upon them. They are wrong as often as they are right."

Dispatches received here identify J. R. Stapler, sender of a telegram introduced at yesterday's session criticizing radio compass signals received from Point Arguello, as first officer of the steamer Arizonan, led naval authorities to express the belief that Stapler would be asked to testify before the close of the inquiry.

'PULLERS' IN AN UPROAR AS CUSTOM IS BANNED

Traders in Chicago's Ghetto Market Defend right to Seize Customers by Force.

CHICAGO, Sept. 22.—The Maxwell Street market district in the west side ghetto was in an uproar today, and a strike of "pullers" was threatened, as a counter-move against the reported order of the market master, backed by police and the Aldermen of the ward, that "pulling" cease after next Monday.

"Pulling" is the practice of salesmen in the shops and stalls of seizing customers outside by the arms and dragging them in, to be shown the bargains on sale. It is more or less of a time-honored tradition in Maxwell Street.

The "pullers" and their employers declared they were the objects of a campaign by a mercantile association, and, as members of the Retail Clerks' Union, at a meeting last night declared they would strike, if necessary, to maintain the "pulling" custom.

WM. BRADLEY BANKRUPT.

Was Secretary of Subway Contracting Firm That Failed in 1918.

A petition in involuntary bankruptcy was filed in the Federal court yesterday by William Bradley, who was secretary of the Bradley Contracting Company, that passed into the control of an equity receiver on Oct. 5, 1918. The present difficulties of Mr. Bradley, it was said, are due to the old financial difficulties of the company.

Mr. Bradley places his liabilities at $2,553,520. No assets are stated. The principal creditors named are the Colonial Bank, with a claim of $30,575; Commercial Trust Company, $92,024; Parson & Son, $443,450; Fifth National Bank, $74,203; Globe Indemnity Company, $100,000, and the Frederick Snare Corporation, $203,970. The purpose of the petition, according to A. L. Gellich, Mr. Bradley's attorney, is to have the petitioner's liabilities on the debts of the Bradley Company adjudicated.

The Bradley contracting firm was one of the best known firms in the city. It built part of the subways and completed other important contracts. At the time of the equity receivership proceedings the claim was made that its assets were $4,000,000 in excess of its liabilities. This receivership still exists.

MANY BRITISH SHIPS LAID UP

Idle Officers Seek Employment on Liners as Quartermasters.

News was received yesterday from London that on account of the number of steamships laid up in British ports fully 8,000 merchant service officers were out of employment. Many, becoming financially distressed, have shipped on board the regular Atlantic liners as quartermasters until something better turns up.

One of the quartermasters on a Southampton liner recently was a Lieutenant Commander in the Royal Naval Reserve on the active reserve list and also held an extra master's certificate. He obtained a second officer's berth on a British ship operating between New York and the Far East, and his Captain signed him off the articles to permit him to take it.

BERLIN, Sept. 22.—According to a Budapest dispatch the Hungarian police at the request of the Munich police have detained a mysterious airplane containing an aluminum coffin wherein is the body of a Turkish girl, 8 years old, named Mia Humia, who died in Munich.

Her alleged parents decided to send the body by airplane to Constantinople for burial in sacred soil, but failed to obtain a visa for the body to leave the country from the Bavarian authorities, who promptly notified their reactionary Hungarian colleagues.

This is the first time, so far as is known, that a German airplane has served as a voluntary hearse.

CANCER INSTITUTE IS OPENED BY CITY

Coler Urges All Who Need Treatment to Apply at Clinic.

CONFERENCES TO BE HELD

Hospital Division on Welfare Island Ready for Patients—Specialists to Aid Work.

In announcing the opening of a new cancer department, to be known as the New York City Cancer Institute, Bird S. Coler, Public Welfare Commissioner, yesterday urged all persons suffering from cancer, or who have any abnormal growth which might be of a cancerous nature, to present themselves at the clinic for treatment. The new institute is established as a part of the Department of Public Welfare and is fully equipped with all modern appliances and personnel for complete diagnosis, and surgical, radium and high voltage X-ray treatment for cancer. The institute is established for the benefit of the poor of the city and no charge whatever is to be made for any work.

The clinic division of the institute is at 124 East Fifty-ninth Street, and ambulatory patients will be seen there by members of the staff daily, from 2 to 4 P. M. The hospital division of the institution is on Welfare Island. Any patients who need hospital care will be admitted immediately and if necessary an ambulance will be sent after the attending physician has communicated with the institute by phone or in writing.

Beginning Oct. 1 there will be held at the clinic building clinical conferences at which unusual cancer cases will be presented. Physicians who desire to take part in the conferences should send their names and addresses to the institute and notices of the meetings will be mailed. Discussing the new institute Commissioner Coler said:

"The Cancer Institute is so organized that it is capable of taking care of 200 and more cancer patients at the same time. Several hundred physicians and surgeons connected with the several hospitals of the Department of Public Welfare, each of whom is a specialist of high order, will aid the work."

LAUDS FAMILY LIFE OF THE COOLIDGES

Speaker Tells Episcopalian Brotherhood It Is Refreshing in These Days of 'Flapperism.'

CHICAGO, Sept. 22.—Eulogies of the late James L. Houghteling at his memorial chapel in St. James's Episcopal Church, erected on the site where the Brotherhood of St. Andrew was founded forty years ago, a forum on how to obtain the best young men for officers in the church army and the winding up of business affairs marked today's program of the organization's international convention, which closes tomorrow night.

Deans of several of the church's seminaries conducted the forum, each giving his experiences in the training of young men for the ministry.

Addressing the senior meeting, William Matthew Holderby, director of the Christian family crusade, said that the fathers of America today are more responsible than the mothers for "the wave of flapperism that continues throughout social life," and added that Sunday school teachers and public school teachers "should go on strike against the perpetual joyride of twentieth century parents."

The family life of President Coolidge was held up by the speaker as "refreshing in these days of blasé Americanism."

"In the family of Mr. Coolidge there is honesty, thrift, tolerance, respect for parents, devotion to children and a very intense family affection," he said. "Discipline has ever been the rule, which has secured implicit obedience from the children, yet it has been marked by utmost kindness and fair play. It is refreshing in this day of juvenile disrespect for parents and disregard for family obligations to have in the first family such honor and respect."

The old-fashioned American family life that had its prayer time and the daily reading of the Bible is "just as necessary today, if we keep the nation," he added.

KLAN BOAST DERIDED.

Officials Call Claim of Initiation in White House "Ridiculous."

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Sept. 22.—That the Ku Klux Klan held an initiation in the dining room of the White House was the statement of the Rev. Basil E. Newton of Oklahoma, representing the Klan imperial council, in an address to a large audience of Klansmen and others at Hurricane last night during a Klan celebration of the opening of the Charleston-Huntington road.

"We have 227 in the House of Representatives and 27 in the United States Senate," the speaker said, "and we held one initiation in the dining room of the White House. You know what that means."

He forgot to mention five members of the Harding Cabinet," Dr. V. T. Churchman of Charleston, head of the Klan organization in this section, whispered to a newspaper man beside him.

Klansmen from Charleston, Huntington and other West Virginia and Kentucky communities affected by the opening of the road made up the greater part of the audience.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22.—The statement of the Rev. Basil E. Newton of Charleston, W. Va., that an initiation of Klansmen had been held in the White House was declared today by White House officials to be "as ridiculous as dreams."

WALTON DENOUNCES BLOODSHED THREATS

Governor Warns Oklahoma Legislators Military Will Oppose Their Meeting.

WILL CALL MORE TROOPS

Extension of Martial Law Regime to Several Counties Is Already in Progress.

BUT FOES WON'T USE FORCE

Leader of Impeachment Group Announces They Will Use Courts if Walton Interferes.

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla., Sept. 22 (Associated Press).—A threat to close the Oklahoma State Fair and place Oklahoma County under a more rigid enforcement of martial law unless members of the State Legislature abandon their plan to meet in extraordinary session Wednesday was voiced today by Governor J. C. Walton.

Mobilization of additional units of the Oklahoma National Guard will be ordered soon, the Governor declared tonight in announcing that an extension of the scope of absolute martial law to several other counties is in progress. He declined to name the counties to which he referred and would not say how many troops would be called to augment those now in service.

The Governor declared that members of the Legislature, "from their open defiance of lawful authority, evidently intend 'to ride through blood up to the bridle,' and that any who oppose them will be 'wading through a slaughter house into an open grave.'

"But, by virtue of the power vested in me as Governor of this State, no mob shall rule Oklahoma as long as I am above ground and in that high office," he asserted.

"The lawless element contemplates starting a demonstration under the guise of a 'legislative assembly' convened for the openly avowed purpose of removing from their path any officer who dares oppose their lawless acts and who dares bring them to the bar of justice.

"The only thing that surprises me is that they have not convened their Legislature at night in the whipping posture, where, in full regalia of masks and robes, in the presence of dragons, cyclops, goblins and wizards, they could impeach me in the sanctity of nature's temple that has so often resounded with the cries of agony of tortured victims."

Replying to the Governor's declaration, Representative W. D. McBee, leader of the movement to impeach him, announced tonight that the Legislature would not resort to physical force if the Governor attempted to disperse them when they convened on Wednesday, but would use the courts.

Governor Walton declared that when the military investigation of floggings began, N. C. Jewett, Grand Dragon and head of the Klan in Oklahoma, "believed his invisible government was stronger than the Government of this State."

"Now, turning from his attitude of defiance to whining, the Grand Dragon gave out an interview Thursday charging that I am persecuting him," the Governor said. "Is that interview he said that he would not have anything more to say, but the Legislature will meet next Thursday and that I will be impeached and removed from office."

Doubts Fair Trial by "Dragons."

"The Grand Dragon marshaled his forces who are members of the Legislature, and they are threatening to convene themselves and impeach me.

"Here is a proposal to convene a Legislature made up mostly of Klansmen for the express purpose of impeaching me and removing me from office because I have uncovered the crimes of the Ku Klux Klan in Oklahoma.

"Don't you think I would have a fair and impartial trial in that aggregation of dragons?" the Executive asked.

Reiterating that every effort to apprehend law violators had been thwarted by influence of the Ku Klux Klan, the Governor said that finally it became apparent that "only under the protection of bayonets could scared and whipped victims be induced to testify against the Invisible Monster that had warned them that death would be the penalty for talking."

"Little by little we have uncovered the 'Invisible Monster' until it is bared to the light of day in all its hideousness. Now it has run to cover. With the American flag that it desecrated wrapped about its dragons, cyclops, goblins and wizards, it holds aloft the Constitution while calling upon all people to witness that it represents the only Americanism in the land.

"At the same time it denounces me as a violator of the Constitution, a war lord cursed with power, a menace to the sacred institutions of the State.

"Have I interfered with the business of a single merchant or professional man, with the operation of any corporation or business institution in this State? They say I censored a newspaper and attempted to stifle the press. I did this for two days, for the reason that the paper (The Tulsa Tribune) was violently Ku Klux and tried to incite the people against the forces of government operating against the Klan.

"They say I have suspended the writ of habeas corpus. This has been done only where necessary to uncover the crimes of the Klan and has not been to the injury of a single citizen man or woman in the State. They say I am against Statewide martial law.

"I say again I had to do that in order to reach witnesses and protect others in order to uncover the Klan crimes.

"Grand Dragon N. G. Jewett was arrested and bailed in $1,000 after pleading not guilty to a charge of rioting in connection with the beating of E. S. Merriman of Oklahoma City on the night of March 7, 1922. A witness testified before the Military Court that Jewett admitted laying on the lashes.

One hundred and eighteen cases of such violence have been considered by the Military

MARSTON WINS TITLE AT THE 38TH HOLE

Dead Stymie Beats Sweetser After Gallant Battle to Retain Amateur Crown.

VICTOR TWO DOWN AT NOON

Philadelphia Golfer Cuts Lead on Final Eighteen Before 5,000 at Flossmoor.

Special to The New York Times.

FLOSSMOOR, Ill., Sept. 22.—Jesse W. Sweetser of New York today surrendered his national amateur championship crown to Max R. Marston of Philadelphia on the thirty-eighth green at the Flossmoor Country Club. A dead stymie on the second extra hole of one of the tensest matches ever fought for the title blasted Sweetser's hopes of repeating his Brookline victory and breaking a golf precedent which has held since 1912.

In that year Jerry Travers repeated his 1911 victory, but since that time no champion has ever been able to repeat his victory of the previous year. It was also the first extra hole championship since the battle waged between Hilton, Sweetser, and Herreshoff in 1911.

The finishing holes of the match were as dramatic as any ever played. Throughout the day the two Goliaths, having proved themselves fitting candidates for the honor by their deeds throughout the week, had kept a gallery of 5,000 fans in a state of frenzy. Sweetser, showing the strain he was under, let down considerably, but withal he managed to stay out in front until the fourteenth. Marston, when noon came he was 2 up.

Afternoon Round Close.

The real struggle started in the afternoon when Marston won the first two holes. By winning the seventh hole the Philadelphia star, who holds both the city and State titles, became 1 up—the first time during the day that he was in the lead. From then on he was either in front of Sweetser or even with him until the sixteenth hole, when Sweetser became 1 up by virtue of a brilliant approach putt which gave him the hole when Marston missed a short one.

Marston returned the compliment at the seventeenth and looked to have the match sewed up when he laid a brilliant approach less than two feet from the home hole and Sweetser's approach was short of the cup and partially stymied. But the Yale star arose to the occasion and negotiated the putt, saving his half.

Going to the first extra hole, Sweetser lost an opportunity when he took an iron for his second and landed in a trap short of the green. He managed to get his half in 5, however, by getting down a four-footer.

Sweetser's Waterloo came at the second extra hole when, after Marston had put a driving iron shot on the green, he took a spoon and shoved his tee shot off into the gallery lined up on the right-hand side of the course. He was in the rough but chipped out seven past the pin. Then Marston, from 30 feet, almost holed out, his ball coming to a halt only a few inches from the hole. It blocked off every chance of Sweetser's holing and when he failed to get his ball down a new champion superseded him on the throne.

By his deeds this week, Marston has earned his honor quite as much as did Sweetser at Brookline last year. His pathway to the championship was not a rose-strewn one. Among his opponents were both the national amateur and open champion in Francis Ouimet, holder of both honors during his career as a golfer.

Plays Steady Golf.

With the exception of his afternoon round against Jones and his finishes against Sweetser and Ouimet, there has been nothing brilliant about his golf, but it has been steady all through the week.

The slump that comes to most players at one time or another fell to Sweetser's lot today. He was uncertain and practically all of his clubs but especially so with his putter. There were only two occasions when he rose to heights of which he is capable. One of these came on the fourth hole in the afternoon, when he played a superb niblick to within a yard of the pin and nine holes later when he extricated himself out of a trap in brilliant fashion, and was only prevented from an opportunity to win the hole by his brilliant lofted shot to the green—one of five during the afternoon round.

There were two other occasions when he pulled off shots that were typical of his all-week's play. One of these was his iron to the fifteenth green, almost as good as his niblick shot out of the rough at the same hole in the morning round, and his two shots to the home hole.

Marston's victory today put him in a place to which he has been a leading contender for many years. Until today he was never able to get past the semi-final barrier. At Detroit in 1916 he lost to Gardner in an extra-hole match, and since that time he has gained many honors, among them the New Jersey State Championship and the Pennsylvania State Championship—a title which he won for the third time this year. He was a member of this year's Walker Cup team.

Morning Round.

Although playing poor second shots, both had putts for birdie 4s at the first hole, but missed and halved in 5s. The second also was halved, as was the third, where Sweetser missed a six-foot putt after a brilliant approach, and Marston saved his half by dropping a eight-footer. Max lost the fourth hole with a 5, pushing his second off the green. Jess's approach was only two or three lengths short, but the best he could get was a par 4. They played great second irons to the fifth green, but Sweetser again missed a two-yarder for a win.

The champion became 2 up by taking the sixth. His drive was pushed into the rough, while Max's was pulled almost out of bounds. The ball was so close to a fence that he had to play it out left handed. He was short of the green on his third, and Sweetser, after wresting a shot back onto the fairway, won the hole with a 5, Marston missing a two-foot putt for a 4.

Marston laid Sweetser a dead stymie at the seventh after Jess had putted short. On the next hole, 3 to a 4, He drew level by winning the eighth with a four-yard putt. Sweetser came back with a win at the ninth, getting down in two putts, while Max took three from the fairy edge.

The next three holes were halved in par figures, Marston's approach putt partially shutting off Sweetser's chance of holing his 4 after a good approach from the rough. Jess became 2 up by holing a ten-foot putt at the short thirteenth, but Marston reduced the lead by dropping a twenty-foot putt from the edge of the fourteenth green.

Jess's feature shot of the morning came at the fifteenth hole, where, after pulling his tee shot into the heavy rough, he hit a long 200-yard iron to the green, saving himself a half. He was home with his second at the sixteenth, Marston slicing his tee shot and failing to reach the green on his next.

The Philadelphian got the hole back by winning the seventeenth, Sweetser sliding to a trap and taking a 6. Sweetser won the home hole by dropping a ten-footer after playing two fine shots almost to the green. He was around in 78, to Marston's 75, and 2 up, at noon.

Afternoon Description.

Sweetser lost the first two holes in the afternoon round, three dissipating his morning's advantage. He was twice short on approaches at the first and off the line at the second. His brilliant niblick at the third hole gave him the lead. He was in the short rough at the fourth but approached to a yard and got his half when Max's putt for a 3 from seven feet stopped short. Marston won the fifth when Sweetser missed his green second to a trap. All square going to the sixth, Sweetser's poor putting almost cost him a hole, but he laid Marston a partial stymie. Max became 1 up by laying a mashie almost dead to the pin at the seventh, his ball blocking off Sweetser's try for a half. Marston became 2 up by winning the eighth. Sweetser was far short on his approach. At the ninth, although bunkered, Sweetser got a half with a beautiful recovery. He might have won the hole but for Marston laying him another stymie.

Marston showed signs of collapsing when he dropped the tenth and eleventh. He missed a yard putt for a half at the tenth and was trapped and wasted a shot at the eleventh. Trapped again going to the twelfth, Max got a half when Sweetser's run-up stopped short of the green. The thirteenth was halved, but Sweetser again played a poor approach at the next hole and lost it. Marston squaring the match. The Philadelphian was stymied by a tree at the fifteenth, and Sweetser won the hole after a great iron second to the green.

The sixteenth was won by Sweetser, placing him 1 up, but he lost the next hole. Then came the new champion's brilliant rally at the home hole and the downfall of Sweetser on the second extra green.

MARSTON FAILED OFTEN.

Missed 6-Inch Putt Cost Him Chance to Play in 1915 Final.

By Associated Press.

Maxwell R. Marston, victor yesterday in a sensational match against Jess Sweetser for the national amateur golf championship at Chicago, has been knocking at the portals of links fame for years, but not until yesterday did he cross the threshold.

This season has been Marston's best. Picked for the American team that invaded England in May to defend the Walker Cup, international championship trophy, he proved a bulwark in the series which the United States won by the narrowest of margins, 6½ to 5½, after a sensational rally. Marston accounted for two of the winning points, defeating W. L. Hope in the singles, and, with Bob Gardner, downing Robert Harris and C. V. L. Hoomes for America's only point in the foursomes.

Gardner, the veteran Chicagoan, has been Marston's Nemesis in national championship play for almost a decade, blocking his path on several occasions. In 1915 Marston opposed Gardner in the semi-final round at Detroit, missing a six-inch putt on the final green that cost him the match. That was his nearest approach to the title, though he has been a semi-finalist several times.

Marston's first important tournament victory was in 1915, when as a member of the Baltusrol Country Club he won the New Jersey State championship. He repeated this triumph in 1919. He was a member of the 1921 Walker Cup team that defeated Great Britain at Southampton, N. Y., winning with W. C. Fownes in the foursomes, but losing to Willis McKenzie in the singles.

MISS COLLETT WINS CANADIAN GOLF TITLE

American Champion Defeats Mrs. Gavin, 3 and 2, in Final of Women's Open.

MONTREAL, Quebec, Sept. 22.—Miss Glenna Collett of Providence, R. I., American champion, today won the Canadian women's open golf championship, defeating Mrs. W. A. Gavin of England, the defending titleholder, 2 and 1, in the thirty-six hole final match.

Miss Collett started off with a victory on the first hole, but after halving the second the two women alternated on the rest of the first nine, ending the first quarter of the journey all square. However, Mrs. Gavin won the tenth and eighteenth coming in on the morning round, while Miss Collett was able only to get halves on the others and was 2 down at the turn. In the afternoon, however, the American star came back with added power in the last half of the play, overcame the lead of her opponent and won out on the thirty-fourth hole.

Giants Need Only Four Games To Clinch League Pennant

By defeating the Pirates again yesterday while the Reds were beating the Robins, the Giants retained their lead of four and a half games over the Cincinnati club in the race for the National League pennant. The world's champions now have to win only four of their remaining eight games to make the winning of the championship a mathematical certainty. If the Giants gain four more victories while the Reds win all of their remaining seven games, McGraw's team would then finish the season one full game ahead of Moran's players. As a result of yesterday's defeat, the Pirates are practically eliminated from the pennant race. If they win all of their remaining ten games while the Giants fail to score another victory, they would then tie the champions at the end of the season. If the Giants win three more games the Reds would then have to win all seven to finish in a tie for first place.

GIANTS AGAIN BEAT PIRATES; SCORE, 4-3

Irish Meusel's Single in the Fifth Drives Frisch Home With the Winning Run.

BENTLEY IS IN FINE FORM

Holds Pittsburgh Batsmen to Six Hits—McGrawmen Make Clean Sweep of Series.

Special to The New York Times.

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 22.—Meeting stern resistance with an even sterner attack today, the Giants won the final game of the series with the Pirates by a score of 4 to 3, thus making a sweep of the last stand by the New York team here this year.

This game, the hardest fought of the series, brought Bentley and Morrison in conflict on the mound. Each pitched a fine game, Bentley, however, having a decided edge on his rival. He held the Pirates to six hits while the Giants were getting to Morrison for twelve. The fielding on both sides was good all the way and spectacular in spots.

What proved to be the winning run was driven over by Irish Meusel with a single to centre that scored Frisch in the fifth inning.

Two runs were reeled off by the Giants in the first inning. Bancroft started the early attack with a double to left and Groh's out on a grounder to Rawlings put him on third. Frisch doubled down the right field foul line and Bancroft scored. Reaching third base on Young's infield blow, Frisch scored while Meusel was forcing Young.

Cunningham hit to right field for three bases in the fourth inning after Meusel had been retired. Kelly followed with a single to centre and Cunningham scored. Kelly stole second while Morrison was fanning Gowdy and went to third when Bentley got a hit on a smash to Grimm, but Jack was forced at second base by Bancroft.

A safe bunt by Frisch in the fifth inning and a base on balls to Young preceded a single to centre by Meusel and another Giant run swept over the plate.

Meanwhile Bentley had been moving along smoothly. He did not allow a hit in the first four innings and yielded only one in the fifth. However, in the sixth the Pirates made two hits, one of which was a double, and, combining these hits with two infield outs, scored two runs. Morrison beat out a hit that skidded off Groh's gloved hand and legged it to third when Maranville doubled to left. Carey hit to Bancroft, who threw him out, but Morrison scored and Maranville reached third. Traynor followed with a smack to Groh, who threw him out, but Maranville scored. Barnhart walked, but Bentley scooped up Cuyler's slow roller and tossed him out.

The Pirates tried hard to pull the game out in their half of the ninth, but could only score one run. Bentley had got rid of Bannister when Cuyler tripled to right. Rawlings singled to centre and Cuyler scored, but there the Pirates were halted, for Grimm filed to Meusel and Schmidt popped to Frisch.

REDS BEAT ROBINS WITH TWO RALLIES

Three Runs Tie Score in Ninth Inning and Two Tallies Win in Tenth, 8-7.

ROOKIE FOWLER A FACTOR

Brooklyn Gains Lead in Final Session, but Taylor's Bad Throw is Responsible for Defeat.

Special to The New York Times.

CINCINNATI, Sept. 22.—The Reds won a wild ten-inning game from the Robins here today by a score of 8 to 7. In the ninth inning the Reds scored three runs on an error by Olson, and after the Brooklyns took the lead in the tenth, a wild throw by Zack Taylor enabled the Reds to score two runs.

Dutch Henry pitched the tenth frame for the Robins and Fowler led off with a single. He took third when Sandberg batted for McQuaid and doubled. Burns walked, filling the bases. Daubert lined to Olson and he stepped on second in time to double up Luque who ran for Sandberg. Then the double steal was attempted and Taylor threw to Johnston, who returned the ball to the plate. Fowler started back to third and Taylor threw the ball into left field. Fowler and Burns scored on the wild heave.

In the ninth inning, with two out, Olson let Kimmick's grounder go through his legs and Fowler and Wingo scored. Kimmick reached second and scored when Roush singled. In the tenth, with McQuade pitching, the Robins scored a run on singles by Johnston and Taylor on a pass to Fournier and Kimmick's wild throw to the plate.

INTERNATIONAL LEAGU

EAST DEFEATS WEST IN TENNIS MATCHES

Tilden Clinches Event by Winning From Johnston at Forest Hills, 8-6, 7-5.

RICHARDS BEATS H. KINSEY

Scores in Straight Sets and Williams Conquers R. Kinsey —West Takes Doubles.

The combined players of Philadelphia and New York defeated the best of San Francisco yesterday when East and West met in their annual match at the West Side Tennis Club at Forest Hills, L. I. To William T. Tilden 2d of Philadelphia, the national champion, went the honor of clinching the victory for the East when he defeated William M. Johnston of California in the third match of the day at 8–6, 7–5.

Previously Vincent Richards, who is now making his home in New York, had defeated Howard Kinsey of California in straight sets at 6–3, 6–2, and R. Norris Williams 2d of Philadelphia, captain of the Eastern combination, vanquished Robert Kinsey at 6–1, 7–9, 6–3.

The final score was 4–1. Wallace F. Johnson of Philadelphia won the fourth straight for the East when he defeated Clarence Griffin of California at 7–5, 6–4.

Johnston and Griffin then defeated Williams and Watson M. Washburn of New York in the doubles at 7–5, 3–6, 6–4, for the only point gained by the West.

In spite of the fact that rain was falling at the hour when play started, 1,500 fans, prepared with raincoats and umbrellas, saw the matches through. They were more than recompensed for their hardihood when Tilden and Johnston came on the courts and played through two sets of fast, brilliant tennis that totally eclipsed their disappointing meeting in the final round of the national championship at Philadelphia this month.

Johnston Flashes Form.

Any notion that Johnston is through was put to ridicule by his performance yesterday. In sheer viciousness of stroke the Californian exceeded anything he has shown all season. Perhaps it was because he was stung by the criticism of his work in the championship and the intimations that his best days were over that Johnston played so brilliantly yesterday. At any rate, he showed that he can hit a ball with as much power as he ever could, and he won storms of applause by standing off Tilden in driving exchanges of terrific pace.

Tilden was keenly on edge for the fray, too, and his strokes fairly smoked across the net, especially his first service ball and his backhand shots. It was nothing less than astonishing the manner in which Johnston took those strokes of the champion and whipped them back for aces so fast that the eye could get only a glimpse of the ball as it streaked across the net.

Tilden called upon his backhand constantly, raking Johnston's court with crossing shots to the other's left baseline corner. The Californian stood up under this pounding in admirable fashion, showing that his backhand shots are only slightly less effective than are the champion's. At the net, too, Johnston performed valiantly, in marked contrast to his failure at Philadelphia.

It was not often that he came up, but on the occasions that he did he timed his advance right and reached the barrier safely, there to volley in deadly fashion. The errors that marred his play in the championship no longer irritated him yesterday.

Johnston was steadiness itself, even on the most difficult shots, returning Tilden's best strokes from off his feet, not only safely but with attacking shots that were brilliantly applauded.

Johnston a Revelation.

Keenly on edge, with an evident appetite for the play, hitting with explosive power and matching Tilden's best in all departments of the game, Johnston was a revelation yesterday for those who witnessed his defeat in the championship. His work was done in the second set when he pulled up from 1–5 to 5 all and was three times within a point of winning the eleventh game for his fifth straight. Not even Tilden's best could withstand the fury of the Californian's drive in this stretch.

The point score and stroke analysis of the first set show 15 nets, 16 outs, 10 placements, 1 service ace and no double faults for Tilden; 18 nets, 16 outs, 8 placements, no service aces and no double faults for Johnston. For the second set Tilden made 10 nets, 16 outs, 9 placements, no service aces and 1 double fault; Johnston 17 nets, 22 outs, 17 placements, no service aces and 2 double faults.

Richards's service was his big asset against Howard Kinsey. Seldom has he put so much pace on his first ball and got it in so consistently as he did yesterday. Kinsey carried the play along at an interesting pace and the gallery found much to applaud in the play of both. Williams, after taking the first set from Robert Kinsey at 6–1 and going into the lead at 4–2 in the second, fell down at his opponent's speeded up his play. Kinsey won three games in a row and finally took the set at 9–7. Game followed service for the first six games of the third set. With the score 3 all, Williams ran out three in a row in quick fashion for the set at 6–3.

Wallace Johnson and Clarence Griffin were very evenly matched. The Californian led at 5–4 in the first set but dropped the next three games. Johnson finally won, 7–5, 6–4.

The summaries:

Singles—Vincent Richards, East, defeated Howard Kinsey, West, 6–3, 6–2; R. Norris Williams, second, East, defeated Robert Kinsey, West, 6–1, 7–9, 6–3; William T. Tilden, 2d, East, defeated William M. Johnston, West, 8–6, 7–5; Wallace Johnson, East, defeated Clarence J. Griffin, West, 7–5, 6–4.

Doubles—William M. Johnston and Clarence Griffin West, defeated R. Norris Williams 2d and Watson M. Washburn East, 7–5, 3–6, 7–5.

MAY CHOOSE EBBETS FIELD.

Army and Notre Dame Football Officials to Confer Tomorrow.

A final decision on whether the annual intersection football game between West Point and Notre Dame, scheduled for Oct. 13, will be played at Ebbets Field is to be made tomorrow at a conference, which will be attended by Captain D. M. Ridgeway, athletic officer at the military academy; Joseph M. Byrne Jr., prominent New York alumnus of Notre Dame, and Charles H. Ebbets and E. J. McKeever, representing the Brooklyn club. The conclave will be held in the executive offices at Ebbets Field.

The officials in charge of the contest originally intended to have the game played at the Polo Grounds, but when it became virtual certainty that the Giants would play in the coming world's series, the selection of a new field became necessary.

Those in charge of athletics at West Point, aided by General Pershing, are understood to be negotiating with the New York Central and the Interborough Company for special trains to enable the entire cadet student body to witness the game if it is played at Ebbets Field.

Connors's appointment is for one year, Exeter having given him a leave of absence for that time.

SWIM AROUND CITY TODAY.

Two Women Will Try Manhattan Island Feat Without Stopping.

The first attempt of women to swim around Manhattan Island without stopping will be made this morning by Ethel Hertle, 16 years old, star of the Evander Childs High School girls' swimming team, and Lotti Schoemil, 26 years old, of the Women's Swimming Association. They will start from the Fordham Station of the New York City Life Saving Service, 181st Street and Harlem River, at 4 A. M. They will swim down the Harlem to the East River, thence to the Battery and then up the Hudson River to the Harlem and then down the Harlem to their starting point. They are competing for a silver loving cup donated by the guards of the Fordham Station.

WILL NOT RESTRICT ATHLETIC MEETS

Met. A. A. U. Defeats Attempt to Check Invitation Events—Obertubbesing Re-elected.

An attempt to adopt legislation which would prevent the promotion of important athletic meets without restrictions was defeated at the recent annual meeting of the Metropolitan A. A. U. in the Park Avenue Hotel. Dr. T. J. Walsh of the St. Anselm's A. C., speaking, he said, on behalf of the so-called smaller clubs of the district, precipitated the action which resulted in the stormiest discussion of what was otherwise one of the quietest meetings of the local A. A. U. body in years.

Dr. McGrath advocated legislation which would forbid meets such as are held by the Wilson A. A. and the Millrose A. A., two of the biggest clubs of the district, on the ground that the promotion of special invitation events to the exclusion of open handicap competitions stifled the development of athletes and advanced amateur competition from the realm of sport to that of commercialism.

Dr. Walsh mentioned the Wilco and Millrose meets specifically and pointed out that, from the standpoint of the smaller clubs, these meets had a deterrent effect upon the growth of athletics in that they catered only to the top-notch athletes of the country. His opposition to permitting such meets was supported by James McInerney, a fellow club member, who asserted that the situation already had progressed to the stage where it bordered on professionalism. McInerney argued for the abolition of meets devoted exclusively to invitation events.

Sam Escobar of the Municipal A. A. was another who supported Dr. Walsh. Jacobs submitted a recommendation which would compel clubs conducting meets of this kind to add open events equal to the number of special events in the programs.

Mel Sheppard of the Millrose A. A. led the opposition to such legislation, and with others at the meeting pointed out that these meets are doing great good for amateur athletics in that they attract great crowds. Sheppard denied that Dr. Walsh's reference to commercialism and McInerney's allusion to the danger of professionalism was justified, and many other delegates supported Sheppard. Out of the turmoil which resulted as the question was debated a resolution finally was offered recommending that in all meets where invitation events are on the program an equal number of open, unrestricted handicap events should be held, but when this measure was put to a vote it was beaten.

Change Swimming Rules.

An important change in the swimming rules was adopted, subject to the approval of the national body, when the meeting approved a recommendation under which the decision of the judges or referee in swimming events shall be final. Heretofore, under the rules the Swimming Committee could overrule and reverse the decisions of the judges or referees, particularly in the matter of awarding places in swimming races. The existence of this rule produced a peculiar situation which continued unknown to many of the delegates, judging from the expressions of surprise in evidence when the matter came up for discussion.

The election of officers for the ensuing year proceeded without as much as a ripple to disturb the smooth surface of things, despite persistent reports of recent weeks that opposition candidates would be placed before the meeting for some of the important offices. A single ballot by the Secretary re-elected Herman Obertubbesing as President, P. J. Walsh of the 102d Engineers as First Vice President and Charles A. Wolbert as Secretary-Treasurer. C. W. Johnson of the Newark A. C., regular nominee for the office of Second Vice President, likewise was elected on the Secretary's ballot.

The same speedy vote swept into office Herman Obertubbesing, Jeremiah T. Mahoney, Jacob W. Stumpf, Frederick W. Rubien, Roy E. Moore and Acting Mayor Murray Hulbert as the six delegates to the National A. A. U.; George P. Mathews, as handicapper for men's track and field events; Mrs. Jesse Paton, as handicapper for women's track and field events; A. G. Savori, as handicapper for men's swimming events, and Mrs. E. C. Cisek, as handicapper for women's swimming events.

Only in the balloting for alternate delegates to the American Athletic Union's national convention and in the selection of a registration committee were the names of independent candidates used. J. Hewes, regular nominee as one of the alternate delegates, was defeated in the voting by Stephen A. Byrne, who was placed in nomination as an independent by John J. Dieseman. The other five alternates elected were: Charles A. Elbert, Harold A. Dibblee, Val Dysert, Lester C. Stevens and T. J. Sullivan. The personnel of the Registration Committee remained unchanged, when Thomas J. Lynch, of the Yorkville Catholic Club, an independent candidate, was defeated. The men re-elected were: Stephen A. Byrne, Chairman; Jacob W. Stumpf, Martin A. Klein, Warren G. Fielding and John J. Diegnan.

Defeat Novice Measure.

The meeting defeated a measure which would extend the scope of the novice definition so that a novice who was a member of a winning team in a competition still could compete as a novice in individual events. This matter, coming early in the meeting, aroused stormy debate from the small club delegates, who declared that it was injustice to the novice athlete to bracket his novice career as a member of a team. A resolution providing for championship meets, according to the metric system in years when Olympic games were being held, was defeated as not feasible.

Acting Mayor Hulbert in accordance with the Amateur Athletic Union's plan for the encouragement of physical development in the youth of the city, submitted a resolution for the appointment of a special committee to interest capital in the development of unclaimed city-owned land which could be used for the conduct of athletic meets where clubs could charge admission fees. At present clubs are not permitted to charge admission fees for meets held in city parks or playgrounds. This resolution was carried.

President Obertubbesing appointed Colonel A. G. Mills, Jeremiah T. Mahoney, W. W. Cohen and Mrs. E. C. Cisek as delegates-at-large for the local A. A. U. Three new clubs were admitted to membership. They are the Harlem Council, Knights of Columbus; American Legion, Bronx County, and the Pennsylvania Railroad Y. M. C. A.

FINANCIAL MARKETS

Strong Closing for Week on Stock Exchange—Sterling Full Cent Higher.

Further advance in Stock Exchange prices and a rise in francs and sterling to the week's highest rate were the incidents of yesterday's markets. The strength of the stock market, which carried up a point or more many of the stocks which were under heavy selling pressure earlier in the week, merely illustrated again the fact which has been sufficiently obvious all along—that the present market is one in which neither outside buying nor outside selling has had any appreciable part. It has consisted of futile manoeuvres by two opposing groups of professional speculators, who in the long run accomplished nothing more than to move values back and forth from a level to which they invariably returned.

Francs sold for a time at the highest of the week, and the advance of sterling was maintained. As a whole, the foreign exchange market plainly enough indicated financial belief that the coming week will bring developments of importance in the France-German negotiation. Bearing to some extent on the foreign exchange situation, yesterday's detailed statement of our gold imports during August shows that out of the total of $32,800,000, England sent $14,414,000, Germany $4,711,000, Holland $4,440,000 and Canada $5,058,000. The German consignment was evidently Reichsbank gold to be drawn upon in the useless effort to stabilize the mark; the other large consignments were shipped in payment of Europe's obligations in this market.

The question has been asked, since the Department of Commerce last week gave out its estimate that the net balance against the United States on all accounts in 1922 was $586,000,000, why foreign exchange should be so low and the gold import should continue. Its continuance seemed the more puzzling when a $471,000,000 surplus of exports, in our merchandise trade for the first eight months of 1923, was turned into an import surplus of $85,500,000 in the same months of 1923.

One answer is that, whereas our market bought some $800,000,000 of foreign securities in those eight months of 1923, it bought only about $200,000,000 in 1922, thus almost exactly offsetting the change in the merchandise balance. The calculations of the Department of Commerce show that in 1921 and 1922 and credits of $280,000,000 to $580,000,000, estimated to have accrued to the outside world in its entire trade with the United States, were applied to reduction of the pre-existing floating indebtedness of other markets to our own. That process is evidently continuing.

TIN PLATE HOLDING THE LEAD IN STEEL

Apart From the Movement in That Market, Buying of Steel Goods Is Falling Off.

Special to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 22.—Outside of a fairly heavy movement in tin plate, the buying of steel products has fallen off somewhat in the past week or ten days. It is not expected that the decrease in production since April will cease for several months, as it is going along on the measure of how much steel the buyers will accept. Prices are very well maintained.

There is a very fair volume of activity in the sheet market since fourth-quarter business was opened by the leading interest on Sept. 6. On the basis of the total number of turns possible, the sheet industry is operating at about 83 per cent. Domestic sheet buying is strongest with the automobile trade, which is running surprisingly well.

There is a heavy demand from Japan for the familiar 28x72 light gauge stuff, as well as some demand for heavier gauges, and a fair tonnage of electrical sheets. There is also increased sheet demand from South America, and altogether the export sheet market is more promising than for quite a while past. The sheet mills as a whole are not filled up very far ahead. The leading interest will carry over about one month's work from this quarter's business, and has probably sold in the neighborhood of one-half of the remainder.

Several large independent tin plate producers, as well as the leading interest, report that they are practically sold out for the fourth quarter on the basis of operating at recent rates. The average operation is nearer 85 than 80 per cent. of the total number of turns possible on the regular basis.

The pipe mills are still under pressure to make deliveries, and with fair operating conditions their shipments are rather high. Operating conditions have been improving in the past three or four weeks. Elimination of the twelve-hour day at the pipe mills, including attendant steel works and blast furnaces, is now substantially complete. The call for oil country tubular goods is moderately heavy and the call for merchant pipe very insistent. Actual consumption is known to be heavy at present. Prices are firm all along the line on the regular lists.

Finishing mills using purchased slabs, billets or sheet bars are watching the semi-finished steel market closely for signs of weakness, as they regard an accident possible at any time. While the market is quiet, there are purchases of small lots from time to time at the full price, showing that the market is firm, though far from active.

TOPICS IN WALL STREET.

Further Improvement in Stock Market.

The recovery which started on the Stock Exchange in the late dealings on Friday was resumed at the opening of business yesterday, and despite the brief period of trading and the small volume of business transacted, numerous stocks recorded substantial gains for the day. The oil shares as a group were again strong, this strength being ostensibly based on assumption that the latest price reductions have actually stabilized the market by the elimination of the recent uncertainty. Railroad shares also were firm, as were the sugars, motors and rubber stocks. Steels and equipments were irregular.

Prices Up for the Week.

Despite the numerous attempts made by the professional element in the financial district to force liquidation in the stock market through concerted selling of the active shares, the market as a whole actually gained ground during the past week. At the close yesterday the average for fifty stocks, half industrials and half railroads, closed at 79.39, against 79.15 at the close of the previous week. Despite the decline reported in the earlier days of the week, the average failed to drop to the low record for the year, established on July 21. Taken by groups, the averages for the week show a gain of about ¾ point in the railroad average and a loss of about ¼ point in the industrials.

Success of Canadian Financing.

The remarkable success reported by the Canadian syndicate that marketed $50,000,000 of Dominion of Canada is said to have set at rest all expectation by New York bankers of a share in the rest of that Government's financing necessary to take care of maturing wartime obligations. Cash subscriptions alone to the Canadian issue, it was stated yesterday, approximated the full amount of the bond offering, and, although the bonds are payable, both interest and principal, in Canadian dollars, it was reported that New York alone subscribed $25,000,000 of the total, subscriptions having been mainly for the accounts of insurance companies.

The Banker and the Farmer.

Growing interest in agricultural problems of financial importance is being manifested by bankers the nation over, according to all indications as afforded through various bank publications and personal interviews, and at the session of the American Bankers Association, starting tomorrow in Atlantic City, the problem of farm financing will occupy a position of high importance on the convention program. In this connection it is interesting and significant to note that the New York association has all but formally approved of the co-operative marketing idea, and many bankers believe that this may be the eventual solution of a problem that is growing more serious each year. At all events, it is believed a definite plan will be outlined at the coming week's convention on this score, and not a few bankers are expectant that that session will mark a new milestone in farm financing.

New England Railway Consolidation.

Those students of the railroad situation who have been predicting steadily that the New England railroads will lead the remainder of the country in consolidations are watching with especial interest the hearing of the Interstate Commerce Commission at Boston Sept. 24. All phases and shades of New England opinion on the New England consolidation will be discussed from the Starrow report to the New Haven's suggestions, and the hope later expressed by the Boston & Maine for trunk line affiliations. The Maine Central is expected to present a plan for joining the New York Central through the Boston & Maine. From the careful consideration of all the ideas thrown out at this meeting those who have been watching the situation believe that there is a chance to work out a plan for consolidation.

Central Orders Thirty-Five Tenders.

The New York Central has placed orders for thirty-five locomotive tenders, with a capacity of 15,000 gallons each. The Great Northern has ordered 250 tons of structural steel for bridges at Minot, N. D., and Des Lacs.

Heavy Sugar Loss in Quake.

A trade letter quoting advices received by a local Japanese firm states that 90,000 tons of sugar and four sugar refineries, with an aggregate daily capacity of 600 tons, were destroyed by earthquake.

POINTS AGREED UPON IN NEW TARIFF BILL

Removal of Restrictions or Tax on Use of Cuban Ports One Provision.

Following publication of the report yesterday that Colonel J. M. Tarafa was returning to New York from Havana and would lay before the officials of the American sugar interests in Cuba his revised Cuban railroad consolidation bill, there became known the points of agreement reached between Tarafa and the sugar men by which the compromise measure is believed to have been drafted.

Following are the points embraced in the "substantial understanding" said by attorneys for Tarafa and the objecting sugar producers to have been reached in New York on Aug. 27:

"1. Withdrawal of any provision from the bill imposing any restriction or tax on the use of any existing public ports, sub-ports, private ports or embarcaderos or on the exports therefrom.

"2. Withdrawal of any provision from the bill in any wise affecting the status of existing public ports, sub-ports, private ports or embarcaderos to export.

"3. Modification of the provisions of the bill so as to permit the importation, through private ports of machinery, merchandise and supplies for the exclusive use of the industries using the private ports or of the communities appertaining to or dependent upon such industries or private ports.

"4. The insertion in the proposed legislation of a provision embracing Juan Claro in the public port of Porto Padre. Private ports connected with public railroads to continue unrestricted importation.

"5. Public service railroads to be allowed to function as at present through ports or embarcaderos with which they are connected.

"6. No interference with the right of extension of the Tunas railroad under existing concessions.

"7. The bill in final form as proposed to be amended to be submitted to the protestants before withdrawal of any objections.

"So far as the revised bill has been drawn to include the foregoing points, the sugar interests, it is believed, will subscribe to it. In the event that they cannot approve the new bill, it was pointed out yesterday that the passage of the bill by the Cuban Senate Friday does not preclude its being withdrawn and changes incorporated in it that will leave no doubt as to its acceptance by the sugar producers.

It is known that the sugar companies are not pleased with the provision which prohibits the construction of new private ports.

Crude Oil Price Cut 35 Cents.

A reduction of 35 cents a barrel was announced yesterday in the posted price for Salt Creek crude oil in Wyoming. The new price is 90 cents a barrel.

CORN AT THE FRONT IN GRAIN MARKETS

Advances to a New High for the Season and Helps Wheat to a Slight Gain.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, Sept. 22.—Corn came to the front today as the market leader. September and May advanced to a new high for the season, with the close at net gains of 1⅛@1¾ cents, with some stop loss orders uncovered on the way up.

The surplus in the pit was absorbed by a local professional and when trade broadened there was little for sale except through commission houses on resting orders, which were readily absorbed.

Shorts in the September are finding it increasingly difficult to cover without advancing prices, as the Southern demand for old grain is holding up well, and St. Louis outbid Chicago in the West today, with No. 2 yellow there 97 cents.

Week-end evening up was on in wheat, with the strength in corn causing local traders to cover shorts early in which more than offset a decline in both Winnipeg and Minneapolis, the former being off ¾@¾ cents with an increase in the hedging pressure, while the local market gained 1⅛@⅞ cent. Premiums there were off 1 cent at the task with No. 1 Northern 4¾ cents over October.

Offerings increased above $1.03 for December today. An early break was checked by buying by some traders, who sold above $1.04 yesterday.

Export demand was slow and sales, largely of Manitoban, lower for the day.

Oats finished ⅝@⅞ cent higher in sympathy with corn, while rye was ⅛ cent lower to ⅛ cent higher.

Today's Chicago prices for the principal commodities were as follows:

Autumn Days on the Hudson

SEE the Hudson's wooded shores, now brilliant in the browns and reds and yellow tints of early Autumn. See a September sunset in the upper reaches of the river—the purple haze—the foliage drooping from the banks. Autumn days are numbered. If you've never seen the river in September, you really haven't seen the Hudson.

Here, at your very door, we have the greatest scenic trip in America—THE HUDSON RIVER. Those who have visited the Yellowstone and Glacier National Parks, the St. Lawrence, with its "thousand islands," the Saguenay and Lake St. John—will tell you there is nothing finer, nothing more majestic, than the Hudson in Autumn.

You have a rather wide choice from a day's sail to Albany to a range of one-day trips to midway points, returning home the same day.

NEWS AND GOSSIP OF THE THEATRES

Jane Cowl Coming Here in a New Shakespearean Production.

TROUBLES OF MORRIS GEST

Plans of the Equity Players and of Some Stars and Lesser Lights.

It is reported that Jane Cowl will come to town before long in "Antony and Cleopatra." The Times Square Theatre is named as the probable destination.

Morris Gest, standing in front of Jolson's Theatre while the populace streamed in to see and hear Bakeff and his company, seemed a good deal worried the other night. Pressed for a reason, he declared that he had just been casting an appraising eye over Mr. Reinhardt's plans for "The Miracle." Mr. Reinhardt, it seems, has begun matters by stipulating that the interior of the theatre must be rebuilt as a church, and then he works up from there.

The theatre in question is the Century, and "The Miracle" is scheduled to open there during Christmas week. Mr. Gest declares that matters are now at the point where it is clear that no possible profit can result, and that it is merely a case of keeping the losses down to as few hundred thousand dollars as possible.

Mitzi and "The Magic Ring," say the sharpshooters, are coming to the Liberty Theatre in another week. "Magnolia," presumably, will find another home.

"The Dancing Honeymoon," the musical piece which the Selwyns have brought from London, changing the name from "Battling Butler" in the process, will open at the Selwyn Theatre a week from tomorrow night. "Helen of Troy, New York," now at the Selwyn, will move into the Times Square Theatre, the home of a film epic at the present moment.

Dorothy Parker, as set forth in these columns some weeks ago, has succumbed to the prevalent urge and written a play. The formal announcement says that it has been accepted by Philip Goodman, which is not literally true. Mr. Goodman contracted for the play months and months ago, sight unseen. In return for his faith Mrs. Parker has written a suburban comedy entitled "Meet the Wife," and it will be placed in rehearsal in about two weeks.

Unofficial report comes that the Equity Players will begin their season at the Forty-eighth Street Theatre with a revival of "A Comedy of Errors," in which Francis Wilson and James T. Powers will appear. Their second production, it is said, will be a comedy entitled "Small Town Stuff," written by Leon Cunningham, whose "Hospitality" was produced by the Equity last season. Some time during the season, also, there will be presented a play entitled "Queen Victoria," by David Carb and Walter Prichard Eaton. The current issue of Equity's magazine, also, gives a list of players who have pledged their services, contracts permitting, for from one to four weeks during the season. The list includes George Arliss, Ethel Barrymore, Jane Cowl, John Drew, Elsie Ferguson, Laurette Taylor and Florence Reed.

William Hodge probably will come to New York on Oct. 15 in his own comedy, "For All of Us," which had an enormous success in Chicago last season. The play will be seen at a theatre in the upper Forties—for the moment, out of regard for the attraction current there, it may not be named.

Mr. Woods has not withdrawn from the management of "The Whole Town's Talking," despite the announcement to that effect in this column a week ago. It is still jointly controlled by Mr. Woods and John Emerson.

Winthrop Ames is busily rehearsing his mystery play, "In the Next Room," written by Eleanor Robson and Harriet Ford. This is the play which Mr. Ames tested in Atlantic City in the Spring, and which has since gone through the customary process of revision. It will open in a week or two.

Francine Larrimore will be seen in the Bolton-Mandel play, "Nobody's Business," which Robert McLaughlin tried in his Cleveland stock house recently. The play will come to town around Oct. 8. The name of the theatre must be held back for diplomatic reasons.

Molnar's "The Swan," with Eva Le Gallienne and Basil Rathbone in its leading rôles, will be produced out of town on Oct. 8, and probably in New York Oct. 29. No theatre has yet been selected.

The new Fred Stone musical piece, "Stepping Stones," started rehearsals at the Globe Theatre Monday. Jerome Kern has written the music for the show—and for this one only and not for the twenty more or less which energetic publicity departments have ascribed to him.

It is not always the work of years and years for a playwright to dispose of his play to a manager. Exactly one week ago, for example, Miss Sophie Treadwell, known as the author of "Gringo," among other plays, learned that George C. Tyler was looking for a new play for Helen Hayes. Miss Treadwell had just completed a play that would, by a coincidence, fit to her Miss Hayes, she thought. Monday Miss Treadwell read Mr. Tyler her play. Tuesday Mr. Tyler telegraphed frantically all over town for Miss Treadwell to come in and sign a contract. Wednesday Miss Treadwell signed her contract.

Norman Trevor's plans have again been changed. Mr. Trevor is announced for a rôle in "A Love Scandal," a comedy drama by Sydney Stone and Carlos de Navarro. The play will open out of town on Oct. 8.

John Cromwell makes his first production of the season on Monday night, Oct. 1, when he will present Gilbert Emery's new play, "Tarnish," at the Belmont Theatre. The cast includes Tom Powers, Fania Marinoff, Ann Harding, Marion Lord, Albert Gran and Mrs. Russ Whytal.

Speaking of Chicago, the play recently known as "Dust," which has Taylor Holmes as its star, was produced out there last week under the title of "A Bit of Dust." Another Chicago item reveals that David Warfield will spend the season on tour in "The Merchant of Venice," which is due in Chicago soon for a three weeks' stay.

Mr. Cohan had expected to bring "The Song and Dance Man" to town on Oct. 1, but he has since changed his mind. Instead, it will remain on tour for a month or so longer, and it may be the holidays before it is seen in New York. Mr. Cohan has this advantage over most of the other producers: the magic of the Cohan name is such that an unknown entertainment, flaunting the Cohan banner, can be counted upon to attract patronage on the road.

"Icebound," despite the fact that it is a Pulitzer prize play, has not been drawing well in the neighborhood theatres. It is rumored that the tour is coming to an end.

Notes of the Screen.

The official start for "Dorothy Vernon of Haddon Hall" was scheduled for last Monday. The information comes from the Pickford-Fairbanks studios, Hollywood, where Miss Pickford is now completely surrounded and engulfed in a pile of costumes of the early Elizabethan period.

Six of the twenty-six special productions which Albert E. Smith, President of Vitagraph, announced for release during the season of 1923-4 are now completed. They include "On the Banks of the Wabash," a J. Stuart Blackton production; "The Man Next Door," "The Leavenworth Case," a Whitman production; "Loyal Lives," a Whitman Bennett production, and "Pioneer Trails," a David Smith production.

Charles Ray's superproduction, "The Courtship of Miles Standish," distributed by Associated Exhibitors, is to have its world premiere in Grauman's Million-Dollar Theatre, Los Angeles, starting tomorrow. It is to run for an indefinite period.

Elinor Glyn, who directed "Down to the Sea in Ships" and other big screen specials, is about to start production on "Three Weeks," by Elinor Glyn, an adaptation of the stage play of that name. Martha Mansfield and Harlan Knight are among the principals already cast.

"His Darker Self" will be the title of the black-face feature comedy starring Lloyd Hamilton, which has just been completed at the D. W. Griffith studio at Mamaroneck.
